BEACHEY IN AERO WINS LONG RACE

New York to Philadelphia Flight Proved Thrilling Contest Yesterday.

TAKES BOTH FAME AND GOLD

Well Known Southern Aviator Gets Prize of $5,000—Hugh Robinson and Eugene Ely Other Contestants.

Philadelphia, Aug. 5.—Lincoln Beachey, the hero of many thrilling performances in the air, won the first long distance cross country aeroplane race ever held in the United States, this afternoon when he flew from New York to Philadelphia, defeating Hugh Robinson and Eugene Ely. His time from 33rd and Broadway, New York, to Ninth and Market streets, Philadelphia, about 95 miles, was two hours 22 2-5 seconds. Ely did not finish. He came down near Princeton Junction, N. J., with motor trouble, and did not go up again. All three used Curtiss biplanes.

The race, which was for a prize of $5,000, was witnessed by hundreds of thousands of people in New York, along the route and in this city. It is estimated that 50,000 persons were massed on Belmont Plateau in Fairmont Park, where the aviator descended. Beachy was given an enthusiastic reception.

The birdmen made their ascent from Governor's Island, in New York bay. It was originally planned that the men to make the race should be Beachey, Robinson and Charles K. Hamilton. Hamilton made the first aeroplane flight from New York to Philadelphia a year ago, but at the last moment decided he would not participate in today's race. He did not like the prospect of taking up a new machine in a tricky wind, and after some delay Ely consented to take his place. The start was made from the island at 2:40 P. M. The aviators headed north to New York city, and up to 33rd street, where they were officially timed as they passed over the roof of a department store. With a graceful swing they turned to the southwest and were off in a straight line to New Jersey. Once across the Hudson river they picked up the Pennsylvania railroad tracks and followed them.

Near New Brunswick Ely was forced to make a landing because of engine trouble and Robinson descended, mistaking New Brunswick for Trenton. Beachey's engine worked without a skip and he came down near the Trenton fair grounds for gasoline and oil. His stop was about ten minutes. From Trenton it was a straight away sail of 35 miles down the river to Philadelphia.

A dense crowd was gathered on Market street at the department store when the race officially ended and Beachey was given a great ovation as he passed. At the city hall he circled the great tower, which rises 547 feet in the air, then turned northwestward. In a few minutes later he had made an easy landing in Fair Mount Park.

After the excitement of Beachey's coming had subsided there was a long wait for the other men. Finally the signal flags told the crowds along the route that another birdman was coming. It proved to be Robinson. As he passed over the finish line he made a graceful dip and then flew on an air line to the park.

MILLION FOR MISSIONS

Resolution of Christian Union of the Presbyterian Church.

Baltimore, Aug. 5.—The Young People's Christian Union of the United Presbyterian Church at today's session of their annual 20th annual convention passed a resolution pledging the members to raise $1,000,000 for missions in the coming year. The magnitude of the task is appreciated by the delegates, but they expressed confidence in their ability to raise the fund pointing out that for several years they have held a position of honor among all the denominations on account of the generosity of the average gifts of the members. Another resolution pledged the members of the Union to work to win into some Christian church 24,000 persons. This effort will be made to get members into their denomination, but where that cannot be done they are pledged to work just as hard to persuade an unchurched person to affiliate with some other Christian denomination.

MURDER NEAR FREMONT.

Colored Farmer Killed Another in Wayne County.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 5.—The little town of Fremont, in Wayne county, was startled about 11 o'clock tonight, when a rider galloped into town and announced that murder had been done about three miles from town. One farmer, Lewis McIver, had shot and killed instantly a neighbor named George McDuffie. Cause of killing not yet definitely known. McIver fled and the sheriff's posse has started in pursuit. Both parties are colored farmers.

HON. F. M. SIMMONS.

As the result of the request of Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, yesterday, the Senate Committee on Finance decided to give tomorrow, Tuesday and Wednesday brief hearings to North and South Carolina cotton manufacturers on the cotton bill now pending in Congress.

SIMMONS' REQUEST GRANTED

Senate Committee Will Give Hearing to North and South Carolina Cotton Manufacturers—Tariff Revision Bill.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—The Senate Committee on Finance announced today that as the result of the request of Senator Simmons of North Carolina brief hearings would be given Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday to cotton manufacturers on the cotton bill. The finance committee took up the bill today. Senator Smoot moved that it be adversely reported at once. Senator Williams moved that a favorable report be made. In the discussion that followed Senator Simmons urged that the North and South Carolina manufacturers of cotton goods be given a hearing and the committee finally agreed to the three days delay. By order of the Senate, the bill will have to be reported back on Thursday, August 10th.

Whatever progress was made between Senator LaFollette and Representative Underwood today in arriving at a compromise on the wool tariff, was not made public tonight. Democratic Leader Underwood, representing the Democratic majority of the House in the struggle now under way to reach an agreement, said tonight that the conferences with Senator LaFollette will be resumed Monday, but that a compromise wool bill is not likely to be offered to Congress for three or four days.

The full joint conference committee consisted of five Senators and five representatives, met over the wool bill today, but decided to give Senator LaFollette and Mr. Underwood a further opportunity to reach an agreement. The free list bill was referred to the same negotiators who now have in their care all the points of tariff difference between the two Houses. Upon their ability to reach an agreement on the two bills rests the prospect of the passage of compromise wool and free list tariff bills.

TREATIES EXPOSED BY SENATE

Unusual Action Created Some Interest in Congress—Two Senators Voice Opposition to Compulsory Arbitration.

Washington, Aug. 5.—The Senate today adopted the rather unusual but not unprecedented course of making public the text of four treaties which have not yet received action at its hands. These were the Anglo-American and the Franco-American general arbitration treaties and the treaties providing for the adjustment of the finances and customs of Honduras and Nicaragua.

Publicity was given to these important conventions at the request of the administration which desires that the subject matter shall receive full publicity in order to enlighten the Senate as to the real sentiment of the country as a basis for its own action.

Some justification for this procedure developed today when in the course of a short exeeutive session two Senators of opposite parties, Borah, of Idaho, and Bacon, of Georgia, voiced their dissent to the arbitration treaties in the form submitted. Their criticism was aimed at article three (identical in the two treaties) which in their opinion, provides for compulsory arbitration and thus tends to deprive the United States Senate of its constitutional prerogative. The treaties' advocates, however, felt that there had been a misunderstanding as to the scope of the treaty by the two senators, and that a clause in article one of the treaties, which provides that there shall be no arbitration except under the terms of a special agreement, effectively guards the rights of the Senate, as such special agreement shall receive the Senate's sanction in order to become operative.

Aside from a few minutes' talk in committee and a very short debate in executive session, the treatment of the subject was purely formal. The Senate went into executive session almost as soon as it convened to refer the treaties to the Committee on Foreign Relations. The committee met later and adopted the resolution to make the treaties public, which received the approval of the Senate shortly afterward.

The British and French treaties are substantially the same with the exception of the preambles, some small differences in dates of existing treaties referred to therein, and some of the mechanical differences between the treaty making methods of the two governments. One important provision of the British treaty requires the British government to obtain the concurrence of any of its self-governing dominions affected by the proposed arbitration.

No date has yet been set for the consideration of the treaties by the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations. In the ordinary course it will meet next Wednesday, but there are indications that in view of the short time remaining of the present session, one or more special meetings may be called before that day. It is impossible to predict what the Senate will do with the committee's report when it is made, but in view of the great press of important legislation it would be easy to prevent ratification of the treaties at this session if opposition developed. In view of their importance, it is estimated that a mo-

TAFT DOES HONOR TO ADMIRAL TOGO

Invites Japan Through Naval Hero to Join World-wide Peace Movement.

RECEPTION AT WHITE HOUSE

Brilliant Event in Honor of Visiting Notable—High Tribute Paid Emperor of Japan in Toast from the President.

Washington, Aug. 5.—President Taft tonight extended to Japan through the nation's guest, Admiral Count Togo, at a dinner in the White House in honor of the Japanese hero, an invitation to join the United States, Great Britain and France in the great world movement for International peace. Rising from his chair between Admiral Togo and Speaker Clark, the President offered a toast to the Emeprof Japan. Then turning to Count Togo, he said:

"I would indeed fail in my duty, and be untrue to my own deepest convictions did I not take this occasion of the first public welcome to you as our National guest to express my own appreciation, and that of the American people, of the broad and humanitarian view taken by his majesty, the Emperor of Japan, and the Imperial Japanese government in so readily and generously affirming, in the most positive and solemn manner, that no consideration of selfish interest should be permitted to obstruct the progress of the great world movement for International peace as exemplified in the general treaties of arbitration between the United States, Great Britain and France, signed on the day of your arrival in this country. I gladly acknowledge this important part which Japan has played in facilitating this notable achievement by its prompt and unreserved recognition, in the recent Anglo-Japanese agreement, of the great moral principle of arbitration, and I entertain the hope, with confidence, that the time may not be far when Japan will see fit to join in the movement now so auspiciously inaugurated."

In toasting the Emperor of Japan, the President said:

"To one who has shown himself a great ruler, who has given all of his time and energy and intellect to the progress of his country, and the preservation of the interests of the people, whose wonderful power in the selection of great men to accomplish great tasks has lifted Japan to a place among the first nations of the world, and whose sense of humanity and justice can be always counted on to contribute effectively to the peace of the world—his majesty, the Emperor of Japan." The toast was drunk standing.

Count Togo acknowledged the toast through Commander Taniguchi, his aide. He said:

"Mr. President: It is my pleasant duty and great honor to convey to his majesty the Emperor, my august sovereign, the most kind words you have just said for him. As for me, words fail me to express what I feel deeply at heart. I can only say that I thank you most heartily for the honor you have done me."

The dinner was held in the State dining room and a magnificent gold service was used. The tables were decorated with red gladiolas. Following the dinner, a reception was held in the East room at which several thousand people were present to honor the Japanese admiral.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 5.—Rev. McDaniel Howsare, pastor of Memorial Christian Temple here today announced his resignation to become a missionary of the CShristian denomination in Porto Rico. His special work will be in Ponce. Rev. Howsare was originally from Ohio.

PRESIDENT PLANS SEPTEMBER TOUR

Proposed Trip to Pacific Coast Considered Beginning of Campaign.

WILL COVER MANY STATES

Taft Will Make as Many Political Addresses as Possible West of the Mississippi—May Last Uuntil November.

Washington, Aug. 5.—The most important trip that President Taft has planned since he has been in the White House, in the view of the Republican leaders, a trip during which he is expected to open the 1912 presidential campaign for his party, will begin on September 16. It will last at least four weeks and should it later be decided to extend the outing to the Pacific coast, it will be stretched into six weeks so that the President will not get back to Beverly or Washington until November.

According to the plan so far drawn up at the White House, the President will visit more of the States in the Middle West, north of and including Missouri, he will make incursions into practically all of the States which have progressive Congressional delegations. The President so far has given almost no consideration to speech making on this trip, but it has long been the idea of Republican leaders that he would make as many political addresses as possible west of the Mississippi.

With three definite dates on the schedule, the whole trip has been tentatively arranged. The first at Knoxville, Tenn., where on the 18th the President is to open the Appalachian exposition. The next is at Rochester, N. Y., where on the 23rd the President will address the national encampment of the G. A. R. Between Knoxville and Rochester he may return to Beverly for a day's rest.

Other Southern States have asked the President to visit them in September and it is probable he will accept some of the invitations.

From Rochester the President will make a jump to Hutchinson, Kans., where he is to speak at the State fair September 25th. On the way he plans to stop at one of two cities in Michigan, at Chicago and probably will make a few rear platform, or even other sort of platform addresses in Iowa.

From Hutchison the President expects to travel into Nebraska, South Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin, where he may see Pauline Wayne, the White House cow, which is to be on exhibition at the international dairymen's exposition in Milwaukee. From this point the party may turn again into Kansas and Iowa.

If the trip is to end in four weeks Milwaukee probably will be the last stopping place. If it should be extended, the President will journey to Denver, Colorado Springs, Salt Lake and the coast, taking in California, Oregon and Washington and returning East over a northen route.

CONFESSED BRIBE TAKER.

Representative Beckmeyer, of Illinois, on Stand Yesterday.

Washington, Aug. 5.—Calmly giving a wealth of detail omitted at the first Lorimer investigation former State Representative H. J. C. Bekemeyer, of Illinois, today re-told to the present Senate Lorimer Election Investigation Committee his story of how he was paid for voting for Lorimer for Senator. He followed on the stand Chas. A. White, confessed bribe-taker in the Lorimer election, who had been testifying practically the whole week.

Beckemeyer re-told in detail how Lee O'Neill Browne urged him to "vote with the bunch" and later in St. Louis gave him a roll of money, saying "this is the Lorimer money. There will be 70 more in the future." He told again of Robert E. Wilson paying him $900. He said Detective Turner and White told him White was going to publish an exposure and told of the warnings he received from Browne and Wilson. Beckemeyer said he tore up the immunity order given him by State's Attorney Wayman before he testified before the grand jury and that he was subjected to no compulsion to make him confess. Discussing the "fish bill jack pot", the witness said: "Joe Clark told me that it was said money was raised among the fishermen and paid to State Representative Foster and he had never turned it into the larger jack pot, and that Foster and Browne had trouble about it."

The witness admitted that he might have said that a man was a fool who would not take jack pot money, but said he "realized now that it was a great mistake to take it."

Beckemeyer's examination was not completed when the committee adjourned until Monday.

DES MOINES STRIKE SERIOUS

Street Car Employes Rid City of Strike Breakers—Not a Car in Motion Yesterday—Outsiders Barricaded.

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 5.—Striking street car employes of the Des Moines City Railway required just one day to rid the city of their ancient enemy, the strike-breakers. Tonight it was announced that every strike-breaker brought to this city from Chicago or Omaha, either had given up his job and gone home or was in jail to protect himself from violence tonight and would depart by the first train tomorrow.

Riots which at times threatened to prove serious and led to the calling out of Federal and State troops, wild hunt for strike-breakers, assaults and broken heads marked a day of intense excitement attendant upon the strike.

Street car traffic was stopped completely, not a car having moved since the men walked out at 1:15 o'clock this morning. The strike leaders predicted tonight that they would win. The company made no statement.

The tie-up was accomplished with ease. One attempt to get a car into operation this morning was so quickly frustrated by Union sympathizers that no further attempt was made.

In anticipation of further riots, Mayor Hanna this afternoon ordered every saloon in the city closed. They will remain closed during the strike, according to the order, whether it continues for one week, one month or longer.

The police today were almost a unit in sympathy with the demonstration against the strike-breakers. By 6 o'clock practically all of the strike-breakers had either left town or were in jail for safe keeping until tomorrow when they will be allowed to depart.

In the absence of cars manned by strike breakers upon which to vent their feelings, the mobs sought out the boarding houses of the imported men.

The worst mob of the day surrounded the Iowa hotel during the afternoon and demanded that the strike-breakers under guard there be turned over to it. The fire department was called upon and temporarily dispersed the mob with heavy streams of water. But the mob re-formed and it was not until International Organizer Fred Fay, of Ypsilanti, Mich., appeared on the scene and appealed to the friends of the conductors and motormen to disperse that they did so. The strike-breakers in the Iowa hotel, who came in last night from Omaha, were sent to the second street car barn. They grew hungry as the day wore on and finally demanded that they be sent back to Omaha. A squad of police was escorting them to the train when the mob made the attempt to wreak its vengeance on them. The officers tried to get through the crowds, but were finally forced to take refuge in the Iowa hotel. Here the mob for three hours kept the police busy. The crowd was twice dispersed by water, and then it retaliated with bricks and brickbats with the result that one policeman received a deep gash in the forehead and another slightly hurt.

After Organizer Fay's speech the crowd left the vicinity of the hotel and the strike-breakers, who had lost their trains, were taken to the county jail and lodged there for sofe keeping.

Writ of Injunction.

Judge Lawrence DeGraffe issued a mandatory writ of injunction in the District Court tonight, ordering the city railway and its employees to resume within a reasonable time the same service as before the strike. This will probably mean that the service will be restored as usual Sunday morning, although there is some question as to whether the order will be obeyed.

CHICAGO PLAYER SUSPENDED.

Tinker Out of Game for Season for "Indifferent Fielding."

Chicago, Aug. 5.—Joseph Tinker, short-stop of the Chicago National League Baseball Club, was suspended for the rest of this playing season and fined $150 today for "indifferent fielding," as charged by Manager Frank Chance. Tinker's failure to pursue Daubert's short fly in the sixth inning of today's game with Brooklyn was charged by Chance with responsibility for two runs and the manager rebuked Tinker with all the force for which he is noted.

"If you don't like my fielding, why don't you send some one else out there?" returned Tinker, whereupon the short-stop was hastily ordered from the game. Chance immediately telegraphed Johnny Evers, who is regaining his health in the Adirondacks, to hurry on to join the team, and Evers may be here to face New York in the first game. Immediately after the game, Chance held a conference with President Murphy and Tinker's sentence was pronounced.

Zimmerman is said to be slated for the berth made vacant by Tinker's removal.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 5.—President Taft has definitely informed the officers of the American Association for Highway Improvement that he will make an address on the subject of the improvement and maintenance of public roads at the convention of the association to be held in Richmond November 20 to 24. The President will speak on the opening day of the convention Monday, November 20th.

TEDDY SURPRISES STEEL COMMITTEE

Makes Dramatic Appearance and Defends Himself in Interesting Story.

HIS ACTION TO AVERT PANIC

Gives Details of Consent to Absorption of Tennessee Company by Steel Corporation—Thoroughly Rooseveltian.

New York, Aug. 5. — Theodore Roosevelt stalked boldly before the House of Representatives Committee Inquiry in the United States Steel Corporation here today and voluntarily told how his action in consenting to the absorption of the Tennessee Coal & Iron Company, by the Steel Corporation in 1907 averted a disastrous panic.

The former chief executive's action in submitting to a Congressional review of facts of his own administration was almost unprecedented in the history of the United States and was thoroughly Rooseveltian. He arrived unheralded at the city hall, vigorously shook hands with members of the committee, declared himself delighted to see everybody and got down to business.

First and foremost he placed upon himself responsibility for approving the absorption to save a perilous financial disaster in Wall street and condemned any man who would be so weak as not to act as he did in that crisis.

Probably nothing in the vigorous life history of Theodore Roosevelt was more dramatic than his public appearance today at the crisis of the investigation into the transaction which has been recorded in hundreds of pages of Congressional inquiry.

After declaring that his object in approving the sale of the Tennessee Company was to restore confidence the former President, in response to inquries by Representative Littleton relating to the memorable White House conference in November, 1907, at which Judge Gary and H. C. Frick were present, said:

"The situation was so critical that it was liable to break at any moment until the action was taken, and the instant it was taken an enormous improvement for the better occurred."

Then Mr. Roosevelt launched into a discussion with Chairman Stanley, of the general trust question, saying that the United States had something to learn from Germany.

"Mr. Stanley," Mr. Roosevelt broke in, switching the line of inquiry in progress and of this particular corporation, the Steel Corporation, that I know you will not accept silence on my part as indicating anything as to my attitude on the general trust question as you know it. I have stated again and again while I was President, in messages to Congress, which were not always received with as much enthusiasm as they were written, and since then in articles and speeches, just what I have felt the attitude of Congress toward these great corporations should be, and as you know, I believe in a far more drastic and far more thorough-going supervision and control over them by the National government than we have yet achieved.

"On any occasion I should have been very glad to have spoken with you on trust remedies. I am sure you will not achieve your purpose by splitting up the big corporations.

"While something can be done along that line, the work must be done by our National government acting as the government of Germany has I think, in the potash matter acted—by actually, in the interest of all the people, interferring and exercising a degree of control over a big corporation which it would be wholly unnecessary to exervise over a corporation that has no monopolistic taint."

"I wish to say," Mr. Stanley replied, "that I am not of the opinion that the dissolution of the United States Steel Corporation into its constituents parts is an adequate remedy."

"You are quite right," said Mr. Roosevelt.

"I believe," the chairman continued, "that we must divorce absolutely the United States corporation from every common carrier on the continent and by law force the common carriers to charge the Steel Corporation just what they charge other people. We must destroy a rebate which is against the spirit of the law as well as a rebate which is in violation of the letter of the law. If that is done, and if in addition—"

"Judge Landis tried to do that and failed," interjected Mr. Roosevelt, his comment provoking loud laughter.

The chairman said he would prevent a director of the Steel Corporation from becoming a director of railroads and denounced the system of interlocking directors.

"With the general purpose of what you propose," said Mr. Roosevelt, "I am in hearty sympathy and I should go farther still in exercising direct control over these big corporations. And allow me to say, sir, you have known them at some distance. I have lived near them and I know them well."

In responding to questions directed to the Tennessee coal and iron transaction, and the testimony of Grant B.

The regular scheduled doubleheader was pulled off at League Park yesterday afternoon, a small congregation of fans being present to witness the tame affair. In the first game, after the W. L. I. had apparently tied up the game and stowed it away in its little pocket, the Brigadiers got next to a good thing, though one doesn't know exactly what it was, and drove across five runs, tieing up the score, six to six in the eighth inning.

The Infantry boys had already annexed six tallies early in the game to the lone one of the Brigade and this spectacular finish somewhat made up for the rotten affair that is told later. The details were not very interesting, but it may be mentioned that the Boys" Brigade were charged with a total of six errors to the two by the opposition. Mintz was taken out early in the game and Smith was put in to twirl, though it may be said that neither Whitehead, Smith or Mintz were at their best, as the frequent swatting of the sphere to unoccupied corners testified. Out of nine safe lingles the Infantry made only six runs, supplemented by the six misplays by the Brigade, while the latter, from five hits and only two misplays by the Infantry team, succeeded in putting the same number of men across. Smith struck out an even half dozen batsmen after he was put in, quite a good record, as Whitehead only succeeded in fooling three of the Prigadiers in the nine innings.

A Nine-Act Farce.

Scene: The ball park; time: Saturday, 5 P. M. Characters: The Atlantic Coast Line team and Triangle Boys.

With "Pomp" Green and Mr. McCathern playing the leading roles, the latter getting the encores, while Mr Green came in for spontaneous hoots on several occasions, a comedy-farce was enacted in place of the second "game" scheduled in the City League yesterday afternoon. McCathern was a new recruit recently signed by the Triangle team and acquitted himself very creditably, being especially effective in pulling out of holes with men on bases. Several near scores by the Railroaders were nipped by his consistent holding together and twirling in pinches. B-U-T—back to the bush league for the once famous (locally) Thomas Green, who has once had on professional ball garb, not a century ago. He was pounded at will all through the game, and would have lost it any way.

With a row of goose eggs only to show for six innings work, the Coast Line aggregation interrupted the sixth act right in the middle to present a short specialty, same being a farcical production entitled "Kicking Against the Pricks." On a decision made by the umpire on third, calling a Railroader out, the entire team, nearly, rushed on the field, in the way that they, only, have the nerve to do, and acted as if they really expected His Umps to change the decision because it did not exactly suit them. They really got sore because he declined to consider such a proposition. The exhibition was received by the grand stand with about the same reception given any other "10-20-30" production, and of course, will result in even smaller attendance next Saturday.

After this the Railroaders, headed by their valiant leader, actually appeared to lay down on the game, letting the Triangle boys run the bases till their tongues were hanging out of their mouths. By tossing them over easily, Green managed to stand the storm until the eighth inning, when he caught a car cityward bound, leaving only eigh men to finish the game. In the ninth, they do say (we are at a loss to try to imagine such a possibility) the Coast Line had a chance to win the game, but it came time for Mr. Green to strike out and he was missing, so the game was called, score seven to nothing.

Pittsburg, Aug. 5.—In one of the best games seen here for many a day, Pittsburg defeated New York by a score of 3 to 1. The all-round playing of both teams was gilt-edged order. Carey distinguished himself at the bat and in the field. His home run in the sixth inning practically won the game for Pittsburg. In the ninth he saved it by making a great onehanded catch of a fly from Herzog's bat. A man was on base at the time, and had the ball escaped him, it is likely another story would have to be told. Leifield was hit on the arm by Marquard in the seventh inning and so severely injured that he was compelled to retire.

ATHLETIC EVENTS AT BEACH

Programme Announced for Contest to Be Held at Lumina Next Saturday—Several New Events Are Arranged.

The programme for the mid-Summer athletic events to be held at Lumina, Wrightsville Beach, next Saturday has been arranged and was announced yesterday. Similar contests were held in front of the pleasure palace Fourth July last, and witnessed by one of the largest crowds ever seen at Lumina at one time.

The attendance next Saturday is expected to be large. The contests will begin at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, this being the time when the tide is low, which is necessary in order to have the beach in suitable condition for the running events.

The programme provides for 15 different events, some of which have never been included in similar meets at the beach, among these being the running hop, step and jump. A "jousting contest" is another that has never before been tried at Lumina It has been added by request, and does not appear in the official programme as published. This event will be the concluding feature of the meet. "Jousting" in this case is a contest between four people in two canoes. In each canoe there is one man who sits in the stern of the canoe and paddles and guides the canoe. The other man stands erect in the bow, armed with a long pole on the end of which is fastened a pillow. This man tries to knock his opponent out of the other canoe by pushing him with the pole In this contest a great deal depends on the one who handles the paddle, for he can, if he is skillful, so manipulate the canoe as to give his "jouster" every advantage over his opponent. This form of contest has often been tried in still water events, but has never before been tried in the ocean, it is said. It will no doubt afford a great deal of amusement to the spectators. A number of the canoe experts at the beach have been practicing with their canoes in anticipation of this contest. Some of them have become so skilful that they are able to ride through the breakers standing erect in their canoes, and they accomplish this feat without upsetting

The list of events scheduled for the mid-Summer meet are: 100-yard dash for boys under 110 pounds; 100 yard dash for 100 pounds and over; running broad jump for boys under 110 pounds; running broad jump for those over 110 pounds; sack race (under 110 pounds); sack race (110 pounds and over); running hop, step and jump (under 110 pounds); running hop, step and jump (110 pounds and over); potato race (110 pounds and under); potato race (over 110 pounds); 220-yard dash (under 110 pounds); 220-yard dash (110 pounds and over); canoe race in ocean; swimming race in ocean; jousting contest.

The officials are W. W. Koch, referee; H. G. Foard, judge; Chas. Dushan and J. B. Huntington, marshals; W. R. Dosher, starter; F. C. Hack, scorer.

Norvel Girl and Grace D., Tried Conclusions to Wrightsville.

An impromptu road race between Norvel Girl, owned and driven by Mr. H. Mc. Godwin, and Grace D., owned and driven by Mr. Barden, was trotted from Wilmington to Wrightsville Sound yesterday morning for a purse of $200, Grace D. having been declared the winner in a most exciting race over the nine-mile course. The start was from Front and Princess streets and Norvel Girl maintained the lead until practically the finish, when Grace D., went under the wire, or more correctly speaking, crossed the railroad track at the Sound, near the station, on a spurt the last few hundred yards. The race was quite exciting and was over the shell road, following the heavy rains of Friday. The time was given in by the judge as 25 minutes.

FOREST FIRES RAGING.

In California Mountain Ranges—Women Battle With Fire.

San Bernardino, Cal., Aug. 5.—E. H. Charlton, supervisor of the Angeles Forest Reserve, is making efforts today to apprehend men suspected of having caused the fires which have been raging in the muntain ranges near here for 12 days. The big timber in the higher ranges escaped the flames, but the burned brush area, however, will measure more than 25 square miles.

Pasadena, Cal., Aug. 5.—With hair singed and face blistered Mrs. Laura S. Eddy and Miss Margaret Hammers arrived at their homes here today after a wild automobile fight through avenues of burning trees in the San Bernardino mountain forest fires. The two women escaped from Pine Crest, a Summer resort. For miles they ran between lines of burning trees. The passengers tied water soaked gunny sacks over their heads for protection against the heat.

COL. GREENE'S FUNERAL.

Noted Figure in Group of Copper Men of Southwest.

Bisbee, Ariz., Aug. 5.—The funeral of Col. William C. Greene, the copper magnate of Cananea, Mexico, who died today, will be held on Monday in Cananea, according to a dispatch received here today. The interment will be in the colliery at the copper mine camp.

Col. Greene was one of the most picturesque figures of the group of copper men who have operated in the Southwest, because of his meteoric rise from a penniless prospector to directing genius of the Cananea Copper Company. From the time he assumed ownership here until he encountered reverses in the panic of 1907, Greene was one of the dominant figures in the copper industry.

Walks From Atlanta to New York for Five Hundred Dollars.

New York, Aug. 5.—Frank Orr ended here this afternoon 1,000 miles from Atlanta, Ga., begun on June 23, for a wager of $500. He started without money or matches, pushed a wheelbarrow before him the entire way and was not allowed to ask for food or money on the trip.

Orr visited the city hall and left for Mayor Gaynor a letter from the Mayor of Charlotte, N. C., and later boarded a train for Atlanta. He was seven days ahead of his scheduled time of 48 days.

New York, August 5.—Russell Griswold Colt, against whom Ethel Barrymore, the actress, recently filed suit for divorce, told a policeman who had halted him for over speeding in his automobile at Freeport, L. I., today that he was in a hurry to catch a train for Canada to see his wife. The plea was successful, and the officer allowed Colt to proceed, after he had promised to appear later before a Freeport justice of the peace.

Chicago, Aug. 5.—Joseph Vacek, Jr., 17 years old, was held to the grand jury for the murder of his father, Joseph Vacek, a contractor, by a coroner's jury at the inquest held today. Testimony showed that the victim was committed to the Kankakee Insane Asylum five years ago following an assault on a minister and that he blamed his wife for his incarceration.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 5.—Announcement was made today of the establishment by the Booth Steamship Company, Ltd., of Liverpool and New York, of a direct mail, passenger and freight service between Norfolk, the Barbadoes, Para and Manai, Brazil, which last named port is 850 miles up the Amazon river. Trips will be made monthly.

Alameda, Cal., Aug. 5.—Mrs. Josephine Rowen Reid, widow of the late Col. S. C. Reid, for many years editor of the New Orleans Picayune, died here today. She was 75 years old. Mrs. Reid's grandfather, U. S. Senator Rowen, built on Federal Hill, Ky., the mansion which inspired Stephen Foster to write "My Old Kentucky Home."

Kansas City, Kas., Aug. 5.—Officers of the National Conservation Congress today established headquarters in this city and began arrangements for the meeting of the congress here September 25, 26 and 27. Henry Wallace, of Des Moines, president of the congress, said one of the principal subjects to be considered will be "Conservation of the Fertility of the Soil."

Austin, Texas, Aug. 5.—Declaring that he was determined to employ all means to investigate and prosecute alleged frauds in the recent State-wide prohibition election Governor Oscar B. Colquitt today sent to the Legislature a special message asking that body to increase to $27,500 the appropriation for rewards Last year $7,500 was set aside for this purpose.

CLARK NOT A CANDIDATE.

Speaker of House Will Not Try for the Presidency.

Washington, Aug. 5.—Champ Clark Speaker of the House of Representatives, in a letter which he has sent to a Weatherly, Pa., editor, makes the assertion that he is not a candidate for the Presidency. He said:

"While I am not a candidate for the Presidency and perhaps may never be, I consider it a great compliment to be thought of or mentioned in that high connection by my fellow citizens.

"My duty is here helping the House to make good, and I am going to stay here as long as there is anything for me to do. In other words, I am not going to neglect the work here in order to run around the country after another office."

DEPOSED HAITI PRESIDENT

General Antoine Simon Arrived at Jamica Yesterday.

Kingston, Jamica, Aug. 5.—The deposed President of Haiti, General Antoine Simon, who arrived here today on the steamer Prinz Nederlanden, is now at the Haitien consulate, which is protected by a guard. He declined to be interviewed, but General Jeremie, former Minister of the Interior, acting as his spokesman, said the ex-President was disgusted with affairs in Haiti and especially that the diplomatic corps had been given power to General Ducasto in command of the section of the revolutionary army in the capital, to constitute themselves a Committee of Public Safety.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 5.—Thirteen union seamen angry because they were discharged from the Tug M. E. and W. A. Luckenbach today attacked two policemen who were guarding the tugs at the Norfolk and Western Railway piers tonight. Most of the seamen were foreigners and they attacked the two policemen when they were ordered away from the tugs made fast to the piers. The seamen charged the two policemen and patrolman Burch who was knocked down while endeavoring to send in call for assistance, drew his revolver and fired six times in the air to frighten the men. His action probably saved him from serious injury because the men scattered when the patrolman began shooting and he managed to summon aid. Five officers responded to his call and six of the seamen were arrested. Patrolman Burch was painfully hurt about the face and his clothing was torn. Several of the men also showed the effects of coming into contact with the policeman's club.

Jersey City, N. J., Aug. 6.—One man was shocked to death and another was knocked unconscious at the power house of the Public Service Corporation today. Strangely, the man who survived was the one who touched the live wire. While falling, but still in contact with the wire, he touched Frederick R. Nealy, of Brooklyn, and the current through the unconscious man's body killed Nealy instantly.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 5.—Praying that 100 of the 400 shares of stock of the Nashville Banner be transferred to it by decree, the Fourth National Bank, of this city, has filed a suit here against the president of the publishing company, Major E. B. Stahlman. Major Stahlman said today the suit was the outcome of a note which had not been paid because negotiations were in progress for a settlement of all disputes between the publishing company's officers and the bank.

REAL ESTATE IN LUMBERTON

Town May Lay Claim to Much Property—Rains in Robeson—Robeson Veterans Delighted With Entertainment Here.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., Aug. 5.—If reports are true regarding some of the town property, the recent disturbance about water connections, etc, will be a small affair, compared to what is to come. It is said now that the town owns a good deal of real estate which is held by private individuals.

We have heard it stated by parties who seem to know what they are talking about, that all the land bounded by Water street and the river, from the power house to a point some distance south of the Seaboard tracks, belongs to the town. This, of course, includes all the buildings between the old wooden bridge and the railroad bridge on the west side of Water street. Then it seems that there are several buildings south of the railroad erected on town property. It is said the Seaboard really has no right of way through town, as there is no record of where any such transaction has ever been made. Truth is, it seems difficult to tell just where a good many of us are located anyhow. It is hard to tell what buildings are on the line and what are not, right in the business part of the town. Orders were recently issued by the town authorities for the removal of some buildings which extend too far out, while others are too far in. If Lumberton should lay claim to and take possession of the land which is said really belongs to it, there would need be a good long extra term of court. In the business part of town buildings seem to be out and in on different streets. It is now claimed that the beautiful two-story building owned and occupied by White & Gough is several inches out. It is to be hoped that this is an error. Only two years ago a glass front was put in which would do credit to any city in the State. Several people who have erected residences on North Elm street on the west side, during the past few years, seem to have run their yards about a foot into the street. That is a small matter as few of them have fences. These statements are not official but are made by people who seem to know what they are talking about and are given for what they are worth.

In speaking of the continued dry weather, we heard a Baptist minister make the statement this week that he had been baptizing people in one place in Lumber river every Summer for the past 16 years, and that the river was now lower than he had seen it during all these years. Little as is thought about water getting scarce in this section, the flowing wells in Lumberton are showing the effects of the rain shortage. The overflow well at the foot of Third street has gone dry, while the one near the jail has almost stopped running. Where an inch pipe formerly ran full all the time, the stream now is not larger than a lead pencil.

Upon their return from Wilmington some of the veterans who attended the reunion this week, declared they had one of the finest trips of their lives. They said the Wilmington people just tried themselves to see how nice they could treat the visitors, and that if any one had any fault to find of the manner in which they were entertained while in the city, they would find fault in heaven. Several who went down on the special train Tuesday are loud in their praise of the Seaboard for the manner in which the special was handled. After leaving here the train did not stop until it reached Navassa, and the run was made from here to the union station in Wilmington in one hour and thirty-seven minutes. Very nearly 100 people from Lumberton and surrounding country visited the city during the reunion.

After seeing the great improvement caused by putting down concrete sidewalks on North Elm street, we believe a great majority of property owners in town would be glad to stand the cost of putting the pavements all over town, same as is being done on Elm street. It's going to be great.

For the past two or three Summers the Seaboard declined to give Lumberton a week-end rate to Wilmington claiming as a reason for not doing so that the travel did not justify it. This season a rate of $2.75 was given and as a result the travel between here and Wilmington for Saturday and Sunday during the season has broken all previous records.

Dr. T. A. Norment was among the Lumberton people who visited Wilmington during the week. While waiting at the station for the train that would take him to the city, he made the surprising statement that he was 81 years old, and although he had visited Wilmington many times he had yet to look upon the Atlantic Ocean his first time.

One of the greatest improvements which have been made here in some time is the remodeling and enlarging of the postoffice. When the work is completed our potoffice facilities will be second to none for a town of this size. All it will need will be to give the present very clever and efficient force one more clerk.

It is hard to understand how some people can be so uncharitable as to make remarks about other people for doing precisely what they would be guilty of themselves if they could. Just the other afternoon a young couple, not a couple of young ladies nor a couple of young men, but one of each, were quietly enjoying themselves beneath a vine-covered nook on the front porch, when the young man lifted the hand of the young lady to his lips and kissed it several times. What of it? We suspect they are old enough to know their business and should be allowed to attend to it. He must be 25, and she is at least two past "sweet sixteen."

The Methodist congregation has granted the pastor, Rev. E. M. Hoyle, a vacation during the month of August. Mr. Hoyle will take the time only in part, as he will remain at home and preach on Sundays at 11 o'clock. During the month there will be no Sunday night service, neither will there be any Wednesday night prayer service.

Mr. Robert Lamb, the landscape gardener, of Fayetteville, spent yesterday here. Mr. Lamb has the contract for beautifying the court house grounds, which work he expects to do during the Fall, probably in October. It is expected that the grounds will be leveled off and planted in peas next week.

About the most dejected looking bunch of people we have seen, was a party of five gentlemen we saw waiting at a boarding house for breakfast yesterday morning. They were Messrs. B. M. Davis, Geo. M. Whitfield, A. T. Parmele, Wade Wishart and R. S. Sledge. They are all in the same trouble—their wives were on taking their vacations.

The Robeson Advance will shortly begin to publish write-ups of Robeson county news, dealing with each town's industrial growth and the future it has before it. It is not known definitely what towns will be written up, but arrangements have already been completed for the first of the series which will be St. Paul.

Two or three gentlemen were discussing the question as to which was the most contemptible, a person who would write an anonymuos letter or a person who would go to a newspaper and ask that certain people or their methods or sties be lambasted, always charging the editor, of course, not to use their names. A listener broke in to say that in his opinion the scent of either one would be strong enough to make two polecats hurry up and get out of the way. That was pretty strong.

Mr. Archie Stephens, residing in East Lumberton, passed away yesterday morning at 1 o'clock after an illness of less than 24 hours. Thursday afternoon he ate some watermelon which made him sick, and it is thought to have had something to do with his death. He leaves a wife and one child.

The Southern Express Company and Western Union Telegraph Company are up against a new proposition here. An express official stated here a few days ago that the company did business in 33,000 towns, and that Lumberton was the first town to call on them for sanitary tax. The Western Union is about the same. Both companies say they have asked for copies of the town ordinances charging these taxes, but so far they have not been furnished.

A post card received from Miss Anna McLeod, dated Edinburg Scotland, July, 25th, was received here yesterday. She reported a splendid trip, and was leaving that day for London.

Mr. A. Weinstein is having his residence on 10th street greatly improved by enlarging and remodeling.

Some smart alec, described by those who saw him, as having two horns and a long tail, turned in a false alarm of fire from the box at the Baptist church last night at 12:10. Wait until Judge Whedbee comes.

This section was visited by refreshing showers yesterday about noon. From reports received from the surrounding country the rain seems to have been general. The rainfall here for the 24 hours ending at 8 o'clock this morning was 1.07 inches, with good indications of more today.

In the future the town fines which have been turned into the school fund will be appropriated to the town fund which in the run of a year amounts to a good bit and will aid the town that much. This change was made through the recommendation of Town Attorney T. A. McNeill, Jr.

Display windows have been faring bad here. A few evenings ago some one shoved a boy against one of the display windows of Boylin's jewelry store, smashing the glass so that a new one had to be put in. The party or parties who were to blame for it had a new window put in at a cost of several dollars.

The largest glass, several feet in size, which was put in the front of the building of the Pope Drug Company a few days ago, in some unaccountable way, has a crack in it from the top down nearly to the bottom. A new glass will have to be ordered from Pittsburg before the work can be completed. Dr. McPhaul said last night that he did not know the cost of the broken glass as he purchased the whole front in a lump.

About 40 people from this section went to Norfolk this week. The fare for the round trip was $4.50, but the crowd went just the same.——Mr. Alf H. McLeod, accompanied by his family and his mother, Mrs. Emily McLeod, left this week for Hendersonville, where they will remain some time.

Miss Catherine Kenny, of Charleston, S. C., is visiting at the home of Mr. C. B. Redmond, on Chesnut street——Miss Rene Hunter, of Charlotte is visiting Miss Grace Redmond——Mr. Tom Burton, who has been spending several weeks with relatives in Danville, Va., returned Thursday and resumed his duties with the Lumberton Drug Company.

Mrs. J. R. Poole and three children left this week for Tomahawk to spend some time with relatives——Mrs. T. C. Johnson is visiting her parents at Vineland——Mrs. Wade Wishart and little daughter, left this week for Whiteville to spend some time with relatives——Mr. Geo. B. McLeod left this morning for Waynesville to join his family which has been there for some time. They expect to return about the 1st of September.

Mrs. R. E. L. Carroll and little son, Robert, went to Charlotte last night to visit relatives——Mesdames J. W. Hall and Dan McGougan, of Lumber Bridge, have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Edmund this week.

Mr. E. M. Britt, of the firm of Britt & Britt, attorneys, who has been spending two months in western North Carolina, returned home this week——Mrs. Mary C. Jones, of Randolph county, is visiting the family of her son, Mr. John M. Jones.

Fighting Like Tigers.

In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corpusoles attack disease germs like tigers. But often germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome. Then see pimples, boils, eczema, salt-rheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fail. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T. Budahn, of Tracy, Cal., "I have ever found." They make rich, red blood, strong nerves and build up your health. Try them. 50c. at R. R. Bellamy.

ROCKY POINT NEWS.

Quarterly Conference—Copious Showers—Other News Notes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Rocky Point, N. C., Aug. 5.—The third quarterly conference, Burgaw Circuit, is being held here today. Presiding Elder N. H. D. Wilson and Rev. C. M. Lance, of Burgaw, are present. After a sermon in the morning dinner was served by the ladies and at 2:30 P. M. conference convened. Rev. Mr. Lance reported the spiritual condition of the church good. Favorable reports were received from the several congregations.

Copious showers have fallen, worth to the county in round figures, $100,000. The drought had killed out acres of strawberries and the decrease here is now at least 40 per cent. From inquiry it is so elsewhere and there are no runners nor plants forming to replace those that have died out. The rains came in time to save the peanut crop. The melon crop is exceedingly fine. Several farmers have realized $50 per half acre. Among them may be mentioned Messrs. Henry Shaw and W. O. Johnston.

I cannot close this without mentioning the extremely pleasant entertainment given the Confederate Veterans in the City by the Sea. The proverbial hospitality of heretofore was even eclipsed. The keys of the city were literally turned over and the "big key" that fits the calaboose was thrown away. The veterans' money was no good. Everything, even to the water, of which there has been so much said, was in profusion. There were veterans of all ages, stations and conditions, from the grave to the gay, and they expect to live just so long and attend all the reunions. Sweet girls and women waved and threw kisses at the boys in gray as was done by beautiful maids and matrons. But the most striking figure on the parade was tht of the venerable chaplain, Dr. A. D. Betts, of the 30th N. C. Regiment, as with figure erect he reviewed the parade. Conjure up the ancient circuit rider with saddle-bags on saddle in which were a clean shirt, hymn book, Bible and some tracts. They spread the gospel, were the evangelists that proclaimed the good things from seashore to mountain, often guided to a home at night by the dim light of the cabin and the smell of a fried chicken. God bless the old circuit riders, their good works do follow them and their reward will be abundant. E. D. P.

HAD A GOOD TIME.

Capt. R. P. Paddison Writes of Veterans' Reunion at Wilmington.

Point Caswell, N. C., Aug. 5th.

Editor Daily Star:

In behalf of the Confederate veterans of North Carolina I wish to return our thanks to the good people of the city of Wilmington for the splendid entertainment given us, the hospitality was unbounded, the attention shown the veterans by the various committees was constant and continuous and too much praise cannot be given "Maj. Leon" and "Billy Monroe" for their untiring efforts to take care of, house and feed these old Vets, while everyone seemed to think it his individual duty to see that nothing was left undone. Gen. Ray, Capt. Kellum and myself wish to thank Iredell Meares, Esq., for his open house hospitality to us during our stay and well did he sustain Wilmington's reputation for attention to strangers. I have attended reunions from Asheville to Morehead and Norfolk, Va., and I unhesitatingly say this was the greatest success in every way of them all. The kindness of the Tidewater Power Co., in giving free transportation to all veterans over their lines was the greatest act of kindness that could have been given. It enabled those old men from the mountains to visit the seashore (many who had never seen the Atlantic ocean), who possibly could not have done so otherwise. This kind act coming from a corporation will long be remembered and ought to stop this everlasting howl that corporations have no souls. There were many amusing and funny things that happened, one of which I wish to mention. While standing on the street I was approached by an old comrade who was rubbing his throat with thumb and fingers. He said, "Oh, pard, my throat is mighty dry; can't you give an old brother ten cents to get a short?" I replied, "Why, don't you know this is a prohibition town and you can't get anything to drink here?" He shut one eye, placed his right hand on my shoulder, looked me in the face and said: "Old Pard, you furnish the dime and I'll show you where you can get all you want to drink if you won't blow on me." He got his drink. R. P. PADDISON.

FLANDERS MAKES CLEAN SWEEP

Awarded First Prize and Second Prize in Minneapolis—Helena Races.

Flanders "20" again made a clean sweep. Awarded first and second—all the prizes there were—in her class in the reliability run, Minneapolis to Helena, Montana, the hardest contest any light car ever entered, 1,390 miles over mountains and plains, worst road in America and rained most every day. Mud hub deep, the two Flanders were the only cars in their class to finish with perfect score, and only one other car of any price—a Mormon—$2,700—finished perfect. Cars penalized included Packard, Stoddard, Dayton, Abbott, Detroit, Amplex, Maxwell Cole, Krit, Hupmobile and others.

This is the second great victory for the Flanders "20" in a month. The other was perfect road scores in Iowa's Little Glidden. No other $800 car on earth can stand up on this Flanders "20" in hard work, and in this latest contest she went out of her class and trimmed the four thousand dollar fellows. Demonstrator fore door model arriving Monday. W. D. MacMillan, Jr., will be pleased to show you. **

Infantry and Brigade Plays Pretty Eight-Inning Game to Tie—Second Game Marred by "Yellow" Conduct.

The regular scheduled doubleheader was pulled off at League Park yesterday afternoon, a small congregation of fans being present to witness the tame affair. In the first game, after the W. L. I. had apparently tied up the game and stowed it away in its little pocket, the Brigadiers got next to a good thing, though one doesn't know exactly what it was, and drove across five runs, tieing up the score, six to six in the eighth inning.

The Infantry boys had already annexed six tallies early in the game to the lone one of the Brigade and this spectacular finish somewhat made up for the rotten affair that is told later. The details were not very interesting, but it may be mentioned that the Boys" Brigade were charged with a total of six errors to the two by the opposition. Mintz was taken out early in the game and Smith was put in to twirl, though it may be said that neither Whitehead, Smith or Mintz were at their best, as the frequent swatting of the sphere to unoccupied corners testified. Out of nine safe bingles the Infantry made only six runs, supplemented by the six misplays by the Brigade, while the latter, from five hits and only two misplays by the Infantry team, succeeded in putting the same number of men across. Smith struck out an even half dozen batsmen after he was put in, quite a good record, as Whitehead only succeeded in fooling three of the Prigadiers in the nine innings.

Summary—Bases on balls: Whitehead 5, Smith 1; struck out: Smith 6, Whitehead 3, Mintz 2; two-base hits: Boswell, Parker; left on bases: W. L. I. 3, Boys' Brigade 7; stolen bases: W. L. I. 3, Boys' Brigade 4.

A Nine-Act Farce.

Scene: The ball park; time: Saturday, 5 P. M. Characters: The Atlantic Coast Line team and Triangle Boys.

With "Pomp" Green and Mr. McCathern playing the leading roles, the latter getting the encores, while Mr Green came in for spontaneous hoots on several occasions, a comedy-farce was enacted in place of the second "game" scheduled in the City League yesterday afternoon. McCathern was a new recruit recently signed by the Triangle team and acquitted himself very creditably, being especially effective in pulling out of holes with men on bases. Several near scores by the Railroaders were nipped by his consistent holding together and twirling in pinches. B-U-T—back to the bush league for the once famous (locally) Thomas Green, who has once had on professional ball garb, not a century ago. He was pounded at will all through the game, and would have lost it any way.

With a row of goose eggs only to show for six innings work, the Coast Line aggregation interrupted the sixth act right in the middle to present a short specialty, same being a farcical production entitled "Kicking Against the Pricks." On a decision made by the umpire on third, calling a Railroader out, the entire team, nearly, rushed on the field, in the way that they, only, have the nerve to do, and acted as if they really expected His Umps to change the decision because it did not exactly suit them. They really got sore because he declined to consider such a proposition. The exhibition was received by the grand stand with about the same reception given any other "10-20-30" production, and of course, will result in even smaller attendance next Saturday.

After this the Railroaders, headed by their valiant leader, actually appeared to lay down on the game, letting the Triangle boys run the bases till their tongues were hanging out of their mouths. By tossing them over easily, Green managed to stand the storm until the eighth inning, when he caught a car cityward bound, leaving only eigh men to finish the game. In the ninth, they do say (we are at a loss to try to imagine such a possibility) the Coast Line had a chance to win the game, but it came time for Mr. Green to strike out and he was missing, so the game was called, score seven to nothing.

The Tabulated Score.

Pittsburg, Aug. 5.—In one of the best games seen here for many a day, Pittsburg defeated New York by a score of 3 to 1. The all-round playing of both teams was gilt-edged order. Carey distinguished himself at the bat and in the field. His home run in the sixth inning practically won the game for Pittsburg. In the ninth he saved it by making a great onehanded catch of a fly from Herzog's bat. A man was on base at the time, and had the ball escaped him, it is likely another story would have to be told. Leifield was hit on the arm by Marquard in the seventh inning and so severely injured that he was compelled to retire.

ATHLETIC EVENTS AT BEACH

Programme Announced for Contest to Be Held at Lumina Next Saturday—Several New Events Are Arranged.

The programme for tae mid-Summer athletic events to be held at Lumina, Wrightsville Beach, next Saturday has been arranged and was announced yesterday. Similar contests were held in front of the pleasure palace Fourth July last, and witnessed by one of the largest crowds ever seen at Lumina at one time.

The attendance next Saturday is expected to be large. The contests will begin at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, this being the time when the tide is low, which is necessary in order to have the beach in suitable condition for the running events.

The programme provides for 15 different events, some of which have never been included in similar meets at the beach, among these being the running hop, step and jump. A "jousting contest" is another that has never before been tried at Lumina It has been added by request, and does not appear in the official programme as published. This event will be the concluding feature of the meet. "Jousting" in this case is a contest between four people in two canoes. In each canoe there is one man who sits in the stern of the canoe and paddles and guides the canoe. The other man stands erect in the bow, armed with a long pole on the end of which is fastened a pillow. This man tries to knock his opponent out of the other canoe by pushing him with the pole In this contest a great deal depends on the one who handles the paddle, for he can, if he is skillful, so manipulate the canoe as to give his "jouster" every advantage over his opponent. This form of contest has often been tried in still water events, but has never before been tried in the ocean, it is said. It will no doubt afford a great deal of amusement to the spectators. A number of the canoe experts at the beach have been practicing with their canoes in anticipation of this contest. Some of them have become so skilful that they are able to ride through the breakers standing erect in their canoes, and they accomplish this feat without upsetting

The list of events scheduled for the mid-Summer meet are: 100-yard dash for boys under 110 pounds; 100 yard dash for 100 pounds and over; running broad jump for boys under 110 pounds; running broad jump for those over 110 pounds; sack race (under 110 pounds); sack race (110 pounds and over); running hop, step and jump (under 110 pounds); running hop, step and jump (110 pounds and over); potato race (110 pounds and under); potato race fover 110 pounds); 220-yard dash (under 110 pounds); 220-yard dash (110 pounds and over); canoe race in ocean; swimming race in ocean; jousting contest.

The officials are W. W. Koch, referee; H. G. Foard, judge; Chas. Dushan and J. B. Huntington, marshals; W. R. Dosher, starter; F. C. Hack, scorer.

IMPROMPTU ROAD RACE.

Norvel Girl and Grace D., Tried Conclusions to Wrightsville.

An impromptu road race between Norvel Girl, owned and driven by Mr. H. Mc. Godwin, and Grace D., owned and driven by Mr. Barden, was trotted from Wilmington to Wrightsville Sound yesterday morning for a purse of $200, Grace D. having been declared the winner in a most exciting race over the nine-mile course. The start was from Front and Princess streets and Norvel Girl maintained the lead until practically the finish, when Grace D., went under the wire, or more correctly speaking, crossed the railroad track at the Sound, near the station, on a spurt the last few hundred yards. The race was quite exciting and was over the shell road, following the heavy rains of Friday. The time was given in by the judge as 25 minutes.

FOREST FIRES RAGING.

In California Mountain Ranges—Women Battle With Fire.

San Bernardino, Cal., Aug. 5.—E. H. Charlton, supervisor of the Angeles Forest Reserve, is making efforts today to apprehend men suspected of having caused the fires which have been raging in the muntain ranges near here for 12 days. The big timber in the higher ranges escaped the flames, but the burned brush area, however, will measure more than 25 square miles.

Pasadena, Cal., Aug. 5.—With hair singed and face blistered Mrs. Laura S. Eddy and Miss Margaret Hammers arrived at their homes here today after a wild automobile fight through avenues of burning trees in the San Bernardino mountain forest fires. The two women escaped from Pine Crest, a Summer resort. For miles they ran between lines of burning trees. The passengers tied water soaked gunny sacks over their heads for protection against the heat.

COL. GREENE'S FUNERAL.

Noted Figure in Group of Copper Men of Southwest.

Bisbee, Ariz., Aug. 5.—The funeral of Col. William C. Greene, the copper magnate of Cananea, Mexico, who died today, will be held on Monday in Cananea, according to a dispatch received here today. The interment will be in the colliery at the copper mine camp.

Col. Greene was one of the most picturesque figures of the group of copper men who have operated in the Southwest, because of his meteoric rise from a penniless prospector to directing genius of the Cananea Copper Company. From the time he assumed ownership here until he encountered reverses in the panic of 1907, Greene was one of the dominant figures in the copper industry.

Walks From Atlanta to New York for Five Hundred Dollars.

New York, Aug. 5.—Frank Orr ended here this afternoon 1,000 miles from Atlanta, Ga., begun on June 23, for a wager of $500. He started without money or matches, pushed a wheelbarrow before him the entire way and was not allowed to ask for food or money on the trip.

Orr visited the city hall and left for Mayor Gaynor a letter from the Mayor of Charlotte, N. C., and later boarded a train for Atlanta. He was seven days ahead of his scheduled time of 48 days.

New York, August 5.—Russell Griswold Colt, against whom Ethel Barrymore, the actress, recently filed suit for divorce, told a policeman who had halted him for over speeding in his automobile at Freeport, L. I., today that he was in a hurry to catch a train for Canada to see his wife. The plea was successful, and the officer allowed Colt to proceed, after he had promised to appear later before a Freeport justice of the peace.

Chicago, Aug. 5.—Joseph Vacek, Jr., 17 years old, was held to the grand jury for the murder of his father, Joseph Vacek, a contractor, by a coroner's jury at the inquest held today. Norfolk, Va., Aug. 5.—Announcement was made today of the establishment by the Booth Steamship Company, Ltd., of Liverpool and New York, of a direct mail, passenger and freight service between Norfolk, the Barbadoes, Para and Manai, Brazil, which last named port is 850 miles up the Amazon river. Trips will be made monthly.

Alameda, Cal., Aug. 5.—Mrs. Josephine Rowen Reid, widow of the late Col. S. C. Reid, for many years editor of the New Orleans Picayune, died here today. She was 75 years old. Mrs. Reid's grandfather, U. S. Senator Rowen, built on Federal Hill, Ky., the mansion which inspired Stephen Foster to write "My Old Kentucky Home."

Kansas City, Kas., Aug. 5.—Officers of the National Conservation Congress today established headquarters in this city and began arrangements for the meeting of the congress here September 25, 26 and 27. Henry Wallace, of Des Moines, president of the congress, said one of the principal subjects to be considered will be "Conservation of the Fertility of the Soil."

Austin, Texas, Aug. 5.—Declaring that he was determined to employ all means to investigate and prosecute alleged frauds in the recent State-wide prohibition election Governor Oscar B. Colquitt today sent to the Legislature a special message asking that body to increase to $27,500 the appropriation for rewards Last year $7,500 was set aside for this purpose.

CLARK NOT A CANDIDATE.

Speaker of House Will Not Try for the Presidency.

Washington, Aug. 6.—Champ Clark Speaker of the House of Representatives, in a letter which he has sent to a Weatherly, Pa., editor, makes the assertion that he is not a candidate for the Presidency. He said:

"While I am not a candidate for the Presidency and perhaps may never be, I consider it a great compliment to be thought of or mentioned in that high connection by my fellow citizens.

"My duty is here helping the House to make good, and I am going to stay here as long as there is anything for me to do. In other words, I am not going to neglect the work here in order to run around the country after another office."

DEPOSED HAITI PRESIDENT

General Antoine Simon Arrived at Jamica Yesterday.

Kingston, Jamica, Aug. 5.—The deposed President of Haiti, General Antoine Simon, who arrived here today on the steamer Prinz Nederlanden, is now at the Haitien consulate, which is protected by a guard. He declined to be interviewed, but General Jeremie, former Minister of the Interior, acting as his spokesman, said the ex-President was disgusted with affairs in Haiti and especially that the diplomatic corps had been given power to General Ducasto in command of the section of the revolutionary army in the capital, to constitute themselves a Committee of Public Safety.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 5.—Thirteen union seamen angry because they were discharged from the Tug M. E. and W. A. Luckenbach today attacked two policemen who were guarding the tugs at the Norfolk and Western Railway piers tonight. Most of the seamen were foreigners and they attacked the two policemen when they were ordered away from the tugs made fast to the piers. The seamen charged the two policemen and patrolman Burch who was knocked down while endeavoring to send in call for assistance, drew his revolver and fired six times in the air to frighten the men. His action probably saved him from serious injury because the men scattered when the patrolman began shooting and he managed to summon aid. Five officers responded to his call and six of the seamen were arrested. Patrolman Burch was painfully hurt about the face and his clothing was torn. Several of the men also showed the effects of coming into contact with the policeman's club.

Jersey City, N. J., Aug. 6.—One man was shocked to death and another was knocked unconscious at the power house of the Public Service Corporation today. Strangely, the man who survived was the one who touched the live wire. While falling, but still in contact with the wire, he touched Frederick R. Nealy, of Brooklyn, and the current through the unconscious man's body killed Nealy instantly.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 5.—Praying that 100 of the 400 shares of stock of the Nashville Banner be transferred to it by decree, the Fourth National Bank, of this city, has filed a suit here against the president of the publishing company, Major E. B. Stahlman. Major Stahlman said today the suit was the outcome of a note which had not been paid because negotiations were in progress for a settlement of all disputes between the publishing company's officers and the bank.

REAL ESTATE IN LUMBERTON

Town May Lay Claim to Much Property—Rains in Robeson—Robeson Veterans Delighted With Entertainment Here.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., Aug. 5.—If reports are true regarding some of the town property, the recent disturbance about water connections, etc, will be a small affair, compared to what is to come. It is said now that the town owns a good deal of real estate which is held by private individuals.

We have heard it stated by parties who seem to know what they are talking about, that all the land bounded by Water street and the river, from the power house to a point some distance south of the Seaboard tracks, belongs to the town. This, of course, includes all the buildings between the old wooden bridge and the railroad bridge on the west side of Water street. Then it seems that there are several buildings south of the railroad erected on town property. It is said the Seaboard really has no right of way through town, as there is no record of where any such transaction has ever been made. Truth is, it seems difficult to tell just where a good many of us are located anyhow. It is hard to tell what buildings are on the line and what are not, right in the business part of the town. Orders were recently issued by the town authorities for the removal of some buildings which extend too far out, while others are too far in. If Lumberton should lay claim to and take possession of the land which is said really belongs to it, there would need be a good long extra term of court. In the business part of town buildings seem to be out and in on different streets. It is now claimed that the beautiful two-story building owned and occupied by White & Gough is several inches out. It is to be hoped that this is an error. Only two years ago a glass front was put in which would do credit to any city in the State. Several people who have erected residences on North Elm street on the west side, during the past few years, seem to have run their yards about a foot into the street. That is a small matter as few of them have fences. These statements are not official but are made by people who seem to know what they are talking about and are given for what they are worth.

In speaking of the continued dry weather, we heard a Baptist minister make the statement this week that he had been baptizing people in one place in Lumber river every Summer for the past 16 years, and that the river was now lower than he had seen it during all these years. Little as is thought about water getting scarce in this section, the flowing wells in Lumberton are showing the effects of the rain shortage. The overflow well at the foot of Third street has gone dry, while the one near the jail has almost stopped running. Where an inch pipe formerly ran full all the time, the stream now is not larger than a lead pencil.

Upon their return from Wilmington some of the veterans who attended the reunion this week, declared they had one of the finest trips of their lives. They said the Wilmington people just tried themselves to see how nice they could treat the visitors, and that if any one had any fault to find of the manner in which they were entertained while in the city, they would find fault in heaven. Several who went down on the special train Tuesday are loud in their praise of the Seaboard for the manner in which the special was handled. After leaving here the train did not stop until it reached Navassa, and the run was made from here to the union station in Wilmington in one hour and thirty-seven minutes. Very nearly 100 people from Lumberton and surrounding country visited the city during the reunion.

After seeing the great improvement caused by putting down concrete sidewalks on North Elm street, we believe a great majority of property owners in town would be glad to stand the cost of putting the pavements all over town, same as is being done on Elm street. It's going to be great.

For the past two or three Summers the Seaboard declined to give Lumberton a week-end rate to Wilmington claiming as a reason for not doing so that the travel did not justify it. This season a rate of $2.75 was given and as a result the travel between here and Wilmington for Saturday and Sunday during the season has broken all previous records.

Dr. T. A. Norment was among the Lumberton people who visited Wilmington during the week. While waiting at the station for the train that would take him to the city, he made the surprising statement that he was 81 years old, and although he had visited Wilmington many times he had yet to look upon the Atlantic Ocean his first time.

One of the greatest improvements which have been made here in some time is the remodeling and enlarging of the postoffice. When the work is completed our potoffice facilities will be second to none for a town of this size. All it will need will be to give the present very clever and efficient force one more clerk.

It is hard to understand how some people can be so uncharitable as to make remarks about other people for doing precisely what they would be guilty of themselves if they could. Just the other afternoon a young couple, not a couple of young ladies nor a couple of young men, but one of each, were quietly enjoying themselves beneath a vine-covered nook on the front porch, when the young man lifted the hand of the young lady to his lips and kissed it several times. What of it? We suspect they are old enough to know their business and should be allowed to attend to it. He must be 25, and she is at least two past "sweet sixteen."

The Methodist congregation has granted the pastor, Rev. E. M. Hoyle, a vacation during the month of August. Mr. Hoyle will take the time only in part, as he will remain at home and preach on Sundays at 11 o'clock. During the month there will be no Sunday night service, neither will there be any Wednesday night prayer service.

Mr. Robert Lamb, the landscape gardener, of Fayetteville, spent yesterday here. Mr. Lamb has the contract for beautifying the court house grounds, which work he expects to do during the Fall, probably in October. It is expected that the grounds will be leveled off and planted in peas next week.

About the most dejected looking bunch of people we have seen, was a party of five gentlemen we saw waiting at a boarding house for breakfast yesterday morning. They were Messrs. B. M. Davis, Geo. M. Whitfield, A. T. Parmele, Wade Wishart and R. S. Sledge. They are all in the same trouble—their wives were oft taking their vacations.

The Robeson Advance will shortly begin to publish write-ups of Robeson county news, dealing with each town's industrial growth and the future it has before it. It is not known definitely what towns will be written up, but arrangements have already been completed for the first of the series which will be St. Paul.

Two or three gentlemen were discussing the question as to which was the most contemptible, a person who would write an anonymuos letter or a person who would go to a newspaper and ask that certain people or their methods or sties be lambasted, always charging the editor, of course, not to use their names. A listener broke in to say that in his opinion the scent of either one would be strong enough to make two polecats hurry up and get out of the way. That was pretty strong.

Mr. Archie Stephens, residing in East Lumberton, passed away yesterday morning at 1 o'clock after an illness of less than 24 hours. Thursday afternoon he ate some watermelon which made him sick, and it is thought to have had something to do with his death. He leaves a wife and one child.

The Southern Express Company and Western Union Telegraph Company are up against a new proposition here. An express official stated here a few days ago that the company did business in 33,000 towns, and that Lumberton was the first town to call on them for sanitary tax. The Western Union is about the same. Both companies say they have asked for copies of the town ordinances charging these taxes, but so far they have not been furnished.

A post card received from Miss Anna McLeod, dated Edinburg Scotland, July, 25th, was received here yesterday. She reported a splendid trip, and was leaving that day for London.

Mr. A. Weinstein is having his residence on 10th street greatly improved by enlarging and remodeling.

Some smart alec, described by those who saw him, as having two horns and a long tail, turned in a false alarm of fire from the box at the Baptist church last night at 12:10. Wait until Judge Whedbee comes.

This section was visited by refreshing showers yesterday about noon From reports received from the surrounding country the rain seems to have been general. The rainfall here for the 24 hours ending at 8 o'clock this morning was 1.07 inches, with good indications of more today.

In the future the town fines which have been turned into the school fund will be appropriated to the town fund, which in the run of a year amounts to a good bit and will aid the town that much. This change was made through the recommendation of Town Attorney T. A. McNeill, Jr.

Display windows have been faring had here. A few evenings ago some one shoved a boy against one of the display windows of Boylin's jewelry store, smashing the glass so that a new one had to be put in. The party or parties who were to blame for it had a new window put in at a cost of several dollars.

The largest glass, several feet in size, which was put in the front of the building of the Pope Drug Company a few days ago, in some unaccountable way, has a crack in it from the top down nearly to the bottom. A new glass will have to be ordered from Pittsburg before the work can be completed. Dr. McPhaul said last night that he did not know the cost of the broken glass as he purchased the whole front in a lump.

About 40 people from this section went to Norfolk this week. The fare for the round trip was $4.50, but the crowd went just the same.——Mr. Alf H. McLeod, accompanied by his family and his mother, Mrs. Emily McLeod, left this week for Hendersonville, where they will remain some time.

Miss Catherine Kenny, of Charleston, S. C., is visiting at the home of Mr. C. B. Redmond, on Chesnut street——Miss Rene Hunter, of Charlotte is visiting Miss Grace Redmond——Mr. Tom Burton, who has been spending several weeks with relatives in Danville, Va., returned Thursday and resumed his duties with the Lumberton Drug Company.

Mrs. J. R. Poole and three children left this week for Tomahawk to spend some time with relatives——Mrs. T. C. Johnson is visiting her parents at Vineland——Mrs. Wade Wishart and little daughter, left this week for Whiteville to spend some time with relatives——Mr. Geo. B. McLeod left this morning for Waynesville to join his family which has been there for some time. They expect to return about the 1st of September.

Mrs. R. E. L. Carroll and little son, Robert, went to Charlotte last night to visit relatives——Mesdames J. W. Hall and Dan McGougan, of Lumber Bridge, have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Edmund this week.

Mr. E. M. Britt, of the firm of Britt & Britt, attorneys, who has been spending two months in western North Carolina, returned home this week——Mrs. Mary C. Jones, of Randolph county, is visiting the family of her son, Mr. John M. Jones.

Fighting Like Tigers.

In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corpusoles attack disease germs like tigers. But often germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome. Then see pimples, boils, eczema, salt-rheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fail. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T. Budahn, of Tracy, Cal., "I have ever found." They make rich, red blood, strong nerves and build up your health. Try them. 50c. at R. R. Bellamy.

Mrs. Frank Pearson will sing at both the Lumina concerts today. **

ROCKY POINT NEWS.

Quarterly Conference—Copious Showers—Other News Notes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Rocky Point, N. C., Aug. 5.—The third quarterly conference, Burgaw Circuit, is being held here today. Presiding Elder N. H. D. Wilson and Rev. C. M. Lance, of Burgaw, are present. After a sermon in the morning dinner was served by the ladies and at 2:30 P. M. conference convened. Rev. Mr. Lance reported the spiritual condition of the church good. Favorable reports were received from the several congregations.

Copious showers have fallen, worth to the county in round figures, $100,000. The drought had killed out acres of strawberries and the decrease here is now at least 40 per cent. From inquiry it is so elsewhere and there are no runners nor plants forming to replace those that have died out. The rains came in time to save the peanut crop. The melon crop is exceedingly fine. Several farmers have realized $50 per half acre. Among them may be mentioned Messrs. Henry Shaw and W. O. Johnston.

I cannot close this without mentioning the extremely pleasant entertainment given the Confederate Veterans in the City by the Sea. The proverbial hospitality of heretofore was even eclipsed. The keys of the city were literally turned over and the "big key" that fits the calaboose was thrown away. The veterans' money was no good. Everything, even to the water, of which there has been so much said, was in profusion. There were veterans of all ages, stations and conditions, from the grave to the gay, and they expect to live just so long and attend all the reunions. Sweet girls and women waved and threw kisses at the boys in gray as was done by beautiful maids and matrons. But the most striking figure on the parade was tht of the venerable chaplain, Dr. A. D. Betts, of the 30th N. C. Regiment, as with figure erect he reviewed the parade. Conjure up the ancient circuit rider with saddle-bags on saddle in which were a clean shirt, hymn book, Bible and some tracts. They spread the gospel, were the evangelists that proclaimed the good things from seashore to mountain, often guided to a home at night by the dim light of the cabin and the smell of a fried chicken. God bless the old circuit riders, their good works do follow them and their reward will be abundant. E. D. P.

HAD A GOOD TIME.

Capt. R. P. Paddison Writes of Veterans' Reunion at Wilmington.

Point Caswell, N. C., Aug. 5th.

Editor Daily Star:

In behalf of the Confederate veterans of North Carolina I wish to return our thanks to the good people of the city of Wilmington for the splendid entertainment given us, the hospitality was unbounded, the attention shown the veterans by the various committees was constant and continuous and too much praise cannot be given "Maj. Leon" and "Billy Monroe" for their untiring efforts to take care of, house and feed these old Vets, while everyone seemed to think it his individual duty to see that nothing was left undone. Gen. Ray, Capt. Kellum and myself wish to thank Iredell Meares, Esq., for his open house hospitality to us during our stay and well did he sustain Wilmington's reputation for attention to strangers. I have attended reunions from Asheville to Morehead and Norfolk, Va., and I unhesitatingly say this was the greatest success in every way of them all. The kindness of the Tidewater Power Co., in giving free transportation to all veterans over their lines was the greatest act of kindness that could have been given. It enabled these old men from the mountains to visit the seashore (many who had never seen the Atlantic ocean), who possibly could not have done so otherwise. This kind act coming from a corporation will long be remembered and ought to stop this everlasting howl that corporations have no souls. There were many amusing and funny things that happened, one of which I wish to mention. While standing on the street I was approached by an old comrade who was rubbing his throat with thumb and fingers. He said, "Oh, pard, my throat is mighty dry; can't you give an old brother ten cents to get a short?" I replied, "Why, don't you know this is a prohibition town and you can't get anything to drink here?" He shut one eye, placed his right hand on my shoulder, looked me in the face and said: "Old Pard, you furnish the dime and I'll show you where you can get all you want to drink if you won't blow on me." He got his drink. R. P. PADDISON.

FLANDERS MAKES CLEAN SWEEP

Awarded First Prize and Second Prize in Minneapolis—Helena Races.

Flanders "20" again made a clean sweep. Awarded first and second—all the prizes there were—in her class in the reliability run, Minneapolis to Helena, Montana, the hardest contest any light car ever entered, 1,390 miles over mountains and plains, worst road in America and rained most every day. Mud hub deep, the two Flanders were the only cars in their class to finish with perfect score, and only one other car of any price—a Mormon—$2,700—finished perfect. Cars penalized included Packard, Stoddard, Dayton, Abbott, Detroit, Amplex, Maxwell Cole, Krit, Hupmobile and others.

This is the second great victory for the Flanders "20" in a month. The other was perfect road scores in Iowa's Little Glidden. No other $800 car on earth can stand up on this Flanders "20" in hard work, and in this latest contest she went out of her class and trimmed the four thousand dollar fellows. Demonstrator fore door model arriving Monday. W. D. MacMillan, Jr., will be pleased to show you. **

Smile and the world will take a smile with you.

Don't start out to do something and then don't do it.

Why is it that a man who finds an umbrella never puts himself to the trouble to find the owner?

Not that Charlotte was drinking very much water but that she wanted to be sure of having plenty if it should be needed.

If Congress stands up for the right kind of tariff revision President Taft had better be careful how he lies down on it.

Any policy which makes the farmers sell cheap and buy dear would ruin the country—especially the agricultural part of the country.

Since it is a fact that Ty Cobb was born in North Carolina, we are more reconciled to admit that Woodrow Wilson was accidentally born in Virginia.

Nat Goodwin's ex-wives have united in an effort to prevent the publication of his book. In a story like Nat will write they object to appearing as his heroines.

When a man gets on a platform and finds out some planks in it are loose, should he be expected to stand on them and take a tilt just to be considered straight?

A dispatch from Lexington, Ky., says it is reported that 100 cases of pellagra have been discovered in Bell and Whitely counties, following close upon the announcement that 17 cases had been found among the patients in the Eastern Kentucky Insane Asylum. A meeting of the State Board of Health has been called upon to consider the matter.

The National Wool Growers' Association, representing 1,000,000 wool producers, have appealed to President Taft to veto the Democratic-Insurgent bill cutting down the duty on wool and woolens. They take that position because they want all the government aid they can get in carrying on the industry. North Carolinians are less jealous of their lumber industry.

The Hon. William J. Bryan made mighty poor amends to Underwood when after having been assured that he misrepresented him, the Nebraskian served notice that he was going to attack Underwood on other lines. His serving notice shows that he really is pursuing Underwood. We are sorry to see the Nebraskian developing into that kind of a man.

Collector Loeb, of New York, says: "Frauds against the customs can never be stopped by imposition of fines. The moment that a big importer goes to jail for this class of offense it will stop with a bang." There is lots of truth in that, but when that same treatment is urged for men who violate the anti-trust laws the man who favors it is considered radical and dangerous.

At its meeting in Chicago a few days ago the National Window Dressers' Association endorsed the proposition that living women, not glass-eyed wax figures, should be used as models for showing off gowns. The New York World says the chorus girls of that city are delighted at the idea since they would like to pose in the latest creations instead of prancing around on the stage with very little on but atmosphere. The chorus girls would be delighted with the change, but the men would be so interested in the beauty show that the ladies couldn't get a look at the windows.

TE OF THE COTTON INDUSTRY.

The people of North Carolina would not be grateful did they not endorse and commend Senators Overman and Simmons for the statesmanlike manner they display in representing North Carolina interests when legislation affecting the interests of the State are under consideration. In several instances they have unselfishly taken positions that in some quarters would seem to be unpopular. Yet when they are on the ground and are facing the conditions on the serious side of questions, their ability, rare judgment and wise acts speak for them as the true and trusty representatives of the State. We do not see how it is possible that such conscientious, prudent and safe representatives should need any defense. There possibly may be personal reasons why they should have anything like opposition, but certainly their record in Congress does not contain an opening for attack.

The Star feels pretty much the same way about North Carolina's entire delegation in the House of Representatives. It is composed of men who are known for their ability and patriotism, and as a whole the people of North Carolina can trust them to take part in legislation and intelligently act with reference to the interests of the State and its people.

For instance, take notice of the alertness of Senator Overman a few days ago when he asked for delay in the proposition to revise the cotton schedule of the tariff law. Not that Senator Overman is a protectionist and is demanding protection for the South's cotton mills, but that the industry is in such a condition that he wanted Southern manufacturers to be heard before hasty action should be taken at so critical a period. He acted from a sense of prudence and from full recognition of his responsibility to North Carolina and the Democratic party. He is standing for both, and so is Senator Simmons. They deserve the commendation and endorsement of the people of the State without regard to party. Their ability and statesmanship must be recognized by all North Carolinians who are interested in their State first and in their party as well.

Those of us who have not made a study of the condition of the cotton industry must defer to the judgment of the able men whose business and opportunity it is to do so. They are where the battle is going on, and their part in the fight is for North Carolina. They are doing it with a keenness and ability that distinguishes their services and ranks them as eminent men in a great deliberative body. In his position on the cotton schedule, Senator Overman is acting from his knowledge of conditions, and for the benefit of those who do not know we will state that more than 200 cotton mills in North Carolina are now idle. With reference to the general conditions, we take this interesting editorial from the New York Journal of Commerce:

"The closing down of the Borden cotton mills at Fall River for an indefinite time, after a serious curtailment of operations for three months past, has a serious significance for the cotton industry and the trade in its products. The reasons for it are not far to seek. The price of raw cotton has been high so long and the market for goods has been so dull that the manufacturing cannot go on without loss. The demand for goods is slow and prices are depressed below the level of profit to the manufacturers and it is said that they can be bought for delivery on contracts for less than the cost of making new on account of the stress of some manufacturers. There is no great stock on hand, but there is more than can be disposed at prices that will encourage mills to keep on adding to it while cost of production is so high. Hence, in the case of the Fall River Iron Works Company alone 5,000 operatives are relegated to idleness and wages amounting to $35,000 a week cease to be paid. One reason for this shutdown is the prospect for a large cotton crop this year, with a material lowering of the price when it comes into the market. It is not to be expected that high-priced material will continue to be converted into low-priced goods at an actual loss when by waiting a few weeks cheaper material may be obtained and a possible profit may accrue upon resuming operation. But the high price of new cotton is not the only difficulty in the present situation. The general industrial condition is still depressed and the purchasing power of consumers is below normal. The inactive market for cotton goods for months past has not been wholly due to price, but partly to diminished demand caused by lack of prosperous conditions generally. While cotton manufacturing is in such a bad state in this country it has been quite prosperous in England for months past in spite of the high price for material. After the great crop of 1904 and the subsequent low price of cotton there was a large expansion of the industry in Lancashire, with the result that when the short crop of 1909 came there was a severe reaction and much curtailment. When the time came for a fuller and cheaper supply of material the manufacturing facilities of England were prepared to take the lion's share. Goods could be made cheaper there than here and English manufacturers took possession of the market. We cannot sell cotton goods abroad in competition with England and we cannot supply our own markets at so low a cost. Our industry has culated to stimulate efficiency, progress and economy in production. It has not had the spur of external competition and has been dependent upon fluctuations of the domestic market. Hence it has spasms of prosperity when times are good and lacks power of endurance in time of adversity."

Judging from the above statement of conditions, it is up to a Democratic Congress to go slow in revising the cotton goods tariff till the depression in the industry can be analyzed. The Journal of Commerce is a low tariff, and practically a free trade paper, and its views are worthy of the most earnest consideration. Those views come from thorough knowledge of economic conditions and politics do not sway its editorial utterances. For calm analysis and correct judgment, there is no paper in this country so well qualified to speak with economic authority as the great paper from which we have quoted.

We write this that North Carolina's representatives at Washington may be understood, and to express confidence in their judgment and ability in mastering the grave problems which they have to consider in rendering the best service to their State.

WILMINGTON INDICTED.

We were not only surprised but pained to note in the Red Springs Citizen, of August 4th, what must strike all citizens of Wilmington as tending to put this city in a false light. We allude to the following from the column so entertainingly and ably conducted by Major D. P. McEachern:

"We most respectfully decline to attend the annual veterans' reunion at Wilmington, having in mind the very overwhelming (?) and exceedingly cordial (?) reception accorded us a few years ago at that place. We remember that Camp 417 of this place passed resolutions in regard to our feelings about the affair, and we don't think they have ever been repealed. A burnt child dreads the fire, and we intend to conserve our sensibilities from any further future assault."

We are at a loss to conceive what offense could have been given either Major McEachern, or the veterans of Red Springs, that he should unkindly reflect upon and hold an entire community responsible for it. Even if any Wilmington man or men had given personal affront it would be no reason for this exhibition of enmity against all the people of a city so characteristically courteous as Wilmington, which especially is noted for the homage it pays Confederate heroes.

We confess to astonishment that so distinguished a veteran and usually well poised man as Major McEachern should harbor resentment of a kind that would impel him to take occasion in public print to make it appear that Wilmington—the entire people of Wilmington—had put upon either him or his comrades any kind of slight. It isn't like Wilmington. It isn't Wilmington, so we would like to have Major McEachern specify the particulars as to Wilmington's offending. Certainly no official or popular act was committed that would in any way justify wholesale condemnation of the people of Wilmington.

The Confederate reunion held the past week in Wilmington was the largest and most successful ever held in the State, as we are informed and have reason to believe. It was a grand and glorious occasion and Wilmington felt honored with the presence of veteran soldiers whose superiors the world has never produced. From 1,900 to 2,000 of the heroes who followed Lee visited Wilmington on this occasion and there was universal satisfaction among them as to the reunion and the courtesies and entertainment they received on the part of our people.

It is hard to believe that a man like Major McEachern would be vindictive to the extent of reflecting upon the whole city because possibly he or his camp may have had some grievance for which the city was in no wise responsible. Some individual or persons in Wilmington may be due the respected and beloved Red Springs veterans an explanation, or apology, but it is difficult for us to believe that so broad a man as Major McEachern should await an opportunity to put a slur upon a city which would be only too proud to do honor to him or to any of his Robeson county comrades.

About 2,000 veterans have gone away the past few days singing the praises of Wilmington, and our people will ever hallow the occasion which brought the gray-haired soldiers into their midst. It was a sacred occasion, for it must be one of the few remaining reunions which so many of the grand old soldiers can attend in such large numbers. The infirmities of age are causing them to totter, and many who attended this reunion may never attend another. Doubtless many shall have listened to the last roll call ere another year shall come for them to meet in life again.

It is impossible that the fast thinning ranks of the heroes of the Gray should be affronted by Wilmington. It is equally impossible for Wilmington to have been guilty of any discourtesy to any or all of the revered veterans of Red Springs.

OBJECT LESSON IN DRAINAGE.

When you can't think of anything else but good roads, talk drainage. These are two big questions for North Carolina with its 3,000,000 acres of rich swamp and bottom lands and its thousands of miles of territory which can never be developed in the right way without improved highways.

The subject of drainage is always interesting to us, for we know its value and we observe its need in North Carolina. In the Savannah Morning News of July 27th, there appeared an exceedingly interesting article on a drainage scheme in Bulloch county, Georgia. It is being carried out by Superintendent D. N. Bacot, of the Savannah and Statesboro Railroad.

Our esteemed Savannah contemporary states that Mr. Bacot is at the head of a drainage company which owns 9,000 acres in one body. It was wet land and of little account. Mr. Bacot is making it very valuable by the simple process of drainage. In addition to the 9,000 acres between 800 and 900 acres of other persons are being drained. It was necessary to take these additional acres into the scheme in order to carry it to success. The News emphasizes the fact that if the owners had refused to permit drains to be made across their land the reclamation project, in all probability, would have fallen through, but they not only came into it, but contributed to its cost.

It is estimated that this drainage project will add hundreds of thousands of dollars to land and farm values in Bulloch county, and while opening up thousands of acres of fertile lands, the drainage of the region will immensely improve the health conditions, add to tax values, and prove a tremendous factor in the development and prosperity of the county.

If there are any neglected drainage projects in North Carolina, do not let up on them for any consideration. Let us fully recognize our great possibilities and not neglect such a conspicuous opportunity to make eastern North Carolina the choicest part of the Nation's Garden Spot.

CURRENT COMMENT.

"What has become of the old-fashioned editor who was forever complaining of people borrowing their neighbors' papers?"—Durham Sun. We think he's conducting a voting contest and preparing to give away a piano that he doesn't need.—Jacksonville Times-Union.

John Sharp Williams' absent-mindedness is well known. He declares, however, that the story is false which alleges that one day when his wife telegraphed him to meet her and a woman friend at the station, he met them, kissed the strange lady, and shook hands with his wife.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Uncle Sam's money mills are to pass practically under the direction of a woman, Miss Margaret Kelly, who has been appointed chief examiner of the mints at a salary of $3,000 a year. The position is next in order after that of the director, so that Miss Kelly will be practically an executive of the department.—Savannah News.

The development of the aeroplane for the uses of peace is indicated by the plan of an experimental postal air-route between London and Windsor. More sinister evidence of its ultimate use in war is contained in the news of the invention of an aerial torpedo to demolish aeroplanes and war-balloons and of a naval gun for aerial firing.—New York World.

"Monogamy in the United States is doomed." Such is the startling declaration of Dr. Elwood, professor of sociology in the University of Missouri. He draws his conclusion from the divorce statistics of the country and says the trend is inevitably in the direction of the abolition of monogamy unless there comes about a change in public sentiment in a short while. The present social order, he says, is faulty and must be reformed, or it will go to smash. It is astonishing how many horrors the professors can find with which to frighten us.—Savannah News.

Wilmington Star: "Now that President Taft is threatening to veto the tariff revision legislation of the Democrats and Insurgents, they can realize the reason he did not want the reciprocity bill amended. If he had really favored tariff revision he would not have objected to the amendment of the bill as an easy way to get a good start in that direction." The truth of the matter is, Canadian reciprocity is genuine tariff revision only when supplemented by the farmers' free list bill. Reciprocity with Canada as provided for in the agreement just approved by the President benefits manufacturers to a far greater extent than any other class. But the bill putting agricultural implements on the free list is of direct benefit to the farmers. The amendment to this bill admitting shoes free ought to help all classes of consumers. Mr. Taft opened the box of woes for his party when he espoused the cause of reciprocity. He cannot close it.—Petersburg Index-Appeal.

The severe drought has not injured the crops generally as much as one might expect. In some places they are, of course, badly injured and the gardens have suffered worse than the crops. The drought this year, however, was not as severe as the one in 1881. Not even a half a crop was made in that year. The Rockingham Post recalls the fact that in 1881 the Summer followed a wet Winter and there was "more moisture to start with" and it adds: "But now we are going to make more than half a crop on account of the more modern system of farming." If the people farmed with the same system now in the year 1911 as they did in 1881, the drought would have brought great want to many sections of the State, but the improved methods which have come about in the intervening years have made it possible to make a fair crop even under adverse conditions. The truth is, under the present methods the farmer who uses his knowledge in seed selection and plowing and cultivation will never make a complete failure even in the worst years, while the farmer who uses the old time methods is certain to face a famine in a year of drought like the present one. North Carolina has gone forward in everything in recent years. We have built more factories since 1881 than were built in all the history of the State prior to that time and we have developed along every line, but no progress or development has been so marked as in agriculture and the test of its value is seen this year when we shall make fair crops even with the drought, whereas, under the old conditions we would face the greatest disaster.—Raleigh News and Observer.

AUTO TURNED TURTLE.

Three Charlotte People Injured in Accident Near Hendersonville.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Hendersonville, N. C., Aug. 5.—Within plain sight of helpless passengers on the passing Carolina special train on the Southern Railway, an automobile with five occupants turned turtle on the level Asheville highway near here this morning. Three prominent people of Charlotte and Columbia, passengers, were caught underneath the car with possibly fatal injuries to one of them.

The cause of the accident is still unexplained. Mrs. Fred H. White, of Charlotte, sustained a broken arm and serious internal injuries. She may recover. Mrs. J. B. Whitted, of Charlotte, has her collar bone broken and arm broken. Although otherwise seriously injured, she will recover. The car was driven by its owner, Fred. H. White, of Charlotte, who was slightly injured. The other occupants, both of whom jumped and escaped injury, were J. B. Whitted, of Charlotte, and Mrs. S. H. Horcombe, of Columbia. The party were guests of Kanagua Club, en route to Asheville.

The first aid was rendered by the chauffeur of a passing car, who made record time in getting the party back to Kanagua Club, where the injured are now receiving medical care.

LANDS WORTH MILLIONS

Had Been Saved from Confiscation by Confederate Government.

Asheville, N. C., Aug. 3.—Because their father conveyed a half interest in the property in 1861 to his partner, a Southern sympathizer, in order to prevent its being confiscated by the Confederate Government, and the deed restoring it to him, after the civil war, being defectively executed, the Misses Louisa and Ida Gilbert, of Brooklyn, today lost their interest in 46,000 acres of Western North Carolina timber land, worth approximately $1,000,000.

Their father, L. W. Gilbert, deeded his interest to W. A. Peet, a Maine man residing in New Orleans, who fought zealously for the South. After the war was over Peet's heirs deeded it back, subsequent financial trouble and a sale to third parties, W. R. Hopkins and others of Cleveland, caused an attack to be made on the deed, and it was thrown out today by the United States Court.

MR. SOLOMON TELLS OF WRECK

Considers It Almost a Miracle That All Occupants of Chair Car Were Not Killed Outright Friday on the Southern.

Mr. I. W. Solomon, who was a passenger on Southern Railway Train No. 22 when it was wrecked six miles west of Salisbury Friday and was severely bruised and shaken up, arrived in the city yesterday morning and is receiving the congratulations of his many friends upon his narrow escape from serious injury.

To a Star representative yesterday Mr. Solomon declared that he considered it almost a miracle that all the passengers in the chair car were not killed outright. Mr. Solomon, who was wearing a bandage around his head, covering a contusion that he sustained in the wreck, stated that the train was running about 40 miles an hour at the time of the accident. He was riding in the chair car and the first intimation of something wrong came to him as he was standing up beside the chair of Mr. Luther Wessel, also of Wilmington, conversing with him. Mr. Solomon said that he felt the train shudder when the emergency brake was thrown on and that the sudden shock threw him to the floor. As he lay on the floor of the car he felt it bumping along the cross ties and knew that it had left the rails. It ran for a short distance along the ties and then tumbled down a 25-foot embankment. As the car turned over, Mr. Solomon stated, he fell from the floor of the car to the ceiling. It seemed to him that the car lay stationary in this position for a few moments and then took another tumble, rolling on to the bottom of the embankment. As it did so Mr. Solomon was thrown back to the side of the car. He said that as he lay there several other people fell on him and to this he attributes the fact that he was not more seriously injured. Mr. Solomon said that the persons on him shielded him from the broken glass and falling pieces of detached furniture. The cars in front of the chair car left the rails but did not go down the embankment, and the passengers in these soon came to the aid of those imprisoned in the overturned coach. They were assisted out and made as comfortable as possible. In about 45 minutes a relief train arrived from Salisbury with physicians, and in this the injured were rushed to Salisbury, where they were carried to the Whitehead-Stokes Sanitarium for treatment. Mr. Solomon remained there over night, and yesterday morning he felt able to come on to Wilmington.

Two other Wilmington people were among the injured, these being Mr. Luther W. Wessell and Mr. H. E. Ortmann. Both these gentlemen remained at the hospital yesterday, as they were suffering from the nervous shock in addition to the cuts and bruises they received. Mr. Wessell had only a few slight bruises and scratches, but Mr. Ortmann received a contusion of the head and also suffered deep cuts over and under his right eye. Mr. Wessell will likely return home today. Mr. F. Tiencken and his wife, who is a sister of Mr. Ortmann, went to Salisbury yesterday to be with Mr. Ortmann, and they may accompany him home today if he feels able to make the journey.

Mr. Solomon is under the impression that the accident was caused by decayed cross-ties.

In the wreck 20 people were injured, although only two were thought to be in a serious condition at the time they were taken to the hospital.

THE RECORDER'S COURT.

Number of Cases Yesterday—"Boy" Mitchell Gets 12 Months.

In the Recorder's court yesterday morning Miles Elliott, colored, was sentenced to three months on the roads for an assault with a deadly weapon on Edward Foy, and the latter was found guilty of simple assault and judgment was suspended on the payment of costs. The trial was the result of a stabbing affray which occurred near Wrightsville Sound a few nights ago. Elliott stabbed Foy just below the heart with a knife and Foy narrowly escaped death, having been in the hospital for several days following the occurrence. The case was tried before Justice Harriss Friday and was sent over to the Recorder. Elliott, through his attorneys, B. G. Empie, Wm. J. Bellamy and K. C. Sidbury, Esqs., gave notice of an appeal.

"Boy" Mitchell was given a sentence of 12 months on the county roads for receiving stolen goods. Mitchell took an appeal. Henry McNeill tried on the same charge, received a sentence of six months and also appealed.

Frank Cowan, an 11-year-old negro boy, was charged with larceny and sent up to the Superior Court for lack of jurisdiction. The cases against Mitchell, McNeill and Cowan are all connected. Cowan stole the sum of $60 from his great-uncle with whom he was living and divided the money with the other two negroes. It is thought that they put the lad up to the crime.

Martin Milton, colored, paid $5 and costs for disorderly conduct. Enoch Davis, colored, was tried on a charge of abandonment and judgment was suspended on payment of costs. Davis and his wife came to an understanding outside of court and the Recorder was lenient. R. Davis, colored, disorderly conduct, was taxed the costs. Willie Clark, colored, charged with carrying a concealed weapon, to-wit: a razor, was let off on the payment of costs. John Watson, white, for being drunk and disorderly, was relieved of $5 and the costs.

TWO CONVENTIONS THIS WEEK.

Laundrymen of Carolinas and Country Bankers of This State.

Conventions have been almost an unknown quantity at Wrightsville Beach this year, due partly to the fact that all the big conventions last year were held at the resort and are by custom in the western part of the State this year, and partly because the hotel proprietors declined to make a special effort to secure them, as they expected the regular season visitors to tax the accommodations. However, two important conventions are scheduled for this week, one at the Seashore Hotel and the other at the Oceanic. Tomorrow and Tuesday the Laundrymen's Association of the Carolinas will hold its annual session at the Seashore Hotel. An attendance of 75 members is expected and some will be accompanied by members of their families and friends. Mr. F. D. Lethco, of Charlotte, is president, and Mr. H. A. Smith, of Florence, S. C. is secretary and treasurer. The convention will open tomorrow morning with the invocation by Rev. Dr. W. H. Milton, rector of St. James' Episcopal Church, this city. The address of welcome will be made by Mayor Jos. D. Smith, of Wilmington. The remainder of the session will be given over to routine business and in the evening the visitors will be entertained at a delightful souvenir dance at Lumina, given in their honor. Tuesday the delegates are to enjoy a deep sea fishing trip and the same night in the dining room of the Seashore, a typical sea-food supper will be served. This will be the concluding feature of the gathering.

The Country Bankers' Association of North Carolina will hold its fifth annual convention at Oceanic Hotel Wednesday and Thursday of this week and the indications are that the attendance will be the largest in the history of the organization. An attractive programme is now being arranged and will be announced in a day or two. It is expected that something like 200 or 300 visitors will be here for the meeting.

MRS. B. F. NELSON DEAD.

Mother of Mrs. Hugh MacRae of This City, Passes Away in Ohio.

Many friends in this city will learn with regret of the death of Mrs. B. F. Nelson, mother of Mrs. Hugh MacRae, of Wilmington, who passed away very suddenly in Ohio yesterday. The body will be brought to this city for interment and notice of the funeral will be given later. Mrs. Nelson is well known in this city, having made her home with her daughter for several years until a year or two ago when she went to live with a sister at Ashland, Ohio. She had many friends who will be pained to learn of her passing. Mrs. MacRae is her only daughter. Mr. and Mrs. MacRae have been at Linville, in the western part of the State, for some time and will leave there this morning for Wilmington. The body of Mrs. Nelson will be laid to rest in Oakdale cemetery beside that of her husband, who passed away several years ago.

Greek Wedding This Afternoon.

Of interest to the large number of Greeks in this community will be the wedding this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mr. Costelo, when Miss Georgia Facou, an attractive young lady who arrived a few days ago from Greece, will be married to Mr. Savas Sklavounos, a prominent merchant of Bennettsville, S. C. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. Gerassimos, rector of the Greek Orthodox Church of Norfolk, Va. The wedding will be largely attended by the Greeks of the community. The couple will reside at Bennettsville.

SUPERIOR COURT ADJOURNS

July Term Expired by Limitation Last Mid-night—Judge Cline in Sampson This Week—Splendid Results.

The July term of New Hanover Superior Court, presided over by Judge E. B. Cline, of Hickory, scholar and withal a very fine gentleman of a most attractive personality, expired by limitation last mid-night. Judge Cline will leave tomorrow for Sampson county, where he will hold court this week. During his two week's stay here Judge Cline was a guest at the Seashore Hotel, Wrightsville Beach, and he greatly enjoyed his sojourn at that delightful resort.

The term which has just closed was for two weeks and nearly all the time was occupied, the result being that the docket was practically cleared with the exception of the two cases against J. C. Holly, charged with murder and arson. Three murder cases were tried during the term in addition to some 25 minor cases. This term is considered one of the best in some years in the way of results—convictions. Judge Cline has made a most favorable impression upon everyone who visited the court room during the term. He made such a fine impression that members of the bar would not mind if he should remain in this district always. It may be a long time before he holds another session in this county, however, as it is Judge Ward's time in the district. Judge Ward, another very fine judge, was ill and could not preside over this term, so Judge Cline was sent here in his place. Judge Cline will always find a most cordial welcome to Wilmington and Wrightsville Beach from the large number who became acquainted with him.

Six prisoners from this term will be taken to Raleigh tomorrow morning by Deputy Sheriff Harvey Cox and Constable Savage to begin their sentences in the State penitentiary. These are: William Stepney, colored, 20 years for murder of wife; Council Stanley, seven years and nine months, for highway robbery; Henry Black five years for highway robbery; Buck Alderman, five years for house-breaking; Son Blount, five years for housebreaking; Walter Medway, five years for larceny. All are colored. Others convicted at the term and who will do time on the county roads or farm are: J. W. Law, colored, false pretense, four months; John Brown, colored, embezzlement, 18 months; Ernest Jenkins, colored, assault with deadly weapon, two years; James Sweeney, white, house-breaking, two years; Frank Bennett, nine-year-old negro youth, two years in jail for house-breaking; William Canady, colored, carrying concealed weapon, and larceny, two years; Henry Ford, larceny, one year; Alex. Walker, larceny, one year in jail. The combined sentences given defendants during the term is 59 years and seven months. As previously stated in The Star there were 30 cases heard during the term, 24 convictions or submissions; five acquittals and one mistrial. In practically all the cases Solicitor Henry B. Shaw was assisted by Assistant City Attorney Geo. L. Peschau.

STORE ROBBED AGAIN

Mr. E. B. Snipes Suffers Second Visit From Burglars.

Mr. E. B. Snipes, whose grocery store on Eighth and Walnut streets was entered by robbers some time ago, suffered from another call from the mid-night marauders Friday night and he is considerably the loser thereby. The brugiars made the entry by forcing open the front door, although at what time is not known

From the amount of tobacco and smokeables taken it is evident that the robbers worship at the shrine of the Godess Nicotine. The list of missing articles as handed to the police yesterday is as follows: One box of cigars, two hams, one box old Virginia cheroots, one box apples, 50 packs Piedmont cigarettes, one box Cuban Blossom cigars, and 50 packs Contentnae cigarettes.

SLEUTHS UNRAVELED THE MYSTERIOUS Q

Series of Thrilling Detective Stories of Baffling Crimes.

HOUSE WITHOUT A NUMBER

Murders Which Mystified London Police for Years—A Purple "Q" Was Imprinted Upon Each Victim—Solution.

There has just been published a series of stories giving a solution of the Mysterious Purple "Q" murders committed in London many years ago. The writer is W. C. Johnstone and the illustrations are by T. Victor Hall.

For years the detectives and police were baffled by a cunning criminal whose peculiar methods of stealth have come to light. Messages of terrible import came from no one knows where—and men trembled at the thought of being marked as the next victim. London was terrorized and the Times offered a reward of $10,000 for the capture and conviction of a mysterious criminal who perpetrated his deeds under the very noses of detectives.

Mr. Johnstone tells the stories in a thrilling manner, and the three series can be had entirely free of charge by leaving your name and address at the store of I. SEMINOLE RETURNS TO PORT

Cutter in Readiness for Cruising After Receiving Regular Overhauling—Lieut. Covall Now in Command.

After almost three months at the Norfolk Navy Yard, where she received her regular thorough overhauling to place her in readiness for the Fall and Winter cruising, the revenue cutter Seminole, in command of Lieut. L. C. Covall, executive officer, arrived in port yesterday, coming from a trip to sea, which began on August 3rd, when she was ordered out to assist a vessel reported in distress off Cape Hatteras.

No extensive repairs were made to the vessel while at the navy yard, only the general Summer overhauling being necessary. The cutter was repainted from "stem to stern" and made an unusually good appearance when she came up the river to her dock yesterday. She came unexpectedly, having been ordered to her home port by wireless message at sea, and a large party of friends of officers and men gathered on the wharf soon after her arrival.

Capt. R. O. Crisp, who, it will be recalled, was detached from the Seminole early last Spring, has recently been made a member of the construction board and is temporarily stationed at Newport News, where two new revenue cutters are being built at the shipyard. Capt. Crisp's successor on the Seminole is yet to be appointed, but will probably be named by the Department in time for the Winter cruising.

The only changes in the staff of officers since the Seminole left here in May is the transfer of Second Lieut. Wishaar to the derelict destroyer Seneca and placing Second Lieut. of Engineers F. H. Young on the Seminole for a temporary period. Lieut. Wishaar was a member of the staff of officers of the Seminole for two cruising seasons, and his transfer will be generally regretted among his many friends in Wilmington. He is a clever and capable young officer, and is rapidly gaining promotion in the service. First Lieut. of Engineers Speare, it will be recalled, was also detached from the Seminole in the Spring.

The Seminole returns to port earlier this season than usual and Lieut. Covall stated yesterday that cruising over the district, which extends from Cape Hatteras to Charleston, will be resumed within a short time.

The cutter was ordered out from Norfolk with the revenue cutter Onondaga on August 3rd, in response to a wireless from Cape Hatteras stating that the yacht Coronet was in distress near that place. The yacht afterwards got off and proceeded without assistance and the Seminole was then ordered to her home station. The Seminole was stationed at Norfolk for a few weeks after receiving repairs in the place of the Onondaga, which was being overhauled at the Newport News shipyard.

REV. T. A. SMOOT TONIGHT

Will Make Missionary Address at Farewell Service for Miss Hankins

An interesting and helpful missionary service will be held at Grace M. E. Church this evening at 8 o'clock. Rev. T. A. Smoot, of Norfolk, pastor of one of the largest Methodist churches in the South, and a former beloved pastor of this church, will make a missionary address.

The service has been arranged as a farewell for Miss Ida Hankins, who soon leaves for the foreign field as a missionary from Grace church under the auspices of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society. She will speak to the congregation and her address will probably be in the nature of a parting word as she leaves for Korea, August 10th.

Miss Hankins is a graduate of the State Normal and Scarritt Bible Training School, of Kansas City, Mo. She is splendidly equipped for the great tasks she will meet. Such a charming personality with all the finer graces of mind and heart makes her a host of friends who will gather with a feeling of sorrow at her departure, but of joy that Grace church can give the best to those who need it.

POOR TELEPHONE SERVICE.

Number of Subscribers Complaining of Troubles With the Line.

Either the heavy rainfall of the past few days or other cause is responsible for divers complaints as to very poor telephone service during the past day or two. A gentleman called up last night to say that in certain sections of the city the service is the poorest in years and complaints to the office do not bring any immediate relief.

"Give 'em h—l" and "rub it in" is the way one subscriber expressed it and without a bill of particulars, the registration of the public complaint is herewith delivered.

OFF WITH YOUR HATS!

A youth on the streets said, "Take off your hats, boys, the old soldiers are coming. Give the old boys a cheer."

Take off your hats to the old boys, boys,
See they are marching on,
God! how their tottering foot falls stir,
The heart to the manor born.
Take off your hats for they're passing,
Cheer them before they go,
For their likes are not in the world today,
Nor has been in the world beyond.

Take off your hats to the old boys boys,
Take off your hats to the old boys, boys,
The boys in the faded grey,
Oh! for their dreams when the camp fire gleams,
For their tales of the yesterday.
Take off your hats they are passing,
Outward from life's campaign,
Watch'em, for never a sight like this
Shall be seen in the world again.

Take off your hats, they're passing boys,
Give them a rousing cheer,
For many there are who will tent no more
On the banks of the red Cape Fear.
Take off your hats they're passing,
Silence! they're marching on,
And the bravest tale in the world is told
When these grand old boys are gone.

WEEK'S SOCIAL NEWS IN HOSPITABLE WARSAW.

Warsaw, N. C., Aug. 5.—One of the most delightful house parties imaginable is being given this week by Miss Mattie Hines, at her elegant home on Hill street. Those in attendance are Misses Sallie Bowden, Wilmington; Martha Allen, Kinston; Mary Lily Hussey, Wallace; Melva Carr, Rose Hill; Maggie and Nellie Bowden, of Wilmington.

Miss Hines gave a delightful "at home" on Tuesday evening last. The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion, and the color scheme was white, green and orange. The lawn presented the appearance of a Japanese tea garden, as a great many Japanese lanterns shed forth their soft and radiant light. The pleasures of the evening consisted of games, vocal and instrumental music. Ice cream, cake and fruit punch was served. Miss Lily Hussey won the first prize in the word making contest, and Mr. Herman Hines the booby. Miss Sallie Bowden drew the lucky card and was accordingly declared the guest of honor.

Mrs. H. L. Stevens, who is well known among the younger set in Warsaw as a most charming hostess, entertained a number of young people at her handsome home on Hill street, on Wednesday evening. The entertainment was a watermelon party and was given in honor of those attending Miss Mattie Hines' house party. At 9:30 the guests were invited to the lawn where tables groaned under the weight of a plentiful supply of that succulent and highly delectable fruit, the watermelon. The melon, which has been the source of rhyme, song and prose, from "the time whereof the memory of man runneth not to the contrary" seemed to have been the stimulus of the mirth of all who participated in the singing of old-time songs, and the playing of games.

On Friday night the Warsaw German Club gave a delightful dance in their hall, complimentary to the visiting young ladies. The music was unexcelled and the younger set thoroughly enjoyed themselves, treading "the light fantastic" until a late hour. The german was gracefully led by Dr. W. E. Hines with Miss Martha Allen, assisted by Miss Sallie Bowden with Senator Johnson. Several new figures were introduced, among them was the figure forming the initials of the club, which was especially pretty.

The young men of the town gave a delightful hay ride in honor of the house party, the trip being made to the Mineral Springs, where a delightful lunch was served in their club house.

LUMINA CONCERTS TODAY.

Mrs. Pearson, the Charming Singer, Will Conclude Her Engagement.

Too much can hardly be said about the musical entertainments to be given at Lumina this afternoon and night. The programme for each occasion is about the finest collection of this art that has yet been demonstrated at this popular pavilion, and it is anticipated that unusually large audiences will be assembled for these entertainments. It is also understood that the popular and much-admired Mrs. Pearson will conclude her engagements at this place by singing at the Lumina concerts this afternoon and night. Mrs. Pearson has been here for several weeks and her beautiful soprano voice has won many words of praise and appreciation from the people of Wilmington and Wrightsville Beach.

Among the numbers of the afternoon programme are a waltz from "Faust" by Gounod, a musical comedy "The Newly Weds," an overture called "Tancred" by Rossini; while the vocal solo for the afternoon will be "To the End of the World With You." by Ball.

The selection for the night programme have in their numbers "Echoes from the Operas," by Recker. This piece rehearses portions of the "Bohemian Girl", which is so much liked by the Lumina patrons. "Paradise of Mahomet," will also be produced; while the trombone solo, "Romance" will be played by Mr. Lyle Cox. At night Mrs. Pearson will sing one of the most popular airs from "The Pink Lady," by Caryll.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

Township Meeting Held Yesterday at New Hope Church.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Interdenominational Sunday School Convention of Town Creek township, Brunswick county, was held yesterday at New Hope Church with a large attendance. Mr. McKeithan, the president, presided, and the first session began at 10:30 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Snow, a Methodist minister of that township, spoke on Sunday School work in general, being followed by Mr. Geo. E. Leftwich, superintendent of the First Baptist Church Sunday School, of this city. Both made fine addresses and were heard with decided interest. At the conclusion of Mr. Lftwich's address, adjournment was taken and dinner was served in good old-fashioned picnic style in the grove.

The afternoon session was devoted to routine business. Reports were received from all the unions in the township and from these the township secretary will make up his report to the county convention to be held at Zion Church the second Saturday and Sunday in September. Mr. E. W. Taylor, is president of the county association. The next meeting of the township association will be held at Zion church in March.

Mr. Leftwich returned to the city last night. He said that the people in Brunswick were rejoicing over the splendid rains of Friday. He was glad to see that the crops are in splendid condition. One would not think there has been a drought by looking at the peanut and corn crops, said Mr. Leftwich.

Little Daughter Improving.

Miss May Kingsbury, the 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Kingsbury, who is ill in a hospital in Norfolk, Va., was reported yesterday as improving. At one time since Mr. Kingsbury left there a few days ago her condition grew alarmingly worse, but a telegram yesterday to Mr. Kingsbury from his wife, who is at the bedside of their daughter, brought the encouraging news that the little girl is much better. Miss Kingsbury became desperately ill on a train en route to Norfolk from Hertford county last Saturday and physicians have not yet been able to determine the cause, though it is believed to be due to ptomaine poisoning and typhoid fever combined. It is sincerely hoped by hundreds of friends in this city that Miss Kingsbury is now on the road to recovery.

NEGRO ATTACKED AND STABBED.

Mint Faulk Seriously Wounded in the Shoulder Yesterday.

Mint Faulk, better known as "Shorty" a colored driver for the City Laundry Co., appeared at the office of the laundry early yesterday morning bleeding from a knife wound received in the right shoulder and reported that he was waylaid and attacked at Seventh and Red Cross streets by three negroes, all unknown to him, about 7 o'clock. They rushed upon him, he said, before he knew what they were about and one of the trio stabbed him. Capt. J. O. Hinton, manager of the laundry sent the negro to the hospital, where his wound was dressed. Faulk is quoted as saying that as he returned from the hospital some one told him that another negro was waylaid and beaten on Red Cross early in the morning by a trio of negroes, probably the same ones who handled him so roughly.

The frequent robberies and acts of assault have been reported to the police, who appear not to be able to cope with the situation, although it is stated that every effort possible is being put forth to run down the criminals. It was reported last night that the city would receive two fine bloodhounds in a few days and that they will be pressed into service in the hope of running down those responsible for the many acts of lawlessness committed recently.

SHERIFF COWAN ANGERED.

Negro Sent Officers Impertinent Message, Now in Trouble.

It is written that the hand of the law, as well as time and tide, wait for no man, and this was demonstrated by Sheriff S. P. Cowan and his deputies yesterday after Deputy A. L. Kelly had called at the home of W. H. Howe, colored, for the purpose of serving attachment papers for a piano and was informed by the negro's housekeeper, that he had left word for the sheriff or his deputies to call again Monday.

When this message was carried to Sheriff Cowan that worthy arm of the law became angered considerably, also slightly peeved, and, with Constable W. B. Savage and Deputies A. L. Kelly and Harvey Cox, proceeded to the house, where the door of the room in which the piano was kept was locked. The lock was smashed and the instrument secured. It was brought to the sheriff's office at the Court House.

Upon information of Deputy Kelly a warrant was issued before Justice Harriss, charging Howe with obstructing an officer in the performance of his duty. This paper was served by Constable Savage and it is likely that Howe will be tried upon this charge tomorrow.

The claim and delivery papers upon the piano were issued by S. R. Hackley, a musical dealer of Goldsboro. The instrument is valued at about $800, it is said.

VETERANS DELIGHTED.

Piedmont County Delegations Pleased With Entertainment Here.

(Charlotte Chronicle, 4th.)

Many veterans were in the city today returning from the State reunion of Confederate veterans, held this week at Wilmington. Veterans both from the city and county, and from other counties in this section, were eager to express their thanks and appreciation of the treatment accorded them while attending the reunion. Everything was done for the comfort of the old soldiers and the city was at their disposal. Messrs. J. C. Elliott, T. E. Elliott, G. G. McSwain, B. F. Jolley, who are veterans, and Messrs. A. W. McSwain, Cliff McSwain and E. W. Lipscomb, constituting the Cleveland county delegation, spent today in the city, en route home from Wilmington. Mr. J. C. Elliott, of this delegation, is the author of a book on the Confederate Soldier, which has been read by many veterans in this section.

Hearing Continued.

Before Colonel John D. Taylor, Clerk of Superior Court, yesterday, a hearing was held to investigate the sanity of Mr. W. L. Dukes, an aged man, whose wife has made affidavit that he is mentally unbalanced. Only one side of the case was heard yesterday, Mrs. Dukes giving the evidence with which she will try to substantiate her charge. She declared that Mr. Dukes had been in poor health for some time and that he had suffered several strokes of paralysis. Mr. Dukes, who was committed to jail Wednesday night to await a hearing, has employed Kellum & Loughlin to aid him in his contest, and his side of the case will be heard Monday at 10 A. M.

LOCAL DOTS.

—The Delgado baseball team defeated the "Tateworms" on the diamond of the former yesterday afternoon by the score of 1 to 0. Batteries: Frayer and Frayer for Delgado and Hankins and Todd for the other team.

—At the Register of Deeds' office yesterday license was issued for the marriage of Mr. Geo. Thomas Jones, of Baltimore, Md., and Miss Maggie Thompson, daughter of Mrs. W. H. Thompson, of this city. It is understood that the marriage will take place Monday.

—Before Justice Harriss yesterday Ed Bryant, colored, alias "Devil", was tried for assault upon his better half. Probable cause being found the case was sent to the Recorder, a recent act of the State Legislature taking an assault upon a female by a man over 18 years of age out of the jurisdiction of a magistrate.

—Deeds were filed yesterday as follows: E. P. H. Strunck and wife to Dan Benton and wife, for $100 and other considerations, lot on Fourth, 66 feet south of Nun, 66x165 feet in size; W. C. Armstrong and wife to H. J. MacMillan and others, for $10 and other considerations, tract of land on Federal Point road, containing 40.7 acres.

—Work is being pushed on the Tidewater Power Company's line to the Central Ice Company's plant on Orange street and it will soon be completed. City Council granted permission for this extension some days ago. When the line is completed ice can be sent from the city to points on the suburban line without the delay of a transfer.

—In giving the proceedings of Thursday in Friday's Star, the name of Joe Hobbs was erroneously used instead of Joe Collins in connection with application to have the bond money of Collins refunded. Hobbs is missing, but he was not under bond. He was a witness in two whiskey cases, while Collins was a defendant in a whiskey case.

—A news item was reproduced in The Star a few days ago from the Southport News relative to the opening of an office at Southport by Dr. Russell Bellamy, of this city. One would infer from the article that Dr. Bellamy has removed to that thriving little town, but such is not the case, as he will continue to live in Wilmington and have his main office here. He will spend one day in every week at Southport.

WILLARD BAG AND MFG. CO.

Annual Meeting of Stockholders—Officers and Directors.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Willard Bag & Manufacturing Co., Friday afternoon, reports were submitted by the officers which showed that the past year had been a splendid one for the corporation. Net earnings of slightly more than 15 per cent. were made on the capitalization of $35,000. The business of the company for the year amounted to more than $300,000 and more than $50,000 were paid at the custom house as duties on materials received here. The report as to the earnings of the company was presented by Mr. H. G. Anderson, of the Southeastern Audit Co., of Columbia, S. C., who made an audit of the books for the company. Mr. C. W. Yates, Sr., a member of the board of directors, presided at the meeting. The stockholders elected directors as follows: Messrs M. S. Willard, C. W. Yates, Sr., Walker Taylor, J. A. Taylor and Jos. W. Yates, Jr. Officers were elected by the directors as follows: President, M. S. Willard; vice president, C. W. Yates, Sr.; secretary and treasurer, E. P. Willard.

J. N. BENNETT ARRESTED.

Charged With Violating the Prohibition Law of the State.

J. N. Bennett was arrested yesterday by Constable W. B. Savage, on a warrant sworn out before Justice Geo. Harriss on the affidavit of Bellamy Harriss, charging him with having violated the State prohibition law since July 1, by the sale of near-beer. Mr. M. H. Croom went on Bennett's bond, which was fixed at $100, for his appearance at the preliminary hearing Monday at 11 A. M. The case will not be heard before Justice Harriss, although it had not been decided last night which magistrate would be called.

It is understood that private interests have engaged Rodolph Duffy, Esq., formerly solicitor for this district, to aid in prosecuting the case. Ex-Solicitor Duffy will be here for the hearing Monday morning.

The issuance of the warrant by the prosecuting witness is understood to have followed some trouble he had in Mr. Bennett's place earlier in the afternoon.

Without doubt Wilmington gets all that is best, and gets it too, on time, in the moving picture world. And the place that affords such opportunity is the popular Bijou. All the latest films come direct from the factory to the Bijou and in the course of a week something like 25 films are presented at this favorite spot, because the bill is changed entirely each day. A review of the week that closed yesterday shows that the Bijou presented some of the most wonderful or moving picture creations. The good things were kept up to the very last, too, as the giant bill yesterday made a glorius climax, and the Bijou played to tremendous business. Every member of the huge audiences was greatly delighted. The bill of fare this week for the Bijou will set forth some of the best viands in the moving picture and music lines, and the start of the new week will be made tomorrow. The inauguration will be with the usual Monday afternoon matinees, and the bill will be of giant size and of most delightful nature.

IRREGULAR DAY FOR COTTON

Market Was Nervous and Unsettled Following Sensational Fluctuations of Friday—August Seven Points Lower.

New York, Aug. 5.—The cotton market was very nervous and unsettled following the sensational fluctuations of yesterday. Early weakness was followed by a sharp rally on rumors of a tropical storm heading toward New Orleans, but reports that the Weather Bureau knew nothing of such a development caused renewed selling in the last half hour and the market closed feverish with prices two points to seven points lower. August being seven points lower and the more active new crop months unchanged to two points higher than yesterday. The opening was steady at a decline of 7 to 12 points and during the early trading prices sold off to a net loss of about 26 points on August and of 15 to 18 points on later positions under a renewal of yesterday's late selling movement and bear pressure. This decline carried October and December contracts off to 110 or about 63 to 64 points below the high level reached yesterday morning and it seemed that the market felt more certain than ever that the advance of from 90 to 130 points culminating yesterday had been merely a quick bull raid. But there was good buying on a scale down, partly from trade interests whose crop reports were said to be growing less favorable, and following a rumor that a tropical storm was heading toward the belt from Cuba, there was active covering. Prices shot up very rapidly with October selling as high as 11.38 and December 11.37 with the market plainly nervous and apprehensive by following reports that the Weather Bureau knew nothing of such a storm, offerings again became heavy and the market eased off from the best with October closing at about 11.25. There were no cables from Liverpool owing to the holiday in that market and Liverpool will remain closed until Tuesday. Otherwise the news seemed about the same as recently with private crop reports more or less conflicting and the weather showing no further to reflect heavy curtailment among mills, but a better demand for goods was reported from merchants in the West and Southwest.

Receipts at the ports today 1,027 against 786 last week and 942 last year. For the week 12,000 bales against 7,784 last week, and 11,301 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 12 bales against 377 last year and at Houston 2,040 against 1,091 last year.

Burlaps are steady and buyers are watching the course of the free list bill in Congress and are placing their incoming merchandise in bond. Fine white cottons for spring are being sold more freely.

Ancient Rain Guage.

The credit of inventing the rain guage has always been given to Castelli, a contemporary of Galileo, who made one in 1639, but the director of the Corean Meteorological Observatory, Dr. V. Wada, has shown that it is due to a Corean king. The latter, King Sejo, in the year 1442 caused an instrument of bronze to be constructed to measure the rain, and it is set out in the historical records of Corea that this was a vase fifteen inches deep and seven inches in diameter, placed upon a pillar. An example of this was placed in the observatory, and each time the rain fell the officials were instructed to measure the height and to make it known to the king. Other instruments were distributed to the provinces and cantons and the results of the observations made were sent to court.

STOCKS ARE GOING DOWNWARD

Further Liquidation Feature of Market Yesterday—Steel Again Object of Terrific Onslaught. Features.

New York, Aug. 5.—On the resumption of operations in the stock market today evidence of further liquidation was speedily forthcoming. Prices dropped two to three points, the issues most affected including all the market leaders as well as a number of specialties.

U. S. Steel was again subjected to a terrific onslaught, opening with a block of 7,500 shares, and in the course of the first hour fell to 73 3-4. Transactions in this stock during the first hour amounted to 102,000 shares with offerings of Union Pacific and Reading each about half a large. Disquieting rumors were again afloat while the market was receding. They dealt largely with the leader of a bull clique whose extensive operations during the last six months coupled with the influential foreign connections, have made him especially prominent. There is nothing to justify the belief that anything more than the loss of some "paper profits" has overtaken this particular trader and his followers. On the other hand, it is unquestionable that numerous small traders have been wiped out by the course of the market which shows declines of 5 to 10 points for the week.

The list made very general recoveries in the final hour, but in the operations just before the close the market again sold off, closing weak and with material losses all through the list.

The bank statement furnished almost the one encouraging feature of the day. On the curb Standard Oil fell to 600 yesterday's low, but recovered to 606, a one point gain while American Tobacco decline to 388, a loss of seven points.

The bond market followed the the course of stocks, showing an easier tone throughout. Total sales par value $1,140,000. United States government bonds lost one per cent. on call. Total sales for the day 587,400 shares.

Accused of Stealing.

E. E. Chamberlain, of Clinton, Me., boldly accuses Bucklen's Arnica Salve of stealing—the sting from burns or scalds—the pain from sores of all kinds—the distress from boils or piles. "It robs cuts, corns, bruises, sprains and injuries of their terror," he says, "as a healing remedy its equal don't exist." Only 25c. at R. R. Bellamy.

Dark Smoke No Fun.

Funny thing about smoking! If a man were compelled to puff a good cigar with his eyes shut the operation would lose its zest. A man who had undergone a slight operation upon one of his eyes had to stay in a darkened room for a week with his optics bandaged. After a few days his doctor told him he could take a gentle smoke if he liked. He jumped at the chance and to his amazement found it afforded him not the slightest pleasure. To be sure, men often smoke in the dark, but there's always the rosy glow of the lighted end to be seen and the faint outline of the cloud of smoke in the air. There's no more fun in a sightless smoke than a saltless egg or a kiss upon your own hand. What's the psychology of it?

When in doubt buy a Hoffman House cigar—formerly 10c value, now 5c at Gerken Tobacco Co., only. **

Schley that he did not know whether he would have failed had it not been for the sale of the Tennessee company to the Steel Corporation, Mr. Roosevelt aroused the committee with the terse statement that if Schley did not know it he was the only man in New York who did not.

"I never had any doubt as to the wisdom of my action. Every particle of information he had since receeived had confirmed him, he said, that his action was wise."

Representative Bartlett, of Georgia, suggested that with reference to the proposition of more drastic control of large corporations Judge Gary had been won over. Mr. Roosevelt replied:

"I hope so."

"Judge Bary's suggestion," said Mr. Bartlett, "was that the Sherman anti-trust law had remained dormant for nearly twenty years and had never been sought to be enforced so drastically as in recent years —"

"As it had been during my administration," said Mr. Roosevelt sharply, leaning forward and smiling his broadest smile. "I am as sure as I can be of anything that the course I advocated repeatedly while I was President ultimately will commend itself to the judgment of the people of the United States.

"To the extent of the government fixing prices?" asked Mr. Bartlett.

"If I made that suggestion instead of Judge Gary, I fear I would have been accused of socialism," Mr. Roosevelt answered.

"Do you think you have escaped the accusation?"

"If I have I should say it is the only accusation I have escaped," was the reply.

Returning to the visit of Gary and Frick to the White House and to the powers of the Attorney General to enjoin combinations that might be in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, Representative Littleton asked:

"I suppose you naturally understood Mr. Gary and Mr. Frick were coming to you because of a distressing situation in New York because if they undertook to do this thing without apprising the government fully what they intended to do, and they were enjoined in the proceedings by the Attorney General, it would make the difficulty all the worse?"

"My own belief was," Mr. Roosevelt said, "that they knew that even if I did not direct an injunction against them, that if I merely stated it ought not to be done, that they could not do it."

"Yes," Mr. Littleton continued, "in other words, the adverse attitude of the government, whether in a distinct direction to your Department of Justice, or the announcement of your position—"

"Would have been conclusive against it," said Mr. Roosevelt, finishing the sentence.

"As I said my responsibility was complete and absolute. I cannot state it any stronger."

TRIAL OF REUBEN COMBS

Murder Case of Statesville, N. C., Creates Interest.

Statesville, N. C., Aug. 5.—In the case of Reuben Combs on trial here for the murder of his wife the State rested at adjournment last evening and this morning the examination of witnesses for the defense was begun. Up to the noon adjournment several had testified, the object primarily being to prove the prisoner insane. Testimony along this line was given by people of his home neighborhood, mostly by kin people, to the effect that all of his life Combs has shown an imperfect or simple mind in acts done at home and out in public. Dr. I. N. Taylor, of Morganton, who makes a specialty of treating nervous diseases, and diseases of the mind, was put on the stand to give expert testimony as to the condition of Combs' mind. Dr. Taylor said that he had examined the prisoner once, one time being sufficient he thinks to establish the opinion that the boy is an imbecile and that his several confessions are evidence of this fact. Other witnesses are to be examined this afternoon. The case will hardly reach the jury until next week.

SUFFERED LOSS OF FOOT.

A. C. L. Flagman at Rocky Mount Injured—Queer Accident.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Racky Mount, N. C., Aug. 5.—As he slipped from the foot board of a yard engine at South Rocky Mount last night, Flagman C. H. Knight had his left foot caught under the moving engine and it was badly lacerated, so that amputation at the ankle was necessary. The flagman was at his regular duties with the crew, and he was in the act of mounting the step, which was wet and slippery due to the night's rains, and just as he attempted to pull himself upon the engine his footing gave way and he was precipitated under the wheels, and his left foot was badly lacerated. At the request of the injured man he was brought to the city and received medical attention from a local physician. Mr. Knight has seen several months of service with the Coast Line as flagman, having come to this road from the Norfolk & Western. A report of the injured man's condition this morning is to the effect that he is getting along as nicely as might be expected.

A peculiar freak in railroading occurred yesterday on the Atlantic Coast Line, near Cameron, S. C., when the brake rigging of a freight car of a southbound freight train, while passing over a ten-foot trestle, dropped When the trestle was reached the rear trucks to the car were turned around in their position to the train and the entire ten-foot trestle over a small ravine, was demolished. The car wrecked was about midway the train while the trestle was completely demolished, and though the train was moving about 20 miles an hour, there was only one car that went into the ravine and the rest of them, with brakes locked, remained upon the track, while the engine and front part of the train was stopped a short distance from the wreck, with every car upon the track with the exception of the one derailed and that had completely destroyed the small trestle. It was necessary that the construction crew should first come into service, instead of the wrecking crew, and that a trestle should be rebuilt.

STATE DEPARTMENT AFFAIR.

Approved "Findings of Fact" in Day Portrait Matter.

Washington, Aug. 5.—Over strenuous Republican opposition the House today approved the "findings of fact" in the committee report on the State Department Day portrait voucher case, and sent it to President Taft with the recommendation that "he take appropriate action touching the same." The committee in its conclusions, charged W. H. Michael, formerly chief clerk of the State Department and now United States consul general at Calcutta, with misappropriation of funds, and Thomas W. Morrison, disbursing clerk of the State Department, with participation in the alleged misappropriation either by incompetence or connivance.

The final vote was 137 to 12 on a substitute offered by Representative Hamlin, of Missouri, chairman of the committee for his resolution under which the House would have adopted the report as a whole. Many Democrats had joined with the Republicans in objecting to the original resolution on the ground that it would be improper for the House to suggest to the President what action he should take, as the report advised the dismissal of Michael and Morrison from public service. When the substitute was adopted the vote was practically on party lines.

HEADLESS WOMAN FOUND.

Cincinnati Mystery Yet Unsolved—It Was Thrown in a Sewer.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 5.—If progress was made today toward solving the mystery of the headless woman's corpse, found in a suburban sewer yesterday, the police are keeping it a secret.

The leading police theory tonight was that the victim was a woman of the under-world. Such a woman, it was learned today, had been missing for some time, although her absence had never been reported to the police. It is the belief that the woman was killed somewhere in the city, that two men were concerned in the crime and that, after it had been committed they clothed the corpse in the outer garments found upon it, placed it in a surrey and drove to the sewer mouth. There one of the men found a likely spot to dispose of the body and returned to the carriage. Supporting the lifeless body on either side, he and his companion then carried it, holding it upright, out two hundred feet, carried it into the sewer and weighted it down with stones and driftwood.

OPERATOR TELLS ON DOTY

Passed Ships at Quarantine With Use of Megaphone.

New York, Aug. 5.—George Bennett, a telegraph operator, who worked at the quarantine station last Summer, told the commission investigating the administration of Port Health Officer Alvah H. Doty, today that he had passed incoming coastwise vessels during the night by the simple use of a megaphone. Bennett said he hailed the ships, asked the skipper if all were well on board and, if replies were satisfactory, permitted them to proceed to their piers. Insuch cases, he said the quarantine pass was mailed to the ship after her arrival. For this service Bennett said he received $10 a month extra pay.

James J. Gould, another telegraph operator, said he also passed the vessels in at quarantine, receiving the same extra pay given Bennett.

CRIME AT AIKEN, S. C.

Hold Two Responsible for Death of Mrs. Spradley.

Aiken, S. C., Aug. 5.—The jury of inquest over the body of Mrs. Nettie Spradley, who died of excitement and fright after her husband, Ben Spradley, had been beaten almost to death, and her nephew, Columbus Spradley, had been whipped and run away from home, returned a verdict early this morning, charging Gus and Grover Nolstein, and others unknown to the jury, with her death. These men and three others are in jail. The difficulty arose over the engagement of Columbus Spradley to Miss Gussie Mae Holstein, a relative of the accused men.

McCABE AGAIN A WITNESS.

Solicitor of Agricultural Department Talks of Wiley Charges.

Washington, August 5.—The examination of George H. McCabe, solicitor of the Agricultural Department, by the attorneys for Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the Nation's chief chemist, was only partially finished when the House Agricultural Department Committee finished its work today.

Following a controversy as to the committee's jurisdiction, Chairman Moss made it clear that the investigation of the "Wiley incident," the charges that he has technically violated the law in hiring a scientific assistant, and all the other facts pertaining to the enforcement of the pure food and drugs act, would be permitted to be aired before the committee, notwithstanding the fact that it had not received express authority from the House to make such an investigation.

The nature of the examination through which Mr. McCabe was put today indicates that Dr. Wiley's attorneys propose to bring out the entire controversy that has raged within the Agricultural Department, as to the authority of various officers in the enforcement of the pure food laws. Letters were introduced today showing that Mr. McCabe had charged Dr. Wiley with neglecting the prosecution of manufacturers of patent medicines early in 1910.

At Mr. McCabe's suggestion, a special investigator was hired to find illegally labeled drugs in Washington stores. These drugs formed the basis of criticism launched at Dr. Wiley by Mr. McCabe.

NOTED CAROLINIAN PASSES.

Bishop Oscar Penn Fitzgerald Passes Away at Monteagle, Tenn.

Monteagle, Tenn., Aug. 5.—The Right Rev. Oscar Penn Fitzgerald, a bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, died here this afternoon, following an illness of several weeks. Death was due to neuralgia of the heart.

Mr. Fitzgerald was born in Caswell, N. C., August 24, 1829. He was at one time on the staff of the Richmond Examiner. He entered the Methodist ministry in 1854. Going to the Pacific coast as a missionary in 1867, he was made superintendent of public instruction in California, serving for four years. Later he served as editor of the Pacific Methodist and Christian Spectator. He returned to the South in 1857. In the general conference of the Methodist Church, South, in Richmond, Va., in 1888 he was proposed as a bishop and four years later, when the conference met in St. Louis, the suggestion was carried out.

HAL CHASE STOPS HORSE.

His Star Play Brought Cheers from the "Fans."

New York, Aug. 5.—Hal. Chase, manager of the New York American Baseball Club, who nas stopped many a wild throw to first base, caught a wild horse just after today's game with Cleveland, and won the applause of a number of fans who witnessed the "play."

A delivery wagon horse, taking fright at a passing automobile, dashed down St. Nicholas Avenue into the midst of a crowd of children playing in the street. Chase, who was just turning into the street, set out in pursuit. He gained the tail end of the wagon and pulled himself up. A moment later with his feet braced against the dashboard, he pulled the wild animal down upon its haunches.

FLORIDA FUGITIVE CAUGHT.

Berry Held in New York for Raising Check at Miami.

New York, Aug. 5.—James E. Berry, who escaped from a convict work camp in Florida, on April 18, was held without bail here today as a fugitive from justice, to await extradition papers. Berry was serving a five-year sentence imposed at Miami, Florida, for raising a check. He was leased out to the Florida Pine Company, he said, and put to work on a turpentine farm at Bellmore, Fla. After three years he made a successful break for liberty, and walked to Jacksonville, from where he worked his pasage by sea to New York. He was captured yesterday at the home of his brother, Alexander, in this city.

"Make Your Own Luck"

Many people expect to become suddenly wealthy by some change of "luck."

Luck is a "rainbow", under which we stand in a vain effort to grasp both ends, hoping thereby to gain a pot of gold in each hand.

Such a vain endeavor is a picture of foolishness, but no more than the man who spends all his income and then grasps at "luck" with which to open a bank account.

The rainbow is a reflection of something DOING, and a bank account, or wealth, is the reflection of something DONE.

Civil Baptism Taken Up Enthusiastically in France—The Camorra Trial in Italy — Other Notes of Interest.

Paris, Aug. 5.—Civil Baptism, invented by that picturesque figure, M. Coutant, Mayor and Deputy of Ivry, near Paris, has been taken up with enthusiasm in various parts of the country. At Macon, in Burgundy, the ceremony is specially popular, and the Mayor of Flace-les Macon has just instituted a form of procedure more elaborate than anything yet devised. This was first employed on the 14th July, the National Fete.

After receiving at the mairie the parents of the infant, accompanied by the god-parents, he handed the family a copy of the following remarkable document, which was previously transcribed on a special register:

CIVIL BAPTISM.

Marie Philiberte Seve, daughter of Louis Seve and Philomena Charcosset, gardeners at Flace, welcome to the great family of those whose minds are freed from religious dogma!

In the presence of M. Philibert Seve and of Mme. Marie Claudine Bacot, thy god-father and god-mother,

I, Anthony Coron, officer of the civil authority, mayor of the commune of Flace les-Macon,

In the name of the universal principles of free thought,

In the name of the glorious revolution of 1789, mother of the Rights of Man and of the Citizen,

In the name of the French Republic, democratic and laic,

I baptize thee and give thee these three commandments for which I take publicly and solemnly as witnesses and guarantors these thy god-parents, here present:

I. Thou shalt honor thy country, thy father and mother, and shalt serve them;

II. Thou shalt uphold all their strength, justice and truth;

III. Thou shalt fear nothing except to do ill to thy neighbor.

And now, Citizeness Marie Philiberte Seve, return to the home of thy parents, to be their joy and to live in peace.

Here follow the signatures of the Mayor, the parents and god-parents.

A French agricultural expert declares this week that the generaly accepted theory that bees are harmful to vinlands is fallacious. On the contrary, this expert finds that bees play a beneficent role, for they suck from the vine only those grains which are injurious to the vintage. It is the wasp, and not the bee, which steals the life from the grape and plays havoc with the wine crop.

Seven only finished the full course. Of the $90,880, Beaumont-Conneau, winner, received $33,000; Garres, $13,780; Vidart, $12,588, and Vedrines, $10,000, while others received smaller sums.

Viterbo, Italy, Aug. 5.—Over four months and a half have passed since the Camorra trial began, and it can scarcely be said that the court is half done with this case, which has no precedent, at least, in Italy. Complaints have been expressed in Italy against what they consider the excessive interest of the American press in the Camorra revelations, as Italians think it is a pity that such a trial should have coincided with the celebration of the Italian Jubilee, when the young kingdom desired above all to show to the world the progress made in the last fifty years.

This way of looking at it is absolutely mistaken. Indeed, the coincidence which is so deplored is a matter for congratulation, as it shows that it is possible now to strike a determined blow at the Camorra, which would have been impossible fifty years ago, and even later, when the public life of the south was entirely subject to the Camorra, which was the chief factor in politics and master of city administrations.

Like the campaign against brigandage, like the bank scandals, the Palizzolo and Nasi trials, the Cuocolo murder case is one of the painful but healthy steps which Italy is taking to cancel the last remnants of corruption inherited from the ancient regimes, and install the reign of morality. The work to accomplish is still hard and long, as is proved at every day's sitting here, where the power of the Camorra is still demonstrated chiefly through the difficulty of collecting evidence and the reticence of the witnesses, but no one has dared to touch Captain Fabroni and Privates Capezzuti and Farris, the heroes of the bitter struggle against the Association, who in other times might have lost their lives, and on one has threatened either the Premier or the Minister of Justice for not stopping the trial.

It is ihstory which recounts that Silvio Spaventa, one of the noblest figures among Italian statesmen, when Premier, having determined to stamp out the Camorra, helped by General Lamarmora, fell from power because of this and the first time he went to Naples he was attacked and beaten in the streets without it being possible to bring the culprits to pustice. At the time of Spaventa, when he sent to forced domjcile thousands of Camorrists, crime diminished 45 per cent. in Naples, and when Captain Fabbroni formed his "Squad of Terror" and had the whole police of the city under his control, crime diminiished 60 per cent. and has never gone up again.

The trial as it now stands, although it will go on for several months more, holds no surprise. All that could be said on either side has been said, and the predictions made are that while there are ample proofs to condemn all the accused for the special crime which in the Italian code is called "Criminal Association," there is not positive and indisputable evidence to convict those accused of instigating the murder or of having actually committed it, unless the jury consider the circumstantial evidence good, of which there is plenty. For the crime of being member of a Criminal Association the penalty goes from one to twelve years in prison, while for murder there is a life sentence.

The Camorra as a whole, however, is wounded to death, as its sole existence so far depended on the protection of those in high places, who were afraid or not being protected by the Camorrists, and after this it will be difficult to find a candidate to any public office who will consider it an advantage to be supported by Camorrists.

DRAINAGE OF LANDS.

What the Great Rivers Carry in Dissolved Matter.

Chicago, Aug. 5.—Investigations by the United States Geological Survey of the rosions of numerous drainage basins of the nation reveal that the surface of the country is being removed at the average rate of about an inch in 760 years. Though this amount may seem trivial when spread over the surafe of the entire country it becomes stupendous when considered as a total, or even in seperate drainage basins.

The Mississippi river carries annually to the Gulf of Mexico 136,400,000 tons of dissolved matter. Of this total the Ohio river carries 83,350,000 tons, while the Missouri river contributes more than twice that much. The Colorado river, which, like the Mississippi, has built for itself a vast delta, brings down more suspended matter than any other river in the United States, delivering annually 387 tons for each square mile of its drainage basin, or a total of 100,740,000 tons.

The rivers of the United States, the Geological Survey reports show, carry to tidewater each year 270,000,000 tons of dissolved matter and 513,000,000 tons of suspended matter. This total represents more than 350,000,000 cubic yards of rock, or 610,000,000 cubic yards of surface soil. If this erosive action could have been concentrated on the Isthmus of Panama, the report says, at the time of American occupation, it would have excavated the prism for an 85-foot level canal in about 73 days.

These figures were prepared by the Geological Survey for use by the National Irrigation Congress, which meets here December 5 to 9, of this year, and which is interested in the drainage of the vast areas of the swamp lands created at the mouths of, and along the nearby plains, of many of the nation's waterways, the entire area thus created and possible of reclamation being 80,000,000 acres. The congress, at its sessions here this year, hopes to bring about an extension of the work of the United States Reclamation Service by which reclamation work might be furthered in these lowland areas. This national development phase will be one of the more important topics before the December gathering.

Rough on the Old Gentleman.

She was the daughter of a bohemian peer, whose friends were various and varied, and she had decided to go upon the stage. The parental temperature was rising as the parental tongue remonstrated. "But," the daughter remarked with all the brutal aptness of youth, "I wish to marry, and so I'm going on the stage. Here at home I meet no one decent; there, at least, I shall be able to meet people of my own class."

SPEAKER CHAMP CLARK.

WHAT THE COUNTRY IS DOING

General Letter on Trade Conditions and Business Forecast for August, 1911, Issued by Southern National Bank.

Having completed the Fiscal Year of the Government and many large concerns, we are in a position to look back and make a dependable comparison of our present situation with that of a year and two years ago.

Our total imports for the year are less than the previous year and our total exports are the largest ever reported. This leaves a balance of trade in our favor for the year amounting to half a billion dollars, which figure has been exceeded only by the year ending with June, 1908. Our favorable trade balance exceeds last year's showing by $212,000,000.

Our exports of steel and iron, machinery, naval stores, meat, corn, lumber, vegetables, coal and coke, copper, sugar, fertilizers, wines and liquors increased, while tobacco, live animals and wheat decreased. Wheat decreased about one-half. Exports of manufactures equaled crop exports.

Export prices are higher than a year ago on cotton, steel rails and rosin, while prices for steel ingots, pig iron, lumber, corn, wheat, refined sugar and turpentine are lower.

Cotton received at the United States ports since August, 2,500,000 bales over last year and more than two million bales over the previous year.

Receipts of leaf tobacco at Louisville for five months, 28,000 hogsheads over last year and 41,000 over the previous year. Shipments for the same period, 2,500 hogsheads over last year, and 13,000 over the previous year.

The greatest change in business conditions during the past month has come about in new buildings started. Building conditions are reported more active pretty generally over the country, and it is reasonable to assume that building activity, which for June exceeded the same month of last year, will continue to show an improvement over the corresponding months of 1910.

The above condition in building lines is partially responsible for increasing activity in the steel and iron industry. The Steel Corporation is now running 67 per cent of its ingot capacity and an increase is expected. The independents are running 80 per cent. Two more stacks are in operation at Birmingham, somewhat increasing the pig iron production and a further increase is projected.

The last report of the Steel Corporation showed a quarter of a million increase in unfilled tonnage, as compared to the previous month's report.

Railroad business has not shown the usual lull just before crop moving and it holding its own as compared to the past few weeks. Total earnings are somewhat less than a year ago, although combined earnings of nine leading roads show a good increase in both gross and net. With bumper crops in prospect, heavier earnings are expected. It is estimated that if crops materialize, railroads will consume 40 per cent of capacity output of steel mils, which, with the increase in building, will assure a heavy, if not a record output, for the mills.

Total coal movements for the year is about 5 per cent below last year, although anthracite shipments show a million and a half tons better than the largest previous figures for five months. Partially accounted for by unusual dullness last year.

About 5,000 cars and 200 locomotives have been ordered so far for July, with other orders pending, which should materialize within a fortnight, of about 7,000 cars and 250 locomotives. Some of these locomotives are for foreign roads. Steel car orders continued to increase.

Bank clearings so far for this year are less for New York City and more for the balance of the country than were reported in 1910. June clearings were heavier than last June for entire country, including New York, but much heavier outside of New York city.

Business failures continue to decrease in number and in amount, compared with previous months, although still exceeding last year.

Comments on the crop situation are a deduction from Government, State and private reports averaged.

Winter wheat yield about the same as last year. Spring wheat, 10 per cent better. Corn about 3 per cent. below last year, 2 per cent. below the ten-year average, with one million more acres planted. Crop should run close to three billion bushels. Oats, 20 per cent. below last year, with the same acreage. Cotton averages 5 per cent. to 6 per cent. above last year, general rains having greatly improved the situation within two weeks. The acreage is a million an da half greater than 1910.

The entire crop acreage is approximately six millions over last year, which, given normal conditions for the next three months, insures a bumper crop, which it will tax the transportation companies to handle.

Local conditions are good, notwithstanding greatly exaggerated reports which gained currency throughout the South of an epidemic of fever in Wilmington. The clearings of the Wilmington banks show an increase of $650,000.00 as compared with the month of July, 1910. The beach hotels and the Tidewater Power Company report good business at Wrightsville Beach, and there is continued development of suburban and city property. Contracts have been let for modern pavings on our streets and improved sanitary measures are under way, all pointing to the building of Greater Wilmington.

Respectfully submitted,
THE SOUTHERN NATIONAL BANK.
Compiled July 31, 1911.

Man's Many Wants.

How many ways there are in which our peace may be assailed, besides actual want! How many comforts do we stand in need of, besides meat and drink and clothing! Is it nothing to "administer to a mind diseased"—to heal a wounded spirit? After all other difficulties are removed, we still want some one to bear our infirmities, to impart our confidence to, to encourage us in our hobbies (nay, to get up and ride behind us), and to like us with all our faults.—Hazlitt.

Mrs. Frank Pearson

will sing at both the Lumina concerts today. **

BLACK RIVER GROUP.

Rev. E. B. Carr Writes of Work in and Around Atkinson.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Atkinson, N. C., Aug. 5.—Well, what about the work in this field of labor? Is it in a flourishing and encouraging condition? Very much so, indeed.

If we look at it from the standpoint of prosperity among our people, we have much to thank the Lord for. In spite of the dry weather, God has prospered our people far above what many of them expected. From the present prospect, no one will suffer for food and clothing for the coming year. The majority of our people have good crops, and many of them have excellent crops. We are a God blessed and a God prospered people, abounding in wealth and prosperity. But all praise be to Him from whom cometh every good and perfect gift. God has prospered us, not we ourselves.

What about the prosperity of the Currie people? I have not seen any real sorry crops at Currie. As a rule they are good. It was my pleasure to view Mr. A. E. Curl's farm the past week, and brethren, if we should have occasion to go down to Egypt to buy corn and cotton, peanuts and hay, etc., any time soon, let us see Mr. Curl before we start. Well, I would be glad to show you how God has prospered all our Caswell and Atkinson people, I would like to show you how God has prospered our Black River people through the community of Ivanhoe and the Beatty neighborhood, I would be real glad to let you see how God has smiled upon the Harmony people at and around Kerr community, and how He has favored the Tomahawk people with peace and plenty, then how pleasant it would be to take you with me to see the good people of South River church, how God has prospered them with no real sorry crops, as a rule, then to see the abounding wealth of our good people at Ingold and Garland. It is true that all farms of our people might have been better, if we had had plenty of rain, but God controls the rain, and for some wise purpose, for the good of His people. He has not seen fit to give us an abundance of rain. Let us pray God that he may lead us into the meaning of His providential leading, and teach us the lesson which he would have us know by his dealings with us.

How do the people of this group of churches treat their pastor? Do they love, honor, reverence and uphold him with their prayers and prosperity? Judging from all appearances, I would say that they do so love and honor him as their pastor. Do they pay their pastor's salary? Yes, as a rule they pay the greater part of it every Sunday where we have services; but sometimes they get a little behind, due mostly to the fact that some of our members are providentially hindered from church attendance, but it is just as good as gold when it comes, therefore, I don't give myself any uneasiness about this matter. It is the understanding with our people to pay their pastor in full twice a year, just before the meeting of each Presbytery. Brethren, I wish Presbytery would hurry and come. Not only do they pay their pastor, but they often load his buggy with good things for the dining room. Just recently the Johnson family at Ivanhoe put a large jug of honey in my buggy. Mr. Maudie Sikes and wife did the same. For the past week or so our Caswell members have been sending us plenty of vegetables to last us a week or two, presented by Capt. Paddison and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Petlow, Dr. Geo. F. Lucas and wife, and many of our members are sending us real nice watermelons. Brethren, I appreciate such gifts. It makes us feel that you appreciate our poor services. The attendance of our people at church is good as a whole, though we have a few members who come to church only when the Spirit moves them and the weather is real favorable.

Well, are we making any progress in the work as a whole? Yes, so far as I can tell, we are making very good progress. Within the past six or eight months, our people have paid for a manse for their pastor to live in at Atkinson at a cost of $1,000; our Caswell people are now trying to build the Presbyterian church at Atkinson. They have just recently paid for the material with which to enclose the building. When will the carpenters begin the work? They will begin next Monday. How much money have we in hand to pay carpenters with? About $50. How much more will we need? About $300. Where is it coming from? We trust that the greater part of it will come from the people of this group of churches, and the many friends who are interested in the work.

We have had about 15 added to our churches, the greater part of whom were added on profession of faith. We contribute to the regular causes.

Let me appeal to the good people of Caswell church, to our Currie people, to our Point Caswell people, and to every member of this group of churches, who have not contributed on this last effort to the building of our Atkinson church to do so at once, or we will have to stop the carpenters, just as soon as we use up the $50 we have in hand. Brethren, your pastor has not the time to visit each member of this group of churches to solicit your offerings to this important work, he has to write sermons, to preach the gospel, to bury the dead and marry the living, and do pastorial work the best he can. I trust that our people are going to respond to this urgent call, and that you will respond at once. Don't put it off, but send me the Lord's money at once for this work. Brethren, shall a people so highly blessed of God, refuse to be faithful stewards of God's money in the midst of such prosperity? I hardly think so. Listen! Shall ye live in your ceiled houses, with all the modern comforts of a happy and prosperous home life, and at the same time let the house of the Lord lay waste, and rot down? If so, a shame on the people of this group of churches. This church has been framed up for about three years, and many parts of it have actually rotted, while our people lay back in their ceiled houses on flowery beds of ease, and cry out hard times. Could we blame God, if He should withhold all rain and all prosperity from us when we refuse to build the house of the Lord? (Haggai 1:4). Brethren, please get your Bible and read carefully the first chapter of Haggai, and especially the fourth verse, and think and pray over these things. Send your money to the pastor of this group of churches, Rev. E. B. Carr, Atkinson, N. C. Any amount you may feel disposed to send, be it ever so small, will be very greatly appreciated. "He that watereth, shall be watered also himself." Brethren, your pastor has contributed to this work, shall his people do less? May the Lord bless you in your gift. What thou doest, do quickly,

Yours very sincerely,
E. B. CARR.

Thirty Years Together

Thirty years of association—think of it. How the merit of a good thing stands out in that time—or the worthlessness of a bad one, So there's no guess work in this evidence of Thos. Ariss, Concord, Mich., who writes: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery for 30 years, and its the best cough and cold cure I ever used." Once it finds entrance in a home you can't pry it out. Many families have used it forty years. I'ts the most infallible throat and lung medicine on earth. Unequalled for lagrippe, asthma, hay-fever, croup, quinsy or sore lungs. Price 50c., $1. IN EASTERN NORTH

Garden Spot of State Where Brains and Energy Are Needed—Educational and Industrial Progress in Community.

(Special to News and Observer.)

Rose Hill, N. C., July 29.—Along the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, between Goldsboro and Wilmington, is a section of country 85 miles long, most wonderful as a veritable truck garden. The possibilities of this section from an agricultural standpoint are vast indeed.

The great variety of her soils makes this the home of all kinds of early vegetables and fruits and strawberries as well as the staple crops, cotton and tobacco. Large drainage districts are being projected to develop vast corn fields in the virgin swamp lands, the equal of any in Egypt. Wonderful progress has been made along all lines of endeavor the past 10 years, and the story of its future development will be the brightest page in North Carolina's history. Great are the natural resources, and the field is ripe for young men of brains and cash who are real promoters of large enterprises of all kinds.

These people are doing well, as the deposits in the chain of new banks from Goldsboro to Wilmington will show. Our home boys now need to become managers of all kinds of manufacturing enterprises where this accumulated capital can find profitable employment, and then truly with these added industries, this can be the section peculiarly blessed above all others in the State.

Get your map and mark the point just half way between Goldsboro and Wilmington, and this is Rose Hill. Few, if any, of the towns on this stretch of railroad have shown the progress in the last ten years found here. It is first as a cotton market of Duplin county as well as the leader in the shipment of strawberries to Northern markets. She has doubled her population in the past ten years and now makes shipments of her products valued at one-half million dollars per year.

For a number of years an issue of bonds to improve the public roads of Duplin county as a whole has been agitated and to no avail. Rose Hill township is first to take the initiative in the county and issue bonds to sand-clay every mile (30) of her public roads. Soon the convict force will be at work and every man will then live on a good road to town. On all sides can be seen intensive methods of farming that have their lessons for those who will follow in the footsteps of progress. Here the farms are small and almost every man has his little home and his vine and fig tree and lives the independent life. Then indeed will it be ideal when the roads are completed and every home is served by the rural telephone, rural free delivery and is situated in the quiet country on the broad "Appian Way" that leads to Rome—even to Rose Hill as the center of radiation of this system of township highways.

With her central graded school building, when the roads are finished, the conditions are perfect for the experiment of a township school where the remotest pupils are conveyed at the expense of the school fund, where indeed the conditions are ideal for a farm-life school under the recent act of our law-making body.

All along this Atlantic Coast Line section the people are coming to see the need of factories; and it is singu-

Sometimes the editorials that warmed up Senator Butler were not more than two lines long but they had color and force.

How the State misses the Old Man! There is no one to take his place. His editorials were humorous and witty. Fair, able and powerful.

Mr. Caldwell was in his glory when poking fun at the Populists. Colonel Walter R. Henry was one of his pets.

"Deal kindly with him," said he to me one day when I was going out to report a Populist meeting. "He has gone wrong on politics but at heart Mr. Henry is all right. Give his speech a fair report."

That was the Old Man; that was Colonel Henry.

The following anouncement has been made here: Charles A. Douglas, Gibbs L. Baker, Thomas Ruffin and Hugh H. Obear announce the formation of a partnership for the practice of law under the firm name of Douglas, Baker, Ruffin & Obear, as successors to the firm of Douglas & Baker, with offices at suite 821-831, Southern building.

Thomas Ruffin is a North Carolinian, a graduate of the State University and a former instructor in the University Law School at Chapel Hill. He lived in Charlotte for a time.

Thomas Ruffin is a brother of Drs. Sterling and George Ruffin, two of the leading physicians and most successful young business men of Washington. The Drs. Ruffin came here on leaving college and have succeeded beyond their expectations. Both are able, well equipped and popular.

Thomas Ruffin is one of the most learned young lawyers here. No one is better prepared for the work he is undertaking. He will practice before the Supreme Court of the United Staaes, District of Columbia Courts, Inter-State Commerce Commission, United States Commerce Court, United States Court of Claims and United States Custom Court.

"I am sure that Simmons will be elected Senator," said Mr. Caywell, "and that Yates Webb will be our representative, and that Overman will have no serious opposition.

"Another thing I am pretty certain of, and that is that North Carolina Democrats like Harmon—Governor Harmon, the Democrat, who gets there, and will prefer him to Wilson and others.

"Generally speaking, the Democratic party is in good shape in our State. The Republicans are engaged in factional warfare."

I saw here the other day, walking down Pennsylvania Avenue, Col. Walter Redbone Henry, one of North Carolina's most interesting characters. He wore a long black coat, all buttoned down before, and a large tan hat, and a troubled look.

I was on a street car and did not have an opportunity to pass the time of day with the erstwhile Populist, and he did not see me.

Col. Henry, who is as pictureque a North Carolinian as ever lived, took me back twelve and fifteen years ago when Marion Butler, the one man who gives North Carolina Democrats the chills, the ague and the fever, was in his political glory.

Those were great days in the Old North State. Then Joseph Pearson Caldwell, the Charlotte Observer—its brains, its character and its life—was in his prime. Every morning, wherever one happened to be, the Observer was like wine. There was nothing of

THE STATE NORMAL ALUMNAE

Something of the Work That is Being Done for the McIver Loan Fund—Some High Endorsements.

The Alumnae Association of the State Normal College has set itself the task of raising a loan fund of $50,000 to be known as the McIver Loan Fund, in honor of the man who not only endeared himself to every student and friend of the Normal College, but did such a great and lasting work for the cause of education in general.

This work was inaugurated in the Summer of 1906, during which time a field secretary began the organization of alumnae associations in the various counties of the State. For two years Miss Etta Spier gave her entire time to this work with the result that now there are fifty counties organized and $22,280 pledged for the fund. The amount to be contributed by the county is left with each county association, no assessments being made. A separate account is kept of the money derived from each county. This money will be used by young women of that county.

The use of this loan fund will be by strict business arrangements. A young woman wishing to borrow money for her college education makes a written application and gives her note in legal form. The loan must be repaid as soon as possible, the interest beginning the September after leaving college. As partial payments are made they will be put back into the fund to be used over again.

A large proportion of the money already raised for the McIver Loan Fund has been contributed by members of the association, but to accomplish our purpose the assistance of the people of the State is required. This assistance has been freely and heartily given wherever the movement has been inaugurated. Men and women of influence in every community have been enthusiastically interested in the establishment of the McIver Loan Fund.

Mr. Joyner says of the McIver Fund: "I wish to express my hearty approval of the movement of the alumnae of the State Normal and Industrial College to establish at that institution a memorial to Dr. Charles D. McIver, its first president, in the form of a loan fund to be used to aid worthy young women of limited means to secure an education and training at that institution. The establishment of such an institution will be in perfect accord with the great idea for which Dr. McIver gave the best of his life and thought—equality of opportunity to capable North Carolina women, rich or poor."

Mr. R. D. W. Connor, says: "There are two things about the McIver Loan Fund that of themselves are a sufficient endorsement of the movement; the name and the purpose.

The purpose of the movement is to raise a fund that may be used to aid young women of small means who would not otherwise be able to complete their education. The women who are pushing this movement have in view, not the college, but their less fortunate sisters throughout the State. The movement, therefore, is worthy of theendorsement and help of all who are interested in the manhood and womanhood of North Carolina, regardless of the interest they may have in the State Normal, or any other college."

Mr. R. D. Douglas, of Greensboro, says: "I believe it to be a movement which the people of the State should know of and should aid as far as their particular circumstances allow. We have in the past few years done much for the cause of education in North Carolina, but I speake advisedly and not simply out of a superabundance of enthusiasm, when I say that I know of nothing that has been done or that could be done for the cause of education which, for the amount invested, will yield richer returns to the State, to say nothing of the good that will come to individuals. All in all, the McIver Loan Fund is a matter that is well worth while."

Miss Jane Summerell, the recently appointed field secretary, was in Wilmington Monday, July 31, and Tuesday, August 1. The purpose of her visit was to meet with the New Hanover County Alumnae Association and give them such aid for the further advancement of their work as she deemed advisable.

A meeting of the Association was held at the home of Miss Laura Weill, 116 South Fifth street, at 5:30 o'colck Monday afternoon.

PENNSYLVANIA SUMMER SCHOOL

Over Three Hundred Young Women at The University.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Philadelphia, Pa., August 5.—Miss Margaret L. Gibson, of Wilmington, is attending the Summer School of the University of Pennsylvania. She will complete a six-week's course on August 16th.

While many of the students in the Summer School are taking regular academic work the majority are interested in physical education, pedagogy and psychology.

The enrollment of the Summer School is 700. There are more than 200 children in the model school which is being conducted in connection with the courses in pedagogy. This together with the class of 15 backward children which the department of psychology is feeding and teaching brings the number of persons studying at the University this Summer to nearly 1,000.

There are 318 women taking courses. Eighteen of these are married. A number of the women are living in the dormitories, two houses having been reserved for them. The remainder occupy boarding houses in the neighborhood of the University.

The students have come to the Summer School from 27 States, the District of Columbia and eight foreign countries—Japan, China, Brazil, Germany, Cuba, Argentine Republic, Porto Rico and Mexico. Argentine leads the foreign countries in attendance with five students. China has four. Among the States which are well represented are: North Carolina, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, California, North Dakota, Michigan, Alabama, Georgia, Wisconsin, Maine.

Fruit Trees on German Roads.

Fruit trees are planned by the roadside in parts of Germany, but not, as might be supposed, for the appeasement of appetities of passers-by. The trees are watched closely, and at the end of the season the fruit is sold. The amount stolen is very small. The warning is succinct, but not too blunt, being merely the words, "A good man injures no tree," posted on a board at intervals along the road.

Robbers Had Ingenuity.

An unusual scheme for robbing a gold dump was discovered at Nome, Alaska, a few days ago, when inspection was made of a dump that was thrown up three years ago. It was found that robbers had sunk a hole through the top of the dump and sluiced out all the inside, leaving a hollow shell standing. It is estimated that in this manner the thieves had obtained $5,000.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bedwetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W, Notre Dame, Ind., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

CROP BULLETIN.

Necessity of Organic Matter in the Soil Is Emphasized.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 5.—There are two things absolutely essential to successful farming in North Carolina. One is deep plowing, and the other is the incorporation in the soil of humus or organic matter from decaying vegetation.

We have heard a great deal about deep plowing, and, on soils which have stiff, heavy sub-soils, deep plowing, and, in some cases, even sub-soiling, is entirely necessary. But we have heard all too little about the organic matter content of our soils. Indeed, some wag might say, there is not enough organic matter in most of our soils to speak about anyway, but that is just why we should begin to talk. Good plowing and liberal amount of vegetable mould or organic matter in our soils constitute the two oars by which the agricultural boat must be driven in North SCarolina. We have hitherto done most of our pulling on the plowing oar and as a result our boat has inclined go in a circle with the result that the people of the State are shipping in tens of millions of dollars worth of food supplies every year when they should be selling more than they buy.

We are giving out no information when we say that nine tenths of our soils are poor and unproductive. These poor soils are "known and read of all men." When we see a boy nowadays with a thin, pale, anaemic face, we are pretty apt to say he has the hookworm, by which we mean he has little red blood in his veins, low vitality, waning strength, and little ambition. His life forces are becoming weaker, he is unable to do much, we say, and his ability to do is becoming less and less every day and will finally be reduced to zero unless he is given a treatment. Keep this in mind and go twenty-five miles in almost any direction in North Carolina and you will see on every hand, fields of white, pale, sandy soils, thrown out of cultivation. Why this abandonment of cultivable lands in North Carolina? Examine them and you will find a good amount of all the necessary mineral elements of plant food, but the humus or organic matter content is almost nothing. They have no life in them and hence cannot give lift to vegetation. They are anaemic; they have hookworm, if you will allow the figure, and can do little without a treatment. The vitality of these poor lands is so low that it pays no one to cultivate them. Deep plowing will not do.

The proper treatment of all these poor or abandoned lands, that are well drained, is, first, give them a heavy dose of organic matter either in the shape of stable manure or green manure. These are the two sources of organic matter in our soil. The one is, and always has been, too limited to get much store by, while the other is, always has been, and always will be, the principal source from which we must obtain humus for the agricultural soils in North Carolina.

Next week we expect to take up the discussion of the bringing up of these poor lands in the State and will speak of the crops to be grown first in an attempt at their reformation. We want to call the attention of every man, who has poor lands on his farm, to this series of articles which will likely extend over some months.

Queer Cure for Consumption.

Some of the English papers announce the accidental discovery of what appeared to be a cure for consumption by means of the ammoniated gases generated in the production of maggots for fish bait in an establishment near Bradford. The United States consul at Bradford, in a report to Washington, says: "While engaged in this work, it is said certain persons known to be suffering from tuberculosis have regained their health."

AT PROGRESSIVE ROSE HILL

Something of its Industry and Its Prospects—Atlantic Coffin and Casket Factory—The Question of Good Roads.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Rose Hill, N. C., August 5.—For the year ending June 1, excluding lumber the other shipments from here amount to approximately one-half million dollars and they place Rose Hill first as a cotton market as well as the leader in strawberries in Duplin county.

Everywhere can be seen intensive methods of farming that have their lessons for those who will follow in the footsteps of progress. A clay subsoil and a fertile top loam, her natural resources here will make Rose Hill some day the finest agricultural section anywhere in the State. Hrere the farms are small, and this is ideal where almost every man owns his home and his vine and fig tree and lives the independent life. Almost every home is supplied by a local 'phone in the country as well as a rural delivery box and the only thing to make this country farm-life complete is a good road to every home.

For a long time an effort has been made to establish a county system of roads, which has so far proven mere talk, and so under the more popular township plan this is first to vote bonds even by a majority of five to one to sand-clay every mile (30) of public roads in the township. One of our enterprising home boys who has made good in business has offered to take the entire issue at par, thus showing his faith in the good credit of the township. Soon the convict force will be at work, and then truly every citizen will live on the broad "Appian Way" that leads to Rome—even to Rose Hill as the center of this radiation of public highways. Almost every mile of these proposed roads is underlaid with clay, and not a creek anywhere or grade to level down or up. This is the ideal township to teach the lesson in scientific road-building at a minimum cost. Of far-reaching consequences will be the immediate effects upon the agricultural and commercial interests of her town and township. Other outlying townships will soon catch the possibilities of our roads and connect with them even by private subscription, and they will also then enjoy the spirit of progress and make this their home town where they can use our good roads.

Even homeseekers will come where there is such evident progress as here. One year ago last December, almost the entire business section of the town went up in ashes, and our fondest hopes were indeed made blue, but wonderful the change for the better since then, as seven brick buildings have been erected to take the desolate places, and the fire is a blessing in disguise.

The town has doubled its population and commerce the last ten years. The way to have factories is to build them yourselves. Here is in successful operation the first real factory of any kind, excepting crate factories, in this county. About six years ago one of our native young men who has attained distinction as a scholar and as the author of Carr's Arithmetics, gave up the school room for active business pursuits, and he made this his home for business reasons, seeing the possibilities of our town. He soon associated with himself some of the leading and enterprising young men of the place and community and laid good the plans for a factory. First, they bought 500 acres of valuable land in and around town at a bargain, as a foundation for future developments. Next, they erected the Atlantic Coffin and Casket Factory, and then they had two very successful land sales in town lots. Thus they disposed of 100 acres at a handsome profit. The remaining 400 acres are very fine trucking lands which they are canaling out and selling to forty farmers in ten-acre lots or more.

The factory has constantly run since the first day it started. The business will double this year what it was in the past, and many people will be surprised to know that they have three regular salesmen covering four States, often shipping out a carload a day, and of a quality second to none, which is the secret of such rapid success. Here can be found joos that retail for $500 or more. One successful factory always calls for others, as people are then not afraid to invest, and the point in this whole story that stands out from all others is that the enterprise is now a success and is managed by our home boys, who have made good and of even inter-State proportions in its scope in the short time of two years.

Other factories are being promoted, and before many years will be issued the gladsome news that her beautiful farms, her ideal public highways, her many factories, her one central school her many churches, her prosperous and happy people, will all conspire together to make this indeed God's country peculiarly blessed above all others.

When Lincoln Sat For His Bust.

When Vinnie Ream, the sculptor, was a mere child still and her experience in modeling consisted of a few busts and medallions she timidly asked President Lincoln to permit her to model his bust. "I don't know why any one should want the picture or statue of so homely a man," he answered and at first declined to sit. But when Senator Nesmith told him that the western girl, "who was poor, but talented," would be disappointed if unable to secure this favor he turned quickly and said: "She is poor, is she? Well, that is nothing against her, and I will sit for the model."

During the sittings the great man would watch with much interest the hands of the girl sculptor at her work; but, speaking of him later, she said: "For the most part he was sad and silent, weighed upon by the stress of a nation in peril and his own recent personal loss of a beloved son. Ah, those were sad days at the White House! One day the president's eyes were full of tears as he turned from gazing out of the window, and he said to me, 'I am thinking of Willie.'"—Designer.

Curious Training Methods.

Every baseball player seems to have his own system, and some of the methods used are laughable, and few are of any practicable value. One young catcher who joined a National league club a few years ago brought five gallons of iron, beef and wine in jugs in his trunk to make him strong. Cannon balls that weigh twenty-five pounds are used to roll over the abdomen. Iron rolling pins, special bandages, a thousand kinds of rubbing oils and lotions, ranging from patent medicines to horse liniments and oil made by boiling down fishing worms, vibrators of all sizes and shapes, odd arm bakers to be superheated with electricity and rubber bands are employed. Hotel rooms are turned into gymnasiums, and one of the funniest sights of a year is to sit in a card game with half a dozen players swathed like puffy mummies in blankets, sweaters and flannels until they look as if they were starting on an arctic journey.—American Magazine.

Wellington's Coolness.

The Duke of Wellington was one day sitting at his library table when the door opened and without any announcement in stalked a figure of singularly ill omen.

"Who are you?" asked the duke in his short and dry manner, looking up without the slightest change of countenance upon the intruder.

"I am Apollyon. I am sent here to kill you."

"Kill me? Very odd."

"I am Apollyon and must put you to death."

"'Bliged to do it today?"

"I am not told the day or the hour, but I must do my mission."

"Very inconvenient; very busy; great many letters to write. Call again or write me word. I'll be ready for you."

The duke then went on with his correspondence. The maniac, appalled probably by the stern, immovable old gentleman, backed out of the room and in half an hour was in an asylum.

A Legend of February.

Here is the pretty legend which tells why February has only twenty-eight or twenty-nine days. Long ago, they say, February was a gambler, and he was so unlucky that he soon lost all his money. Like other gamblers, he tried to recover it, and he said to his companions that if they would lend him some money he would give them as security one of his days. January and March, who were naturally associated with him more often than any of the other months, accepted his offer, and as poor February soon lost the money which he had borrowed each of them acquired one of his days. That is why January and March have each thirty-one days and February has only twenty-eight in ordinary and twenty-nine in leap years.

A Faithful Servant.

Carlyle told once of a lawsuit pending in Scotland affecting the succession to a great estate of which he had known something. The case depended on a family secret known only to one old servant, who refused to reveal it. A kirk minister was sent to tell her she must speak on peril of her soul. "Peril of my saul!" she said. "And would ye put the honor of an auld Scottish family in competition with the saul of a poor creature like me?"

When Women Rule the Wave.

"Captain, I have to report that the ship is sinking rapidly."

"I wish to goodness, Gertie, you wouldn't bother me so often. However, you may cut her stays, which will probably relieve her, and have the stewardess serve tea at once in the pink room."—Life.

Platt's Response.

Thomas C. Platt was asked once upon a time whom he considered the greatest Republican politician of his day and generation.

"I have often wished," was Platt's response, "that I had been Quay's office boy for six months or more."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Cash and Credit.

"Father, what is meant by bankruptcy?"

"Bankruptcy is when you put your money in your hip pocket and let your creditors take your coat."—Fliegende Blatter.

NUGGETS OF WISDOM

For Sunday Readers.

(By T. W. C.)

Whoever dedicates his life to ends of human service is most effectively consecrating himself to his country.

* * *

God sometimes tests our faith by his delays. Oftener, perhaps, he rebukes our unbelief by answering before we call.

* * *

Our country needs more pure patriots who recognize God's supreme sovereignty and who seek to establish his laws as the supreme laws of the land.

* * *

Do the work that you want to do if you can, but be sure to do the work that has been given you to do. That is within your reach; the other may not be.

* * *

Like the gold dollar, truth is a standard of value rather than a circulation medium. It has many artistic and beautifully engraved substitutes in circulation, but they will not stand the acid test.

* * *

The things which life remembers longest are those which lie nearest to life's first opened gate. The memory of a mother's love becomes dearer and sweeter with every day after a man is seventy.

* * *

Had he been happy and faultless, I would not have loved him as I did. There is a degree of pity in all our friendships. Misfortune has an attraction for certain soul. The cement of our hearts is mixed with tears, and nearly all our deep affections have their beginning in some sorrowful emotion.

* * *

A "Dutch domine" down in the Eastern way has coined an alliterative aphorism which once repeated promises to stick in the memory of long time both for its sententiousness and its truth: "The preaching pulpit's power is proportionate to the praying pew's persistence."

* * *

Jesus taught patriotism and his life was a clear illustration of the duty of the patriot. That man is more patriotic who seeks to lead his fellow men to righteousness than is the blatant boaster of his love of country whose personal influence destroys character, overturns righteousness and perverts justice.

* * *

Peace tests patriotism more than war. It is easier to fight with a musket for a visible flag than to fight with convictions, influence, vice, pen and ballot for those ideals which the flag represents. The patriots of peace, who make and uphold law, who mold public sentiment sanely, who attack open corruption and subtle, insidious, alien tendencies—these are the ones who make a country worth fighting for when the call to arms comes ringing through the land.

* * *

Going higher and higher, shining more and more, growing stronger and stronger, "forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth to the things which are before," these are the natural impulses of the consecrated life. As one has aptly said, "Not retrospect, but perfect, should be the Christian watchword." Christians, thank God that there are peaks to climb, troubles to burnish us, and tonics for the spirit's life. God is the goal. Heaven is the place. They are both above us, as high and holy incentives for our best climbing, brightest shining and greatest strength. God help us to do our best to reach such a goal, with such holy environments.

* * *

In order to make good speed in your day's journey, do not go overloaded. I do not refer so much to your undertaking too many things as to your carrying too many cares. Honest work is strengthening, but worry frets and fevers us. The temptation of the devil; to yield to it is a sin against our own peace and a reproach upon our Christian character. The journey made by any pedestrian is simply a succession of steps. In accomplishing your day's work you have simply to take one step at a time.

* * *

Only those really know the ease of living who never try to dodge the hard things in life. For the easiest time to do a hard thing is when it first makes its appearance. If we would double its difficulty, we need only postpone it once; if we would make it four times as hard, a second postponement will insure this. And if we would have the drag and the nightmare of shirked duty always with us, so that life itself becomes a chronic burden, we must simply make our hardest duties permanent. Tribulation lies ahead for any one who will grapple his hard tasks promptly. Joy and strength and the exhilaration of ever-increasing power are assured to one who seeks the ease of instant duty doing. We are hardest on ourselves when we try to save ourselves from hardship.

* * *

Colonel Higginson, when asked to name the incident of the Civil War that he considered the most remarkable for bravery, said that there was in his regiment a man whom everyone liked—a man who was brave and noble—who was pure in his daily life, absolutely free from the dissipations in which most of the other men indulged. One night at a champagne supper, when many were becoming intoxicated, someone in jest called for a toast from this young man. Colonel Higginson said he arose, pale, but with perfect self-possession, and said: "Gentlemen, I will give you a toast which you may drink as you will, but which I will drink, if you please, in water. The toast that I have to give is, 'Our Mothers'." Instantly a strange spell seemed to come over all those tipsy men. They drank the toast in silence. There was no more laughter, no more song, and one by one they slunk out of the room. The lamp of memory had begun to burn, and the name of "mother" touched every man's heart.

DAINTIES FOR THE BABY

Number of Safe Foods to Serve the Sick Little One While Traveling.

Sometimes in traveling, or when living in hotels for any length of time, it is well to know of a few dainties which one can make oneself and give to an ill child, or to a baby whose stomach is a trifle upset. For instance, albumin water is often ordered for infants with acute stomach trouble. A mother can give it with perfect safety to nourish an ill baby until the doctor is reached. Albumin water is nothing more than the white of an egg dissolved in a pint of cold water, that has been previously boiled. Sometimes a baby can keep nothing else on his stomach for days but this light yet apparently sustaining drink.

Barley jelly is also excellent. To a tablespoonful of barley flour, which has been dissolved in cold water, add a pint of boiling water. Boil this with a pinch of salt for 20 minutes in a double boiler, strain, flavor and serve very cold.

A Wrong Choice.

There is no act, nor option of act, possible, but the wrong deed or option has poison in it which will stay in your veins thereafter forever. Never more to all eternity can you be as you might have been had you not done that—chosen that. You have "formed your character," forsooth! No; if you have chosen ill, you have deformed it, and that forever!—Ruskin.

S.S.S. FOR SUMMER SKIN DISEASES

During the summer most persons are annoyed with pimples, boils, rashes or eruptions, while others suffer more severely with Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, or some kindred skin disease. All skin affections come from humors and acids in the circulation. The blood, as it circulates through the system, deposits these humors and acids in the sensitive membranous flesh which lies just beneath the outer skin. This acrid matter causes inflammation and a discharge which breaks through the delicate cuticle, and skin diseases are the result. To cure any skin trouble the blood must be freed from all acids and humors, and for this purpose nothing equals S.S.S. This great blood purifier completely removes every particle of the impurity, enriches the blood, and in this way permanently cures skin diseases. S. S. S. cures because it purifies the blood and thus does away with the cause. Book on skin diseases and any medical advice you may desire sent free. S.S.S. is for sale at drug stores.

HEAT-DANGERS FOR CHILDREN

The little folks do not stand the heat as well as their elders, and special care should be taken to keep them in good physical condition. One of the things to be especially watchful of is the condition of the bowels, which presents many dangers hardly dreamed of by parents. When the child shows a tendency to constipation, if it loses appetite, complains of headaches, itch or fails to sleep well and awake refreshed, the mother may be certain that the child needs a tonic-laxative with ingredients such as are contained in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, of which most mothers have heard and which thousands of mothers are using for themselves and their children. Indigestion is one of the worst troubles of child-life in the summer time, and it manifests itself in many different ways. Whatever the cause and whatever the manifestation the mother may be sure of removing the trouble with a few doses of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which should always be kept in the house for emergency. It is sold in two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00, and can be obtained of any druggist. Those who have never used it and wish to make a test of it before buying, can obtain a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE by addressing

"I am sure that Simmons will be elected Senator," said Mr. Caywell, "and that Yates Webb will be our representative, and that Overman will have no serious opposition.

"Another thing I am pretty certain of, and that is that North Carolina Democrats like Harmon—Governor Harmon, the Democrat, who gets there, and will prefer him to Wilson and others.

"Generally speaking, the Democratic party is in good shape in our State. The Republicans are engaged in factuonal warfare."

I saw here the other day, walking down Pennsylvania Avenue, Col. Walter Redbone Henry, one of North Carolina's most interesting characters. He wore a long black coat, all buttoned down before, and a large tan hat, and a troubled look.

I was on a street car and did not have an opportunity to pass the time of day with the erstwhile Populist, and he did not see me.

Col. Henry, who is as picturesque a North Carolinian as ever lived, took me back twelve and fifteen years ago when Marion Butler, the one man who gives North Carolina Democrats the chills, the ague and the fever, was in his political glory.

Those were great days in the Old North State. Then Joseph Pearson Caldwell, the Charlotte Observer—its brains, its character and its life—was in his prime. Every morning, wherever one happened to be, the Observer was like wine. There was nothing of the dish-rag, spineless existence about it. The little shafts from the Old Man's pen went under the hide of the person they were directed against, and to the very heart of the reader. Sometimes the editorials that warmed up Senator Butler were not more than two lines long but they had color and force.

How the State misses the Old Man! There is no one to take his place. His editorials were humorous and witty. Fair, able and powerful.

Mr. Caldwell was in his glory when poking fun at the Populists. Colonel Walter R. Henry was one of his pets.

"Deal kindly with him," said he to me one day when I was going out to report a Populist meeting. "He has gone wrong on politics but at heart Mr. Henry is all right. Give his speech a fair report."

That was the Old Man; that was Colonel Henry.

The following anouncement has been made here: Charles A. Douglas, Gibbs L. Baker, Thomas Ruffin and Hugh H. Obear announce the formation of a partnership for the practice of law under the firm name of Douglas, Baker, Ruffin & Obear, as successors to the firm of Douglas & Baker, with offices at suite 821-831, Southern building.

Thomas Ruffin is a North Carolinian, a graduate of the State University and a former instructor in the University Law School at Chapel Hill. He lived in Charlotte for a time.

Thomas Ruffin is a brother of Drs. Sterling and George Ruffin, two of the leading physicians and most successful young business men of Washington. The Drs. Ruffin came here on leaving college and have succeeded beyond their expectations. Both are able, well equipped and popular.

Thomas Ruffin is one of the most learned young lawyers here. No one is better prepared for the work he is undertaking. He will practice before the Supreme Court of the United Staaes, District of Columbia Courts, Inter-State Commerce Commission, United States Commerce Court, United States Court of Claims and United States Custom Court.

THE STATE NORMAL ALUMNAE

Something of the Work That is Being Done for the McIver Loan Fund—Some High Endorsements.

The Alumnae Association of the State Normal Colloge has set itself the task of raising a loan fund of $50,000 to be known as the McIver Loan Fund, in honor of the man who not only endeared himself to every student and friend of the Normal College, but did such a great and lasting work for the cause of education in general.

This work was inaugurated in the Summer of 1906, during which time a field secretary began the organization of alumnae associations in the various counties of the State. For two years Miss Etta Spier gave her entire time to this work with the result that now there are fifty counties organized and $22,280 pledged for the fund. The amount to be contributed by the county is left with each county association, no assessments being made. A separate account is kept of the money derived from each countyty. Tihs money will be used by young women of that county.

The use of this loan fund will be by strict business arrangements. A young woman wishing to borrow money for her college education makes a written application and gives her note in legal form. The loan must be repaid as soon as possible, the interest beginning the September after leaving college. As partial payments are made they will be put back into the fund to be used over again.

A large proportion of the money already raised for the McIver Loan Fund has been contributed by members of the association, but to accomplish our purpose the assistance of the people of the State is required. This assistance has been freely and heartily given wherever the movement has been inaugurated. Men and women of influence in every community have been enthusiastically interested in the establishment of the McIver Loan Fund.

Mr. Joyner says of the McIver Fund: "I wish to express my hearty approval of the movement of the alumnae of the State Normal and Industrial College to establish at that institution a memorial to Dr. Charles D. McIver, its first president, in the form of a loan fund to be used to aid worthy young women of limited means to secure an education and training at that institution. The establishment of such an institution will be in perfect accord with the great idea for which Dr. McIver gave the best of his life and thought—equality of opportunity to capable North Carolina women, rich or poor."

Mr. R. D. W. Connor, says: "There are two things about the McIver Loan Fund that of themselves are a sufficient endorsement of the movement; the name and the purpose.

The purpose of the movement is to raise a fund that may be used to aid young women of small means who would not otherwise be able to complete their education. The women who are pushing this movement have in view, not the college, but their less fortunate sisters throughout the State. The movement, therefore, is worthy of theendorsement and help of all who are interested in the manhood and womanhood of North Carolina, regardless ot the interest they may have in the State Normal, or any other college."

Mr. R. D. Douglas, of Greensboro, says: "I believe it to be a movement which the people of the State should know of and should aid as far as their particular circumstances allow. We have in the past few years done much for the cause of education in North Carolina, but I speake advisedly and not simply out of a superabundance of enthusiasm, when I say that I know of nothing that has been done or that could be done for the cause of education which, for the amount invested, will yield richer returns to the State, to say nothing of the good that will come to individuals. All in all, the McIver Loan Fund is a matter that is well worth while."

Miss Jane Summerell, the recently appointed field secretary, was in Wilmington Monday, July 31, and Tuesday, August 1. The purpose of her visit was to meet with the New Honover County Alumnae Association and give them such aid for the further advancement of their work as she deemed advisable.

A meeting of the Association was held at the home of Miss Laura Weill, 116 South Fifth street, at 5:30 o'colck Monday afternoon.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Philadelphia, Pa., August 5.—Miss Margaret L. Gibson, of Wilmington, is attending the Summer School of the University of Pennsylvania. She will complete a six-week's course on August 16th.

While many of the students in the Summer School are taking regular academic work the majority are interested in physical education, pedagogy and psychology.

The enrollment of the Summer School is 700. There are more than 200 children in the model school which is being conducted in connection with the courses in pedagogy. This together with the class of 15 backward children which the department of psychology is feeding and teaching brings the number of persons studying at the University this Summer to nearly 1,000.

There are 318 women taking courses. Eighteen of these are married. A number of the women are living in the dormitories, two houses having been reserved for them. The remainder occupy boarding houses in the neighborhood of the University.

The students have come to the Summer School from 27 States, the District of Columbia and eight foreign countries—Japan, China, Brazil, Germany, Cuba, Argentine Republic, Porto Rico and Mexico. Argentine leads the foreign countries in attendance with five students. China has four. Among the States which are well represented are: North Carolina, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, California, North Dakota, Michigan, Alabama, Georgia, Wisconsin, Maine.

Fruit Trees on German Roads.

Fruit trees are planned by the roadside in parts of Germany, but not, as might be supposed, for the appeasement of appetities of passers-by. The trees are watched closely, and at the end of the season the fruit is sold. The amount stolen is very small. The warning is succinct, but not too blunt, being merely the words, "A good man injures no tree," posted on a board at intervals along the road.

Robbers Had Ingenuity.

An unusual scheme for robbing a gold dump was discovered at Nome, Alaska, a few days ago, when inspection was made of a dump that was thrown up three years ago. It was found that robbers had sunk a hole through the top of the dump and sluiced out all the inside, leaving a hollow shell standing. It is estimated that in this manner the thieves had obtained $5,000.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bedwetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W, Notre Dame, Ind., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

CROP BULLETIN.

Necessity of Organic Matter in the Soil Is Emphasized.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 5.—There are two things absolutely essential to successful farming in North Carolina. One is deep plowing, and the other is the incorporation in the soil of humus or organic matter from decaying vegetation.

We have heard a great deal about deep plowing, and, on soils which have stiff, heavy sub-soils, deep plowing, and, in some cases, even sub-soiling, is entirely necessary. But we have heard all too little about the organic matter content of our soils. Indeed, some wag might say, there is not enough organic matter in most of our soils to speak about anyway, but that is just why we should begin to talk. Good plowing and liberal amount of vegetable mould or organic matter in our soils constitute the two oars by which the agricultural boat must be driven in North SCarolina. We have hitherto done most of our pulling on the plowing oar and as a result our boat has inclined go in a circle with the result that the people of the State are shipping in tens of millions of dollars worth of food supplies every year when they should be selling more than they buy.

We are giving out no information when we say that nine tenths of our soils are poor and unproductive. These poor soils are "known and read of all men." When we see a boy nowadays with a thin, pale, anaemic face, we are pretty apt to say he has the hookworm, by which we mean he has little red blood in his veins, low vitality, waning strength, and little ambition. His life forces are becoming weaker, he is unable to do much, we say, and his ability to do is becoming less and less every day and will finally be reduced to zero unless he is given a treatment. Keep this in mind and go twenty-five miles in almost any direction in North Carolina and you will see on every hand, fields of white, pale, sandy soils, thrown out of cultivation. Why this abandonment of cultivable lands in North Carolina? Examine them and you will find a good amount of all the necessary mineral elements or plant food, but the humus or organic matter content is almost nothing. They have no life in them and hence cannot give lift to vegetation. They are anaemic; they have hookworm, if you will allow the figure, and can do little without a treatment. The vitality of these poor lands is so low that it pays no one to cultivate them. Deep plowing will not do.

The proper treatment of all these poor or abandoned lands, that are well drained, is, first, give them a heavy dose of organic matter either in the shape of stable manure or green manure. These are the two sources of organic matter in our soil. The one is, and always has been, too limited to get much store by, while the other is, always has been, and always will be, the principal source from which we must obtain humus for the agricultural soils in North Carolina.

Next week we expect to take up the discussion of the bringing up of these poor lands in the State and will speak of the crops to be grown first in an attempt at their reformation. We want to call the attention of every man, who has poor lands on his farm, to this series of articles which will likely extend over some months.

Queer Cure for Consumption.

Some of the English papers announce the accidental discovery of what appeared to be a cure for consumption by means of the ammoniated gases generated in the production of maggots for fish bait in an establishment near Bradford. The United States consul at Bradford, in a report to Washington, says: "While engaged in this work, it is said certain persons known to be suffering from tuberculosis have regained their health."

AT PROGRESSIVE ROSE HILL

Something of its Industry and Its Prospects—Atlantic Coffin and Casket Factory—The Question of Good Roads.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Rose Hill, N. C., August 5.—For the year ending June 1, excluding lumber the other shipments from here amount to approximately one-half million dollars and they place Rose Hill first as a cotton market as well as the leader in strawberries in Duplin county.

Everywhere can be seen intensive methods of farming that have their lessons for those who will follow in the footsteps of progress. A clay subsoil and a fertile top loam, her natural resources here will make Rose Hill some day the finest agricultural section anywhere in the State. Hrere the farms are small, and this is ideal where almost every man owns his home and his vine and fig tree and lives the independent life. Almost every home is supplied by a local 'phone in the country as well as a rural delivery box, and the only thing to make this country farm-life complete is a good road to every home.

For a long time an effort has been made to establish a county system of roads, which has so far proven mere talk, and so under the more popular township plan this is first to vote bonds even by a majority of five to one to sand-clay every mile (30) of public roads in the township. One of our enterprising home boys who has made good in business has offered to take the entire issue at par, thus showing his faith in the good credit of the township. Soon the convict force will be at work, and then truly every citizen will live on the broad "Appian Way" that leads to Rome—even to Rose Hill as the center of this radiation of public highways. Almost every mile of these proposed roads is underlaid with clay, and not a creek anywhere or grade to level down or up. This is the ideal township to teach the lesson in scientific road-building at a minimum cost. Of far-reaching consequences will be the immediate effects upon the agricultural and commercial interests of her town and township. Other outlying townships will soon catch the possibilities of our roads and connect with them even by private subscription, and they will also then enjoy the spirit of progress and make this their home town where they can use our good roads.

Even homeseekers will come where there is such evident progress as here. One year ago last December, almost the entire business section of the town went up in ashes, and our fondest hopes were indeed made blue, but wonderful the change for the better since then, as seven brick buildings have been erected to take the desolate places, and the fire is a blessing in disguise.

The town has doubled its population and commerce the last ten years. The way to have factories is to build them yourselves. Here is in successful operation the first real factory of any kind, excepting crate factories, in this county. About six years ago one of our native young men who has attained distinction as a scholar and as the author of Carr's Arithmetics, gave up the school room for active business pursuits, and he made this his home for business reasons, seeing the possibilities of our town. He soon associated with himself some of the leading and enterprising young men of the place and community and laid good the plans for a factory. First, they bought 500 acres of valuable land in and around town at a bargain, as a foundation for future developments. Next, they erected the Atlantic Coffin and Casket Factory, and then they had two very successful land sales in town lots. Thus they disposed of 100 acres at a handsome profit. The remaining 400 acres are very fine trucking lands which they are canaling out and selling to forty farmers in ten-acre lots or more.

The factory has constantly run since the first day it started. The business will double this year what it was in the past, and many people will be surprised to know that they have three regular salesmen covering four States, often shipping out a carload a day, and of a quality second to none, which is the secret of such rapid success. Here can be found jobs that retail for $500 or more. One successful factory always calls for others, as people are then not afraid to invest, and the point in this whole story that stands out from all others is that the enterprise is now a success and is managed by our home boys, who have made good and of even inter-State proportions in its scope in the short time of two years.

Other factories are being promoted, and before many years will be issued the gladsome news that her beautiful farms, her ideal public highways, her many factories, her one central school her many churches, her prosperous and happy people, will all conspire together to make this indeed God's country peculiarly blessed above all others.

When Lincoln Sat For His Bust.

When Vinnie Ream, the sculptor, was a mere child still and her experience in modeling consisted of a few busts and medallions she timidly asked President Lincoln to permit her to model his bust. "I don't know why any one should want the picture or statue of so homely a man," he answered and at first declined to sit. But when Senator Nesmith told him that the western girl, "who was poor, but talented," would be disappointed if unable to secure this favor he turned quickly and said: "She is poor, is she? Well, that is nothing against her, and I will sit for the model."

During the sittings the great man would watch with much interest the hands of the girl sculptor at her work; but, speaking of him later, she said: "For the most part he was sad and silent, weighed upon by the stress of a nation in peril and his own recent personal loss of a beloved son. Ah, those were sad days at the White House! One day the president's eyes were full of tears as he turned from gazing out of the window, and he said to me, 'I am thinking of Willie.' "—Designer.

Curious Training Methods.

Every baseball player seems to have his own system, and some of the methods used are laughable, and few are of any practicable value. One young catcher who joined a National league club a few years ago brought five gallons of iron, beef and wine in jugs in his trunk to make him strong. Cannon balls that weigh twenty-five pounds are used to roll over the abdomen. Iron rolling pins, special bandages, a thousand kinds of rubbing oils and lotions, ranging from patent medicines to horse liniments and oil made by boiling down fishing worms, vibrators of all sizes and shapes, odd arm bakers to be superheated with electricity and rubber bands are employed. Hotel rooms are turned into gymnasiums, and one of the funniest sights of a year is to sit in a card game with half a dozen players swathed like puffy mummies in blankets, sweaters and flannels until they look as if they were starting on an arctic journey.—American Magazine.

Wellington's Coolness.

The Duke of Wellington was one day sitting at his library table when the door opened and without any announcement in stalked a figure of singularly ill omen.

"Who are you?" asked the duke in his short and dry manner, looking up without the slightest change of countenance upon the intruder.

"I am Apollyon. I am sent here to kill you."

"Kill me? Very odd."

"I am Apollyon and must put you to death."

"'Bliged to do it today?"

"I am not told the day or the hour, but I must do my mission."

"Very inconvenient; very busy; great many letters to write. Call again or write me word. I'll be ready for you."

The duke then went on with his correspondence. The maniac, appalled probably by the stern, immovable old gentleman, backed out of the room and in half an hour was in an asylum.

A Legend of February.

Here is the pretty legend which tells why February has only twenty-eight or twenty-nine days. Long ago, they say, February was a gambler, and he was so unlucky that he soon lost all his money. Like other gamblers, he tried to recover it, and he said to his companions that if they would lend him some money he would give them as security one of his days. January and March, who were naturally associated with him more often than any of the other months, accepted his offer, and as poor February soon lost the money which he had borrowed each of them acquired one of his days. That is why January and March have each thirty-one days and February has only twenty-eight in ordinary and twenty-nine in leap years.

A Faithful Servant.

Carlyle told once of a lawsuit pending in Scotland affecting the succession to a great estate of which he had known something. The case depended on a family secret known only to one old servant, who refused to reveal it. A kirk minister was sent to tell her she must speak on peril of her soul. "Peril of my saul!" she said. "And would ye put the honor of an auld Scottish family in competition with the saul of a poor creature like me?"

Platt's Response.

NUGGETS OF WISDOM

For Sunday Readers.

(By T. W. C.)

Whoever dedicates his life to ends of human service is most effectively consecrating himself to his country.

* * *

God sometimes tests our faith by his delays. Oftener, perhaps, he rebukes our unbelief by answering before we call.

* * *

Our country needs more pure patriots who recognize God's supreme sovereignty and who seek to establish his laws as the supreme laws of the land.

* * *

Do the work that you want to do if you can, but be sure to do the work that has been given you to do. That is within your reach; the other may not be.

* * *

Like the gold dollar, truth is a standard of value rather than a circulation medium. It has many artistic and beautifully engraved substitutes in circulation, but they will not stand the acid test.

* * *

The things which life remembers longest are those which lie nearest to life's first opened gate. The memory of a mother's love becomes dearer and sweeter with every day after a man is seventy.

* * *

Had he been happy and faultless, I would not have loved him as I did. There is a degree of pity in all our friendships. Misfortune has an attraction for certain soul. The cement of our hearts is mixed with tears, and nearly all our deep affections have their beginning in some sorrowful emotion.

* * *

A "Dutch domine" down in the Eastern way has coined an alliterative aphorism which once repeated promises to stick in the memory of long time both for its sententiousness and its truth; "The preaching pulpit's power is proportionate to the praying pew's persistence."

* * *

Jesus taught patriotism and his life was a clear illustration of the duty of the patriot. That man is more patriotic who seeks to lead his fellow men to righteousness than is the blatant boaster of his love of country whose personal influence destroys character, overturns righteousness and perverts justice.

* * *

Peace tests patriotism more than war. It is easier to fight with a musket for a visible flag than to fight with convictions, influence, vice, pen and ballot for those ideals which the flag represents. The patriots of peace, who make and uphold law, who mold public sentiment sanely, who attack open corruption and subtle, insidious, alien tendencies—these are the ones who make a country worth fighting for when the call to arms comes ringing through the land.

* * *

Going higher and higher, shining more and more, growing stronger and stronger, "forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth to the things which are before," these are the natural impulses of the consecrated life. As one has aptly said, "Not retrospect, but perfect, should be the Christian watchword." Christians, thank God that there are peaks to climb, troubles to burnish us, and tonics for the spirit's life. God is the goal. Heaven is the place. They are both above us, as high and holy incentives for our best climbing, brightest shining and greatest strength. God help us to do our best to reach such a goal, with such holy environments.

* * *

In order to make good speed in your day's journey, do not go overloaded. I do not refer so much to your undertaking too many things as to your carrying too many cares. Honest work is strengthening, but worry frets and fevers us. The temptation of the devil; to yield to it is a sin against our own peace and a reproach upon our Christian character. The journey made by any pedestrian is simply a succession of steps. In accomplishing your day's work you have simply to take one step at a time.

* * *

Only those really know the ease of living who never try to dodge the hard things in life. For the easiest time to do a hard thing is when it first makes its appearance. If we would double its difficulty, we need only postpone it once; if we would make it four times as hard, a second postponement will insure this. And if we would have the drag and the nightmare of shirked duty always with us, so that life itself becomes a chronic burden, we must simply make our hardest duties permanent. Tribulation lies ahead for any one who will grapple his hard tasks promptly. Joy and strength and the exhilaration of ever-increasing power are assured to one who seeks the ease of instant duty doing. We are hardest on ourselves when we try to save ourselves from hardship.

* * *

Colonel Higginson, when asked to name the incident of the Civil War that he considered the most remarkable for bravery, said that there was in his regiment a man whom everyone liked—a man who was brave and noble—who was pure in his daily life, absolutely free from the dissipations in which most of the other men indulged. One night at a champagne supper, when many were becoming intoxicated, someone in jest called for a toast from this young man. Colonel Higginson said he arose, pale, but with perfect self-possession, and said: "Gentlemen, I will give you a toast which you may drink as you will, but which I will drink, if you please, in water. The toast that I have to give is, 'Our Mothers'." Instantly a strange spell seemed to come over all those tipsy men. They drank the toast in silence. There was no more laughter, no more song, and one by one they slunk out of the room. The lamp of memory had begun to burn, and the name of "mother" touched every man's heart.

DAINTIES FOR THE BABY

Number of Safe Foods to Serve the Sick Little One While Traveling.

Sometimes in traveling, or when living in hotels for any length of time, it is well to know of a few dainties which one can make oneself and give to an ill child, or to a baby whose stomach is a trifle upset. For instance, albumin water is often ordered for infants with acute stomach trouble. A mother can give it with perfect safety to nourish an ill baby until the doctor is reached. Albumin water is nothing more than the white of an egg dissolved in a pint of cold water, that has been previously boiled. Sometimes a baby can keep nothing else on his stomach for days but this light yet apparently sustaining drink.

Barley jelly is also excellent. To a tablespoonful of barley flour, which has been dissolved in cold water, add a pint of boiling water. Boil this with a pinch of salt for 20 minutes in a double boiler, strain, flavor and serve very cold.

A Wrong Choice.

There is no act, nor option of act, possible, but the wrong deed or option has poison in it which will stay in your veins thereafter forever. Never more to all eternity can you be as you might have been had you not done that—chosen that. You have "formed your character," forsooth! No; if you have chosen ill, you have deformed it, and that forever!—Ruskin.

S.S.S. FOR SUMMER SKIN DISEASES

During the summer most persons are annoyed with pimples, boils, rashes or eruptions, while others suffer more severely with Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, or some kindred skin disease. All skin affections come from humors and acids in the circulation. The blood, as it circulates through the system, deposits these humors and acids in the sensitive membranous flesh which lies just beneath the outer skin. This acrid matter causes inflammation and a discharge which breaks through the delicate cuticle, and skin diseases are the result. To cure any skin trouble the blood must be freed from all acids and humors, and for this purpose nothing equals S.S.S. This great blood purifier completely removes every particle of the impurity, enriches the blood, and in this way permanently cures skin diseases. S. S. S. cures because it purifies the blood and thus does away with the cause. Book on skin diseases and any medical advice you may desire sent free. S.S.S. is for sale at drug stores.

HEAT-DANGERS FOR CHILDREN

The little folks do not stand the heat as well as their elders, and special care should be taken to keep them in good physical condition. One of the things to be especially watchful of is the condition of the bowels, which presents many dangers hardly dreamed of by parents. When the child shows a tendency to constipation, if it loses appetite, complains of headaches, itch or fails to sleep well and awake refreshed, the mother may be certain that the child needs a tonic-laxative with ingredients such as are contained in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, of which most mothers have heard and which thousands of mothers are using for themselves and their children. Indigestion is one of the worst troubles of child-life in the summer time, and it manifests itself in many different ways. Whatever the cause and whatever the manifestation the mother may be sure of removing the trouble with a few doses of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which should always be kept in the house for emergency. It is sold in two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00, and can be obtained of any druggist. Those who have never used it and wish to make a test of it before buying; can obtain a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE by addressing lar that this important matter has been delayed so long where there is evident progress along all other lines of endeavor. Therefore, Rose Hill stands out very conspicuously as the first town on this 85 miles of railroad to establish a successful factory of any kind—of course, excepting crate factories, which are more or less local in their scope, and they do not draw money from other sections to build up this one.

Pioneer enterprises usually center around some name, and the same is true here. Educated at the University of North Carolina, E. McNair Carr was for a number of years the principal of Faison Female Academy, of Washington Presbytery, at Faison, N. C. He is a civil engineer and a mathematician of interstate note, being the author of Carr's Series of Arithmetics. About six years ago he gave up teaching and soon moved to Rose Hill, attracted by the possibilities of his home town, near where he was born. Here he soon associated with himself the enterprising young men of the town and community and planned good the establishment of the pioneer factory between Goldsboro and Wilmington, namely, the Atlantic Coffin & Casket Factory. The wheels began to turn two years ago, and the business this year will double the first. Many people will be surprised to know that this pioneer factory has grown almost like Jonah's gourd vine in one night, and that it now has out three regular traveling salesmen, covering four States in its scope. The story of this first factory in this section has a lesson for all other towns to notice and ponder well over. It is home capital that took every dollar of the capital stock, and it is home brains that conceived and put in successful operation the plant, and the same forces are running it today.

Your correspondent would think this sketch incomplete without mentioning a valuable limestone promotion near Rose Hill that bids fair to become one of her most valued assets soon. The rock covers ten acres and is 80 feet or more thick, from which will be manufactured several million barrels of lime. The State Geologist pronounces it a high-grade builders' lime, and the people here are looking forward to a good thing from this new enterprise. Mr. E. McNair Carr owns the proposition of the lime beds, and he is now taking advanced steps to develop it. Your correspondent saw a sample of the rock, which is genuine and high-class indeed.

Then, with her fertile soils, her great variety of crops, her many factories, her hundreds of small intensive farms, her one central school, her many churches, her happy, prosperous and contented people, and her system of public roads, this indeed will be God's country, blessed above all others.

TO SAVE MOTHER BIRDS.

Fight for Hunted Herons Will Cover Country Over.

New York, Aug. 5.—Though thousands of mother herons will surely be spared to their young as the result of an amendment to the plumage laws that has just taken effect in this State, officers of the National Association of Audubon Societies declared today that many of these brooding birds would still be butchered for the millinery market unless the people of every other State soon put a stop to traffic in aigrettes. In their desperate fight to maintain an importing center from which to distribute these plumes to every point in the country where their sale is still permitted, the feather interests of America are not considered altogether beaten by the new law that will force them to abandon the port of New York. To urge similar legislation in every State where these trophies of bird butchery may be dealt in is an object which the Audubon workers announce they are ow striving to accomplish.

For the first time in the history of the city, aigrettes have been stripped from the windows of the milliners, here and heavy penalties imposed on their sale to women shoppers. Large quantities of the flimsy feathers are reported to have been shipped out of the State just before the new law took effect, and the local jobbers in these costly ornaments are prohibited from distributing them. Since New Jersey has just passed a similar law, the Audubon officials believe that they have finally succeeded in their five-year fight to close this port to traffic in the plumes for which mother herons are murdered while their young are left starving.

Following up its successful campaign here, the National Association of Audubon Societies is preparing to urge anti-aigrette legislation in Maryland and Pennsylvania, where it is believed the importers of these plumes will attempt to establish a supply base for their distribution to the country. The people of Oregon, California, Massachusetts, Louisiana, Missouri and Ohio have now joined those of New York and New Jersey in prohibiting the sale of heron plumes and it is believed that many more State will soon put a stop to the operation of this cruel traffic within their borders. At Philadelphia and Baltimore it is expected that the aigrette hunters will fight hard to maintain a foothold as they are now bitterly struggling to avert proper plumage legislation at Atlanta.

"Every effort to continue the sale of the spoils of the barbarous practice of killing female herons may be expected from the commercial interests engaged in it," said T. Gilbert Pearson, secretary of the National Association of Audubon Societies, at its headquarters, 1974 Broadway, today. "Though the feather men may fight at court and capitol to perpetuate this bloody traffic, we believe the American people will soon put a stop to it throughout the country. Our organization is growing stronger every day and we will keep up this fight until it is made illegal to sell the feathers of these murdered mother birds in any part of the country.

WALL STREET PAST AND PRESENT

The Romance of the Market

THE CAPTAINS OF FINANCE AND HOW IT IS DONE NOW-A-DAYS

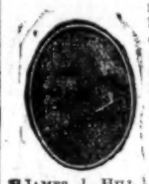
The New Leaders—J. P. Morgan, Jr., Otto Kahn, Frank A. Vanderlip, J. D. Rockefeller, Jr.—Will They Achieve the Fame and Power That the Old-Timers Held?

J. FRANK HOWELL, STUDENT OF MODERN FINANCE AND GOVERNOR OF THE CONSOLIDATED STOCK EXCHANGE OF NEW YORK, REVIEWS THE NEW CONDITIONS COMPARED WITH THE OLD DAYS OF DREW, VANDERBILT, SAGE AND JIM KEENE

WHERE DOES THE PUBLIC COME IN?

Nothing in America so typifies the revolution in business in the last decade as does Wall Street itself. Time was when Wall Street was a place of personalities, of great leaders, when big movements centered around the movements of individuals. Those were the days of William H. Vanderbilt, of Jay Gould, of Addison Cammack, of James R. Keene, of Woerschoffer—men who fought their battles in the market place like the gladiators of old. But the battles of the leaders of a generation ago now read like child's play. The game has grown so big that captains of finance are banded together in groups. These groups control corporations, banks, insurance companies, and are allied with other capitalistic groups in Europe. The man to-day who does not have behind him a great, complicated machine of capital cuts a small figure. A man with a mere trifle of eight or ten millions has no chance of swinging a great corporation like the Union Pacific Railroad, Missouri Pacific Railroad or United States Steel Corporation, for instance.

"The game has changed," said James R. Keene recently just before bidding good-bye to America. "When I came to Wall Street from California an individual operator could carry on his campaign, matching his wits against his rivals' in the market. But now, no man, however large his private resources, can hope to play the game in a big way singlehanded. Against him are arrayed, not merely groups of men with enormous fortunes, but also with the command of still greater resources of powerful banks and corporations."



JAMES J. HILL

The great operators in the market today are few and outside of Wall Street are little known. Bernard M. Baruch, Eugene Meyer, Jr., George B. Leonthal and Middleton [illegible] are a few the greatest. Bl[illegible] is the repres[illegible] of Lazard Fr[illegible]. Burrill is generally looked upon as being rather close to the Morgans; Baruch is the leader of the crowd that has been pretty active in the last two years. As a matter of fact, however, there has not been an active market for a long time—the sort of market that develops leadership. One of the most spectacular leaders the market has had of late years is Daniel G. Reid, of the Rock Island crowd. Occasionally he and his associates stir the animals up in the bull ring or the bear.

DANIEL DREW

ADDISON CAMMACK

The Rock Island crowd has been and still is one of the most powerful financial groups in the country. Originally it consisted of Judge W. H. Moore; Moore, Daniel G. Reid and W. B. Leeds. Mr. Leeds died about two years ago. The rise of these four men was remarkable. Their operations in Wall Street have been exceeded only by few groups of men.

The Moores were corporation lawyers in Chicago. In 1896 they carried on a big speculation in Diamond Match, and went down in the collapse of that enterprise. They managed to get on their feet in short order and immediately took the National Biscuit Company in hand and became interested in Tin Plate. Mr. Reid started in life as a messenger in a small national bank at Richmond, Indiana; became Vice-President, and then gradually widened his activities. With Mr. Leeds he saw the immense opportunity afforded by the McKinley tariff laws to build up a tin plate industry that would rival seriously that of Wales.

OTTO H. KAHN

These four men made large profits almost simultaneously out of the new industries. They formed such a liking for each other that they decided to merge their interests and to pool their ambitions. After looking over the field they determined to get control of the Rock Island Railroad, which was so strategically placed as to make it a power in western and southwestern traffic. These four men had a good many millions themselves and their successes had strengthened their credit so that they were able to borrow a good many millions more. Therefore they started to buy the stock of the Rock Island in the open market. Wall Street dismissed them contemptuously from its mind as "a set of Western gamblers," but in nine months, and before the rest of the world realized what they were doing, they had in their hands enough stock to control the big railway system.

J. D. ROCKEFELLER

Then began their remarkable career as railroad consolidators. One road after another passed into their hands. In four years they built up an empire of 15,000 miles of railroad. It took James J. Hill 22 years to bring 9,000 miles of road under his control. To-day the Moores and Daniel G. Reid have more or less influence in a hundred corporations all over the country. Their impress is on a dozen railroads; they touch the steel corporations and great industrial enterprises.

One of the men whose name is often seen in connection with affairs in Wall Street is Jacob Field, but he is not an operator; he is a trader. He rarely operates on his own account. A great many of the men who are credited now and then with large purchases, with great operations, are merely the hired hands of others. They are possibly employed by big banks or by big speculators.

JOHN W. GATES

John W. Gates was pyrotechnic for a while in his operations in Louisville and Nashville and in Steel. No one in New York ever conducted such a tremendous brokerage establishment as he did. He ran the "House of the Twelve Disciples," so called because there were twelve partners in the firm. There were very few happenings in Wall Street that were more remarkable than his cornering of the Louisville and Nashville. It was one of the most dashing and daring things in the history of the street.

It all happened because once on a time a certain director of the L. & N., who lived in Louisville, came to New York to a board meeting. He chanced to meet Mr. Gates at the Waldorf and Gates invited him to dinner. The Kentuckian was pleased and flattered. Under the strenuous influence of his host he became confidential and among other things he told Gates that there was enough Louisville and Nashville stock in the open market to secure control of the road. The company had just authorized a new issue of stock. This stock was not to be put out formally for several months, but to take advantage of the strong market that prevailed just then the persons who ruled the destiny of the property determined to sell the shares then and deliver the stock later. In other words, they were "going short" of L. & N. Mr. Gates said nothing, but the next morning he unlimbered all his financial artillery. For all his noise and bumptiousness Mr. Gates is a wonderful manipulator and it was not many days before he had bought enough L. & N. to wrest control of it from the Belmonts. What made the affair pleasant for Gates was the fact that he had such a distinguished hatred for Mr. Belmont that he once said he would not swim in the same ocean with him.

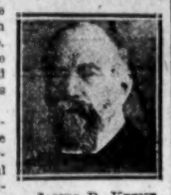
DANIEL G. REID

When Belmont discovered how Gates had tricked him there were loud sounds in Nassau Street. It was terrible to think of the L. & N. in possession of such a person as Gates. Then J. P. Morgan took a hand. He sent for Mr. Gates and said:

"Gates, you are not the kind of a man to control the L. & N."

"All right!" replied Gates. "Get someone you like better—but you'll have to pay my price!" Mr. Morgan did get someone else and Gates is said to have cleared $4,000,000 in profit on the deal.

Gates is the plunger type of the Wall Street man. His attitude in Wall Street is best summed up in his own celebrated phrase, "I'll bet you a million." He never seems to be contented unless he has a few millions up in the air. He bears the scars of many Wall Street battles. He has financed every possible project from comic opera companies to Western railroads. His scheme of financial strategy seems to be to hunt with a brass band. He was born on a farm in what is now West Chicago. His first job was as clerk in a hardware store. As a young man he sold barbed wire in Texas. With all his bluster he has lots of money.



JAMES R. KEENE

E. H. Harriman for years was practically the ruling spirit of the whole stock market. His fight with J. P. Morgan for Northern Pacific, his wonderful bull campaign in Union Pacific, his taking hold of the Erie and his fight with Stuyvesant Fish for control of the Illinois Central are historic.

A BUSY DAY IN "WALL STREET."

There was also his controversy with various interests that led to his getting control of the Kansas City Southern. But all these things tended to the centralization of his vast interests.

FRANK A. MUNSEY

Mr. Harriman played the game as no one ever played it before. He was both a stock market operator and a railroad builder. Wall Street never realized until the very end that his name would go down in the history of the Street as one of the great constructors. But he was unique. He knew both ends of the game. When he needed hundreds of millions to rebuild the Union and Southern Pacific he knew that the capital must be raised through Wall Street—and he knew how to raise it. Hill thought that Wall Street was of no use in railroading. Harriman's strength was because he knew as much about practical railroading as he knew about stock operations. The country will never see another man like him, for the opportunity that Harriman had is gone forever.

JUDGE W. H. MOORE

CONSOLIDATED STOCK EXCHANGE OF NEW YORK, BROAD AND BEAVER STS., N. Y. CITY.

There are many marvelous tales of fortunes made in Wall Street, and the curious thing about them is that they are all true, though the amounts that have been gained are usually exaggerated. After the wreckage of every financial flurry has been cleared away there is a flood of buying orders from hard-headed men all over the country. The rich men in Wall Street, the veterans of many panics, tell their friends that the time has come to buy securities at bargain prices. Magazines and newspapers tell their readers about Wall Street and how the goods on the counters there have been marked down. But nine-tenths of the people who read and hear these things either do not believe them or else they wait until too late for prices to go still lower. Occasionally a rank outsider comes into Wall Street and makes many millions of dollars in a hurry, but this is not often. When Steel was in the twenties and thirties, Frank Munsey, publisher of magazines and newspapers, told his readers to buy. He urged them month after month to do so. He was fairly rich himself and took his own advice and bought Steel common, until Wall Street began to take notice. That means that he bought a good many thousand shares, for it takes a lot of money to attract Wall Street's attention. He kept on buying even when it rose to 40. When Steel crossed 50 people began ridiculing him because he didn't cash in. They began to be more worried about Mr. Munsey when the stock passed 60, 70, 80, 90 and even higher. Wall Street stopped worrying and began to figure up how much money this outsider had made without neglecting his business in the slightest degree. Some said that he had cleared $5,000,000; others made it four times that much. Mr. Munsey's friends say that he confesses to being $10,000,000 richer as the result of his one great plunge.

EDWIN HAWLEY

The public usually thinks that the big people on the inside, like Mr. Morgan's partners or like Mr. Gary of the Steel Trust, or the younger generation of the Rockefellers, can make money as easy as rolling off a log, simply by manipulating the market. As a matter of fact, this is as erroneous as most popular impressions are. A good many of these "insiders" have a speculative capital of from $2,000,000 to $10,000,000. If they could make the ordinary pawnbroker's interest of 2 per cent. per month on this and keep on turning it over month after month and year after year, they would have most of the money in the world in a very short time. In reality these men are perfectly satisfied if they can make their money earn them 10 per cent per annum as the result of their operations on the stock market. They have to be as patient and as industrious, in order to do this, as any retail grocer in making his own business a success.

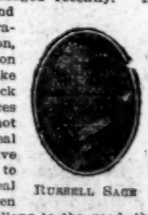
J. P. MORGAN

The reason why so many people go into Wall Street and lose money is that they expect to double their thousand dollars, or whatever they put in, in a day or two. If it were possible to start with $1,000 capital and double it only once each year, it would grow in ten short years to more than a million, and to more than a billion in twenty years. The great secret of the unsuccess of these outsiders, and of the majority of people in Wall Street, is that they lack patience. Patience is just as necessary in buying and selling stocks as it is in buying and selling real estate.

One of the most fascinating and dangerous lures of the plunger, big and little, is the "pyramid." A speculative pyramid is a mass of securities bought on margin with paper profits. When the market collapses paper profits fly away in the storm. Most of these pyramids are built on a bull market and it has been the experience of nearly every big plunger that he has become fascinated by the building of his pyramid and has kept on reaching for more and more millions until the whole thing toppled over.

Thomas W. Lawson is a striking example that proves the fate of plungers.

"You can beat the game in a small way, but no one can beat it in a big way," Mr. Lawson acknowledged recently. "If you have brains and luck and the temperament for speculation, there is no reason why you cannot make money in the stock market. The chances are that you will not encounter any real trouble until you have made what seems to you to be a good deal of money. Then when you have several millions to the good, the big fellows in the game will begin to take notice of you and from that time on you will have to fight them for every dollar that you make and for every dollar that you have made. After a while you will discover that you are one man against many. If you are wise, you will leave Wall Street and be content with what you have taken out of it. If you are carried away by ambition, as so many successful men are, the crowd will surely strip you of your fortune in the end. They will be too many for you."



RUSSELL SAGE

The essence of the whole thing is that to make money in Wall Street a man needs the same level head that is necessary in conducting any business, big or little. If he is in a hurry to get rich quickly, the reverse is likely to occur. If he is patient, persevering and uses ordinary common sense, he is just as sure of success as he would be in any ordinary commercial venture. But loss will be his portion just as surely as he tries to become a financial Cæsar or a Napoleon of Wall Street in six months or six years.

NEW SOUTHERN INDUSTRIALS

Enterprises Reported to Past Week's Issue of Manufacturers' Record. Irrigation and Reclamation Projects—Undertakings.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Baltimore, Aug. 5.—Notwithstanding mid-Summer conditions development plans continue to be reported to the Manufacturers' Record from all parts of the South. The most pronounced feature of the week is the continued activity in the organization of plans for land irrigation and reclamation enterprises, especially in Texas and Louisiana.

The Eastern and English syndicate recently reported as letting contracts for an irrigation enterprise in Texas involving an expenditure of $6,000,000, all furnished by English capitalists, are now reported as planning the expenditure of an additional $15,000,000 for irrigating over half a million acres in Texas, while other interests are likewise carrying out great irrigation enterprises in the same State. In cotton mill and iron interests comparatively few new enterprises or enlargements of existing plants have been reported during the week, though there has been some activity in the organization of miscellaneous enterprises, including a $2,500,000 fertilizer company, a company organized to tunnel the Elizabeth river and connect Norfolk and Portsmouth by an underground railway system, etc.

Among some of the more important enterprises, of which details are published in the Manufacturers' Record of this week are the following:

Dr. F. S. Pearson, president of Mexico Northwestern Railway, New York, completed arrangements whereby he and English capitalists will construct three systems, on Guadaloupe, Frio and Nueces rivers in Texas, for irrigating 350,000 acres of land now controlled and 150,000 acres under negotiation; will construct dams, canals, etc.; land developments will include extensive cotton plantation; reports state ultimate investment of $15,000,000 is planned.

D. B. Chapin, Brownsville, Texas, is planning to dam Devils river for irrigating 125,000 to 150,000 acres of land near Spofford, Texas; plan is to raise water 150 feet and construct gravity system; estimated cost, between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000.

Carolina Metal Products Company, Wilmington, N. C., was chartered with $150,000 capital stock to build plant for manufacturing metal culverts and other metal products.

Norfolk Tunnel Corporation, Norfolk, Va., was chartered with nominal capital by Richmond capitalists to construct tunnel under Elizabeth river connecting Norfolk and Portsmouth; will announce details after engineers' reports and surveys are completed.

Amalgamated Phosphate Co., of Jacksonville, Fla., was chartered with $2,500,000 capital stock by Richmond, Philadelphia and New York capitalists for the development of phosphate interests and it is reported the building of a big fertilizer plant.

Knoxville Spinning Co., Knoxville, Tenn., was chartered with $40,000 capital stock and is installing equipment for spinning cotton yarns.

Paragon Colliery Company, McDonald, W. Va., was chartered with $100,000 capital stock to develop coal land.

L. C. Cole, Cotulla, Texas, and associates propose constructing concrete dam 300 feet long and 25 feet high to irrigate 20,000 acres of land; plans are being prepared.

International Safety & Handy Envelope Co., Atlanta, Ga., was incorporated with $100,000 capital stock to manufacture envelopes.

Mohr Folding Coop Co., New Orleans, was organized with $50,000 capital stock to manufacture patented folding coop for poultry.

Phoenix Waste Manufacturing Co., Galveston, Texas, was chartered with $40,000 capital stock to manufacture cotton waste.

Texas Rolling Mill Co., Fort Worth, Texas, increased its capital stock from $175,000 to $300,000 and will enlarge its plant; improvements to include equipment for manufacturing reinforced concrete bars.

NATIONAL IRRIGATION.

Commissioner E. J. Watson, of South Carolina, Speaks of Subject.

Chicago, Aug. 5.—E. J. Watson, commissioner of the Department of Agriculture, Commerce and Industries, of South Carolina, believes that irrigation is a necessity for the greatest agricultural yield in that State, and the department which he heads has adopted the unusual plan of personally assisting farmers needing irrigation for crop insurance in installing artesian and pumping plants. Commissioner Watson, because of the drought this year, has received many letters from farmers throughout the State who sought advice from the State commission. In practically every instance the State official advised irrigation.

Mr. Watson has always taken an interest in the National Irrigation Congress, and has urged Governor Blease to accompany the South Carolina delegation to the 19th annual meeting—December 5 to 9, at Chicago.

In a recent letter to Edmund T. Perkins, managing director of the board of control of the National Irrigation Congress, Commissioner Watson said:

"Already the people here are manifesting a lively interest in the congress next December and I have personally urged the governor of the State to accompany the South Carolina delegation. This he no doubt will do. I am in receipt of many letters at this office from farmers who seek information concerning the better methods to adopt in establishing irrigation systems. This makes it imperative that South Carolina take an interest in the congress work this year, both from a drainage and irrigation point of view. One would hardly expect a demand for irrigation here, but we do have a demand for it, and, in fact, I am preparing right now to make a trip out into the State to assist a group of farmers, drought threatened, in establishing an irrigating plant. The State should be greatly interested in the accomplishments of other States in this form of irrigation, and our delegates to your congress no doubt will learn much of value of irrigation."

BEATTIE ELECTION JUDGE.

Deputy Was Worried About Serving Notice.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 3.—Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., the alleged life murderer is one of the judges of election appointed to serve in Washington ward at the primary to be held September 7th. Beattie was put on the list many months ago. His connection with the election was overlooked until today when Deputy Sergeant Pat Bowis, who had been given a bunch of notices to serve on the election officers appeared before Clerk Walter Christian, of the Hustings court, wearing a worried look.

"Those election notices you gave me to serve—" he began.

"Well, why don't you serve them?" said Mr. Christian.

"I've served 'em all but one. I want to know what to do with it?" pursued the deputy.

"Go serve it," said the court clerk impatiently.

"What's the use? This fellow can't serve in any election. He's Henry Beattie and he's in the Henrico county jail," said Mr. Bowis.

"Mark it 'not accessible,' or something like that and return it to the court," advised the clerk.

"The rest of the election officers at Beattie's precinct can swear in a judge to take his place in the pooling booth on primary day."

"Maybe Beattie will resign the job," suggested the deputy sergeant. "That would relieve me and straighten out the tangle."

Despair and Despondency
